ORMSBY TO ASK EARLY SUIT TRIAL

Attorney in Legal Row With Mrs. McPherson Wants Case Speeded Up

The complaint filed by Cromwell Ormsby against Aimee Semple McPherson in which he asks $250,000 from the Angelus Temple evangelist, may be brought to speedy trial, Ormsby indicated last night. He said that today he will file a notice with the County Clerk requesting that his suit be set for early hearing, because he wishes a determination of the issues at once. Ormsby, following severance of relations with Mrs. McPherson, for whom he was attorney, filed suit to recover money which he said he had advanced to the evangelist, to collect fees for legal services, which he asserted he had provided to her and for his share in profits expected to be reaped from two undertakings of the evangelist. The undertakings included the making of a motion picture to tell the story of the evangelist's life and promotion of a party tour to the Holy Land next Easter time.

Ormsby said last night that in a deposition made by Mrs. McPherson, December 17, last, and on file with the court, she admitted the justice of his claim to share in profits which it was hoped to reap from the motion-picture and tour projects. This leaves, Ormsby said, only the question of recovering the money which he said he advanced to Mrs. McPherson and the amount which he says she owes him for legal services. This money, it is understood, amounts to approximately $10,000. Mrs. McPherson denied in the deposition, Ormsby said, that she either received any money from him or that she owes him anything.

Legislative Aid to County Roads to be Discussed

Problems attending the formation of county highway problems auxiliary to the State highway system will be considered at a meeting in Sacramento on the 17th inst., called by Frank W. Luttrell of Pismo, Robles, chairman of the Legislature's Committee on Highways.

Supervisors of all counties in the state, road commissioners and members of the Legislature committees interested have been invited to attend. Suggestions from supervisors and other officials are solicited in order that a legislative program for the formation and financing of county highway districts may be outlined.

Supervisor Beaty, executive chairman of county highways, said that Los Angeles county is particularly interested in the county highway situation, inasmuch as it is the largest and wealthiest county in the state and has a larger road-building problem than any other county.

NO REVIEW ON FARES

Rehearing Denied on 7-Cent Plea

Supreme Court Turns Down City and Rail Board Case Without Comment

Washington Observers Say Matter of Adjustments Now Becomes Local

By LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—The Supreme Court today denied a rehearing in the Los Angeles street-car fare case, wherein it held several weeks ago that the Railroad Commission of California is without authority to order the Los Angeles Railway Corporation to reduce its tolls from 7 cents to its old 5-cent rate.

The petition for rehearing was turned down without comment, as is customary in such matters.

The request for further consideration was filed by Erwin P. Werner, Los Angeles City Attorney, and the California State Railroad Commission.

THREE ERRORS CHARGED

It charged three major errors as follows:

(1) The court erred in holding that the city of Los Angeles possessed no power or authority to prescribe in franchises contracts the rate to be charged on street railway lines." In this connection the city and State commission argued that the case of the Home Telephone Company against Los Angeles in 1926, which the Supreme Court cited freely in its decision, was not applicable to the carfare controversy.

(2) The rates prescribed in the various franchises would be binding upon the company even if the California law were silent on the question of power in the city to contract as to rates." The high court held that the California Legislature never had given Los Angeles authority to make fare binding franchises fixing street-car rates.

(3) The court erred in holding that the action of the Railroad Commission in 1921 and 1926 abrogated the franchise contract rates." Upon the attorneys for the city and commission contended that the decisions cited by the Supreme Court had no direct application to the case.

THIRD POINT CITED

The third point in the brief asking a rehearing was based mainly on the holding by the Supreme

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Jan. 6. [To the Editor of The Times:] This is a peculiar country, a fool can make money (not only can, but does). But it takes real brains to give it away wisely. That's why three of our finest and most trusted citizens was picked to give away $6,000,000. And Al Smith proved himself a big man. Mr. Coolidge naturally saw the things in New England that was tremendously deserving and provided for them. Mr. Rosenwald (whose passion is giving away even his own money) saw his need in Chicago and put them on the list. But do you know Al Smith never took one single cent of the money for the Democrats, and if you can find a more deserving charity than them you will have to journey to Armenia.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

TAFT WILL TAKE REST

Doctor's Advice Finally Heeded

Pleas of Family and Court Associates Prevail as Ailment Recurs

Brief Hospital Stay Planned Prior to Departure for Asheville, N. C.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Chief Justice Taft has decided to direct all his efforts toward the recuperation of his strength during the next few weeks.

He is in a weakened physical condition, due to a recurrence of the bladder trouble for which he was treated several years ago.

After much protest he finally yielded to the importunities of his family, his physician and his associates of the Supreme Court, and will go into Garfield Hospital here for treatment. It is expected that within a week he will be sufficiently relieved to go to Asheville, N. C., where he will rest.

Last June, in a weakened condition caused by the high tension under which he had been pushing the work of the Supreme Court, he went to Cincinnati to visit his brother, Charles P. Taft, who died last week. He overtaxed his strength on the trip, and was forced to undergo hospital treatment before starting for Murray Bay in Canada for the summer.

STRENGTH UNRESTORED

He was hopeful that a summer's rest would restore his strength. In that, however, he was disappointed.

He suffered a slight accident while at Murray Bay which aggravated an already weakened nervous condition. He returned to Washington to attend the conference of circuit judges early in October to accelerate the clearing up of business in Federal courts throughout the country. Then he took up his own court work. Although Mr. Taft gradually grew weaker he refused to take a rest, and attended every session of the court until it went into a recess early in December.

Last week he insisted on attending his brother's funeral in Cincinnati against the advice of his physician. His strength was further taxed because of the close bond that had existed between them.

STILL IN HARNESS

When the Chief Justice returned to Washington Saturday he went directly from the station to the conference room of the court and for several hours worked on court cases. Yesterday he reluctantly yielded to the advice to take hospital treatment and rest. He did not attend the regular court session today, and will remain free from court work in the hope that by doing so he will more quickly recover his strength.

The family of Mr. Taft, his physician and his associates on the bench express confident belief that with the hospital treatment and rest, he soon will be able to resume his official duties.

One of his oldest associates of the court expressed the opinion that the Chief Justice will close the present term of the court in June with as large a volume of business to his credit as he had last year.

CITY GAINS NEW HONOR IN NATION

Washington Report Puts Los Angeles in Fifth Place for Postal Receipts

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles was fifth among the cities in volume of postal receipts for last month, and fourth among them in percentage of gain over December, 1928, according to figures issued by the Postoffice Department today. This is believed to be the best showing Los Angeles ever has made, and officials say it indicates prosperous business conditions there.

December receipts for Los Angeles amounted to $1,444,293.87, an increase of $133,565.86, or 10.43 per cent, over the same month of 1928, when receipts were $1,280,718.31.

Only New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston eclipsed the Southland metropolis in total receipts for the month.

Stranded French Cruiser Given Up

ORAN (Algeria) Jan. 6. (AP)—Steady efforts for twenty-four hours to refloat the cruiser Edgar Quinet, one of the finest and fastest units in the French high seas fleet, which went aground on an uncharted rock off the Algerian coast, have proved unsuccessful and the cruiser was abandoned today.

One hundred men, who had remained aboard, were taken ashore.

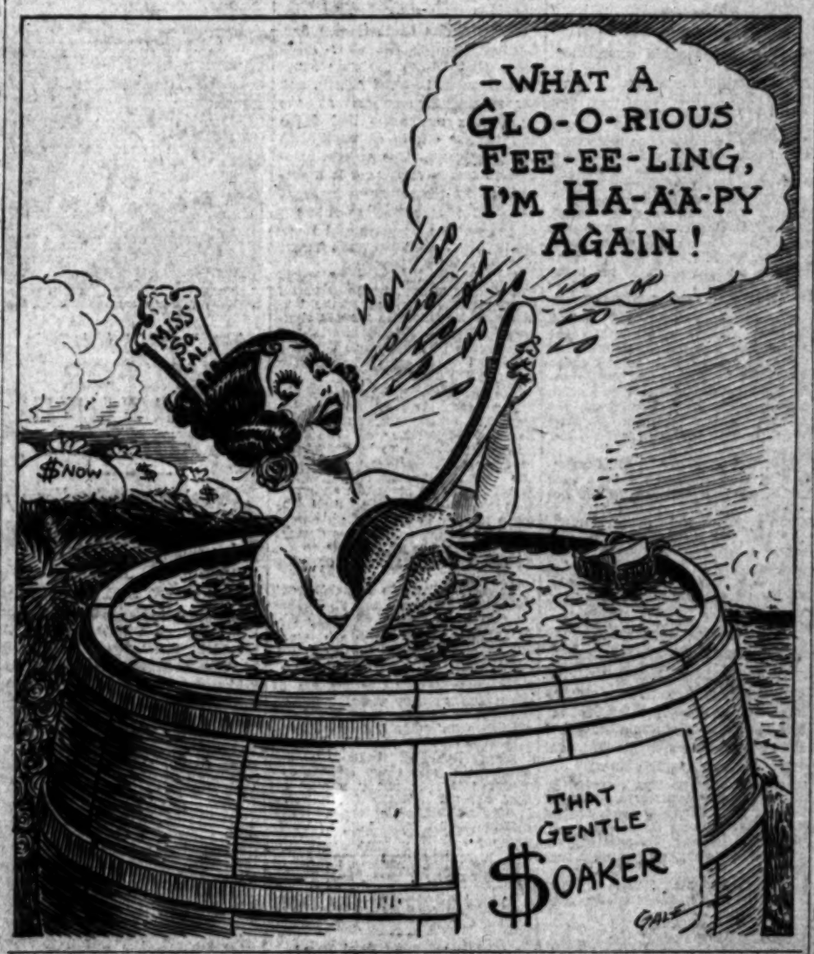
Singing in the Rain



CAR HEEDS MASTER'S VOICE

New York Show Auto Moves, Backs and Turns on Lights, Obeying Spoken Word

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—A driverless car obeyed the spoken word tonight, moving backward and forward and turning on its lights at instructions dictated through a telephone.

R. H. Maxwell, Westinghouse research engineer, exhibited the invention in Grand Central Palace in the organization's Light Institute. He worked with one of the 1930 models being shown at the National Automobile Show.

At the command to move forward, spoken into the telephone, the car went ahead until told to halt. It was backed up forty feet, halted, and lights were turned on and off at the word of the "driver."

The telephone was wired to a light source, hidden in a miniature tree. Each word flashed the light, the combinations of one to four flashes operating through the light-sensitive cell to relays which controlled the car.

Though too new to have found a practical use in driving the device can make it possible, it is contended, for a traffic officer, if all automobiles were so equipped, to control vehicles by merely talking.

Maxwell, who gave the demonstration before members and guests of Automotive Boosters Club No. 12 of New York, attending the automobile show in a body, envisioned a day when all of the sting of a policeman's commands would be removed.

"The device has a language of its own," he said. "It must be spoken to in a polite tone of voice. When a motorist passes a red light instead of the usual 'hey! come back here. Where's the fire?' the officer will have to say calmly, 'back up, please.'"

An "electric eye" opened a garage door when the driver turned his spotlight on the sensitive mechanism.

OWL DRUG COMPANY IN MERGER

It and Holding Concern of Liggett's Now Fused, With Plans for Expansion

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Merger of the Owl Drug Company and Drug, Inc., holding company controlling Liggett's and other pharmaceutical companies, was announced here tonight by Carl A. Henry, president of the Pacific Coast chain of drug stores.

The merger will strengthen business for both organizations, in Henry's opinion, and becomes effective immediately.

The Owl Drug Company was organized in 1902 and has retail stores located in the principal cities of the Pacific Coast and Middle West. The consolidation is expected to increase the business of Drug, Inc., and affiliated companies materially. Present plans, Henry disclosed, are to operate stores under the name of the Owl Drug Company. He refused to make known the consideration involved.

Drug, Inc., is the controlling agency for Liggett's, United Drugs, Asprin and Phillips Products.

BERLIN, Jan. 6. (AP)—Franz Lehar, celebrated Viennese composer who wrote the immortal "Merry Widow," has gone into the films.

It was learned here today that he had signed a contract with the American company, United Artists, to write the score of "Queen Kelly," a Hollywood film that will feature Gloria Swanson.

DEADLY AUTO GAS SUBDUED

Monoxide Curb Announced as Scientist Tells of New Safety Device for Motor Cars

BALTIMORE, Jan. 6. (AP)—A practical means of eliminating carbon monoxide, the gas that takes an annual toll of hundreds of lives when automobile engines are left running in closed garages, is claimed in the discovery of a Johns Hopkins University professor, announced today.

Dr. J. C. W. Frazer, the B. N. Barker professor of chemistry at the university, made the announcement that tests have shown a motor equipped with his device can run indefinitely in a closed garage without liberating carbon monoxide. Offensive odors from automobile exhausts, which abound in heavy traffic, can be suppressed by the chemical action and smoke also will be entirely consumed, Prof. Frazer adds.

Carbon monoxide is produced by incomplete combustion, and the scientist's discovery is a chemical catalyst which, when the exhaust vapors pass over it mixed with air, converts the monoxide to harmless carbon dioxide. A device to accomplish this has been made and has operated successfully in road tests under all kinds of driving conditions, he says, but the present objective is to simplify the apparatus and Prof. Frazer believes accomplishment of this end is in sight.

DIESEL-POWERED CAR SETS ECONOMY MARK

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—Claude L. Cummins of Columbus, Ind., arrived in New York today in a passenger automobile powered by a crude oil-burning Diesel motor built for use in small water craft. He brought the automobile to the auto show here from Indianapolis.

He said he traveled the 792 miles on thirty gallons of fuel costing $1.30. His average speed, he said, was 31 2-3 miles an hour and he made the trip in twenty-five hours of driving time.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—Nominations of Brainerd B. Smith and John C. Ing for reappointment as registers of the land offices at Los Angeles and Sacramento, respectively, were sent to the Senate today by President Hoover.

RED FOES OF CHRISTMAS VENT HATE

Atheists and Others Begin Campaign Striking Blows at All Forms of Religion

MOSCOW, Jan. 6. (AP)—Atheistic and antireligious societies generally throughout the soviet union today began a three-day onslaught against the Russian orthodox Christmas celebration, which begins tomorrow.

Communists wish to suppress Christmas entirely as a holiday and to make it an ordinary working day in factories, theaters, clubs, barracks and schools. Vigorous attacks against the church have been made.

Thirty-six thousand atheists will march through the streets of Moscow tomorrow in a procession headed by a black hearse carrying the "corpse" of religion, which will be burned and scattered to the four winds. Miniature models of churches, mosques and synagogues will be carried on floats through the snow-covered streets and will be burned in a special ceremony.

Antireligious carnivals lampooning gods and religions will be held on twenty of Moscow's skating rinks and will be followed by a "physical culture holiday."

PLANES HIT HIGH IN AIR; TWO PERISH

Lieut. Mitchell Who Lived in San Jose and Known as Gridiron Star, Victim

GALVESTON (Tex.) Jan. 6. (AP)—Lieut. Clarence C. Mitchell, 25 years of age, and Sergt. Julius T. Bihami, 32, of the third attack group, Fort Crockett, were killed this afternoon when their plane collided with another half a mile west of the Fort Crockett landing field.

Lieut. William C. Mills, pilot of the other plane, and Sergt. Lindsay Braxton, passenger, saved their lives by jumping with their parachutes. Lieut. Mitchell and Sergt. Bihami crashed to the ground with their ship.

The planes crashed at an altitude of 1500 feet. Lieut. Mitchell's home was in San Jose, Cal. He attended college at Santa Clara and starred on the gridiron.

Gunmen Murder Chicago Father

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. (AP) — Louis Antonucci, 40 years of age, father of six children, was shot and wounded probably fatally by gunmen today.

Police suspected the shooting might be another angle in the Billy Ranieri kidnaping case, which resulted in the sentencing of Angelo Pettiti to twenty-five years in Joliet penitentiary.

Although it was not due, according to prediction, until today, a new rainstorm all over the Southland heralded its coming with intermittent light sprinkles early last evening and later at night turned into heavy showers which gave every indication of lasting well on into the day. At midnight approximately one-half an inch had fallen here since 5 p.m., making a storm total of 1.02 inches. These were unofficial figures, the Weather Bureau closing at 5 p.m.

The rainstorm came on the wings of a low-pressume area which the local Weather Bureau reported as moving in from the Pacific along the Oregon coast yesterday morning. The center of the depression was traveling in a southeasterly direction and it was assumed that its outer edge would reach this vicinity today and because a moderate rainfall.

The movement of the low area was faster than expected, however, and early last evening its burden of rain was being deposited quite generally over Southern California.

Along with the new rainstorm there came a resumption of the snowfall which on Sunday had laid a white blanket almost two feet at some points in the high Sierras and also had fallen to a depth of three inches at some places in the San Bernardino Mountains. Hail also was reported yesterday afternoon from Santa Barbara and Santa Maria.

DOUBLY WELCOME

The coming of rain last night was doubly welcome in the citrus belt. Colder weather had come on the heels of Sunday's rainstorm but the renewal of the rainfall last night is reported to have eliminated all frost danger. Shortly after 6 p.m. rain was reported falling steadily in and around Pomona, Riverside and San Bernardino.

The continuation of the rainfall today was promised in the official forecast issued last evening, which said: "Rain Tuesday. Wednesday probably fair, with morning temperature near freezing. Moderate southwest to northwest winds." With the added fall of last evening the season's rainfall in Los Angeles totaled 1.34 inches as against 4.66 last year and a normal rainfall this time of year of 5.17 inches.

Before the downpour had become steady in Los Angeles, there were indications that it would become general in reports of rain which began to be received in steady succession as the rain traced its southward course. Reports of the storm's renewal also came in from the suburban points fringing the city, the first coming from Baldwin Park and Huntington Park. On the coast the rain gave early indications of becoming heavy.

COAST REPORTS

On the coast, Oxnard reported a fall of .29 of an inch up to 5 p.m. and Santa Barbara reported .51. The heaviest fall up to 9 p.m. in the Southland was reported from San Marcos, where it had reached .55 of an inch in the three hours between 6 and 9 p.m. Carpinteria reported .32; Montecito, .38 and Lompoc the same. Anaheim had reported .10 of an inch up to that time.

The San Joaquin Valley came in for a drenching which started about

SNOW FALLS IN BAY CITY

Wintry Weather Hits North

Rain and Hail Pelt Whole Territory Beyond Techachapi

Sierras and Siskiyous Get Heavy White Blanket; Party Marooned

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—For the first time in nearly eight years, San Francisco today received a touch of winter weather. Accompanied by a downward sliding mercury, mountain peaks surrounding the bay blossomed forth a crest of snow in a storm that sent rain, hail and snow pelting down on all California territory north of Tehachapi, causing at least one party of three to become snowbound.

As harbingers of a storm that later in the day battered down in the form of heavy rain and hail showers, a few flakes of snow fell in San Francisco during the morning, melting as quickly as they hit pavements, and in some instances before. But T. B. Fogg, unofficial weather observer for the State Highway Commission, and several business men verified the nature of the white flakes as snow. The hail which followed left a street coating that made pavements as well as roof tops and lots amply white for any one to see.

A downward swing of the mercury about 3 p.m. resulted in a blanket of snow on Mt. Tamalpais for a distance of a quarter of a mile down from its crest. Mt. Diablo's western slope was whitened half its height from the peak and a sprinkling of snow fell in the Livermore Hills.

In the Sierras and Siskiyous, the fall was heavy.

MIDWEST FEELS ICY STING

Zero Lash Descends on Large Area as Cold Wave Banishes Balmy, Springlike Weather

BY JOHN F. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—A new zero cold wave, howling out of the Northwest, is engulfing the Middle West tonight. The frigid blasts mean an end of the springlike weather that visited this section several days ago and lingered over the week-end.

The cold wave tonight is moving eastward and southward across the great plains region. The line of zero temperatures extends southward into Nebraska and Iowa, while from North Dakota northward and northwestward and through Canada the mercury ranges from 10 to 42 deg. below.

Reports from Omaha tonight say all of Nebraska and the surrounding States are suffering from subzero cold. Readings at Valentine, Neb., early tonight, were 2 below, with from 5 to 10 below predicted for that section by morning.

Sunday was as mild as a spring day in the vicinity of Omaha. The temperatures were generally 40 above zero. Today frozen radiators and nipped ears were in evidence everywhere. Shippers have been instructed to protect perishable shipments from zero weather to the south of Nebraska, and against 20 below to the west, 15 below to South

Plump Vaudeville Actress Tells of Weather

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (Exclusive) The plump and carefully manicured hands of Peaches Browning, which once patted Daddy Browning affectionately on the cheek, fluttered within grasping distance of some very important money this afternoon.

And Peaches' belated Santa Claus was Daddy himself. He walked into Supreme Court Justice Levy's chambers, nodded curtly and said:

"I want to sell $867,000 worth of my property and I am willing to give my wife one-third of the proceeds."

TELLS OF WEALTH

Earlier in the day Peaches had been before Philip J. Sinnott, a referee, in his office on Lower Broadway. Her lawyer, former Judge Paul F. Cohalan, was there, too, to protect the interests of his client.

Peaches disclosed a few pertinent facts about herself, her wealth and her earning power since she left Daddy's roof to do an act in vaudeville.

Maybe the talkies are to blame or else Peaches' fabulous salary is a press agent's pipe dream, because Peaches told Referee Sinnott that her income is $1012.50 yearly. This is derived, no doubt, from the $15,000 worth of material assets that Daddy has buyers, he said, and the deal is closed, except for a legal stamp of approval made necessary by Peaches' rights as his divorced wife.

FORECAST RAIN ARRIVES EARLY

Santa Ana at 11 p.m. reported rain still falling.

Snow began falling again late yesterday afternoon in the high Sierras, according to reports to the Southern California Edison Company. The resumption of the snowfall was reported from Huntington Lake, where fifteen inches fell Sunday; Florence Lake, which had a fall of eight inches Sunday, and power-house No. 1 on Big Creek, where Sunday's fall measured three and one-half inches.

The reports from the other stations of the company in the region were that the weather was cloudy, with additional snow expected momentarily. Two of these points, where a heavy snowfall was preceded by rain Sunday, are Shaver Lake and power-house No. 2 on Big Creek. Sunday's total precipitation at these points, measured in terms of rainfall, was .98 of an inch and 1.65 inches, respectively.

ALMOST BLIZZARD

Most of the snow which fell on Sunday in the San Bernardino Mountains had melted by yesterday morning, but a light white carpet was still on the ground when the snow began again last night. From Riverside it was reported that a snowstorm, which began early last evening on the higher slopes of the San Jacinto mountains was reaching the proportions of a blizzard and gave every indication of continuing throughout the night.

A phone message received at Riverside last night from Mrs. J. C. Percival, wife of the manager of the Idyllwild Hotel, described the mountain blizzard as so heavy that it was impossible to see more than a few feet ahead.

Further reports to the County Flood-Control Department yesterday confirmed the fact that there had been virtually no run-off of the rain which fell Sunday, the fall having been so slow that it was absorbed steadily by the parched ground.

ICY LASH LAID ON MIDWEST

Dakota and the north and from 5 to 10 below to the east.

A drizzling rain fell throughout most of the day in the Chicago section. The cold wave will sweep eastward according to C. A. Donnel, official forecaster, taking zero weather into the Chicago area by Wednesday.

The cold wave struck Kansas City at 10:30 o'clock this morning. In the next half-hour the mercury dropped 22 deg., almost a record. The reading continued to decline, but with less rapidity. The sudden drop followed a morning and night of almost spring-like mildness.

The mercury has not yet struck its low level, according to the local Weather Bureau. By morning it is predicted there will be a reading in Kansas City of from 5 to 10 above zero.

Goodland, Kan., recorded a remarkable drop in temperature today. Sunday afternoon the reading was 62 degrees, the State maximum, and tonight it had dropped to 12 deg. above zero.

One Killed in Louisville Fire

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Jan. 6. (AP)—A fireman was injured fatally, and forty other fire fighters suffered hurts of various degrees here tonight as flames swept through the lumber yard of the Mengel Body Company, Inc.

Company officials estimated the loss at $250,000 and said 1,000,000 feet of lumber used in making automobile bodies had been destroyed. Lieut. William Patton, 34 years of age, died shortly after a fall from a crane.

NEW FARE-CASE HEARING DENIED

Supreme Court Refuses to Grant Review

Los Angeles Plea Rejected Without Comment

Matter of Adjustments Said to Become Local

Court that the State commission, having twice entered into the Los Angeles rate controversy, had assumed jurisdiction and was duty bound to make an investigation and set a reasonable fare. What the commission did was once to authorize a compromise increase to 6 cents, and then, when this was rejected by economies of operation which, in its to hold the company to the 5-cent charge. In taking the latter action, the commission pointed to numerous economies of operation which in its opinion, would enable the car company to make a profit at the lower fare.

SEEN AS LOCAL AFFAIR

The Supreme Court in its 6 to 3 decision held in effect that the 5-cent fare was too low to give the company a reasonable return on its investment, and that the State commission had fallen short of its full responsibility in not carrying the matter through to some solution which would have established a fair rate.

Railroad attorneys in Washington having knowledge of the case were of the opinion tonight that the Los Angeles car-fare controversy is again wholly a local matter for the city and State commission to deal with. They said the logical move probably will be a complaint by the city lodged with the commission, and an investigation and finding by the latter.

MARYLAND COMPANY WINS FIGHT ON FARES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—The United Railways and Electric Company won in the Supreme Court today in its fight with the Maryland Public Service Commission over street-car fares in Baltimore.

The commission was reversed by the court in its contention that the cost of the railway property should be used in fixing street-car fares, the court holding the present value should be the determining factor.

The case was sent back for further proceedings in accordance with the opinion.

REBATE-SLIP ISSUE STOPPED BY COMPANY

Considering that the United States Supreme Court's action yesterday has ended definitely the 7-cent fare case, the Los Angeles Railway Company no longer will issue the rebate slips which have been given passengers since it raised its fares more than a year ago.

This decision, it was said last night by Robert O. Crowe, vice-president, was reached as soon as the company received word through its attorneys that the high court had refused to grant the city and the Railroad Commission a rehearing on its appeal against the decision of the local Federal Court, which allowed the increase.

The company, Mr. Crowe said, regarded the increased fare as legally in effect as soon as the Supreme Court's action was taken, and the street-car conductors were notified at once to discontinue issuing the rebate slips.

TROLLEY BOOKS OPEN

Asked regarding a statement made by City Attorney Werner yesterday that the city may launch an investigation of the railway company's earnings with a view to finding whether they are excessive under the new fare, Mr. Crowe said the company will have no hesitation in throwing open its books to inspection by the city.

He pointed out, however, that even the company as yet has not computed its earnings under the increased rates, for, while the legal question remained as to the status of the additional revenue, it has not been placed on the books of the company as among its earnings.

FUNDS RELEASED

The court's action yesterday, he said, now has released these funds and they will be added to the company's assets. As based on a 5-cent fare, he said, the earnings of the company have decreased since the fare increase was first ordered by the Federal Court, there having been a falling off since then in the average number of passengers carried daily.

He is certain, he said, that the additional revenue will not increase the earnings of the company to a figure that will be considered excessive by the Railroad Commission in the event that the city should attempt to have that body order a reduction in fares.

Rockefeller Will Talk Via Screen

ORMOND BEACH (Fla.) Jan. 6. (AP)—A talking film will carry an address of John D. Rockefeller to his associates meeting in Cleveland Friday to celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of the Standard Oil Company.

Unable to accept an invitation to attend the meeting, the oil magnate spoke into the microphone of a sound-recording motion-picture apparatus at his winter home here yesterday. The film will be exhibited at the Cleveland meeting.

T. P. O'Connor's Estate $1500

LONDON, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—T. P. (Taypay) O'Connor, father of the Commons, left only $1500, it was reported tonight, and the principal bequests consisted of his twenty snuff boxes which he distributed among his friends.

The gold snuff box presented by the House of Commons on his eightieth birthday he bequeathed back to the House. The others have been left to Samuel Insull, the Chicago millionaire, and Sir Basil Zaharoff, international financier.

AUSTRIA FAILS ON DEBT PACT

Major Powers Inclined to Disregard Interests

Leaders Want Quick Action in Adopting Young Plan

Schacht Called to Iron Out Time of Payments

THE HAGUE (Netherlands) Jan. 6. (AP)—Announcement was made today that efforts to bring about an agreement between Austria and her reparations creditors at the reparations conference had failed and further efforts at negotiation are in progress. The general reaction to this development is a disposition by the major powers to disregard the reparations interests of the smaller creditors and to go ahead with adoption of the Young plan as soon as possible.

Along with that announcement came news that Foreign Minister Briand will leave The Hague Friday in order to get to Geneva comfortably for the Council meeting of the League of Nations on the 13th inst.

SPEED FAVORED

The opinion grew in favor of the early termination of the present session inasmuch as Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, is known to be disinclined to daily with questions outside of the German reparations problem. It was thought by many observers that the failure of the little entente powers to come to an agreement with their reparations debtors might bring the conference to a quicker end instead of prolonging it.

However, efforts to straighten out the Austrian tangle are still going on and Bulgaria and Hungary will be given the floor tomorrow.

SCHACHT CALLED ON

The big six powers made two efforts today to get the problem of when the monthly installments on reparations are due from Germany off the slate without success.

It was decided to call in Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the Reichsbank, and other experts to confer with the major powers on that question. While Dr. Schacht is not a member of the German delegation, he has held himself ready for consultations.

ITALIAN ELECT MEET MARIE

uniforms the reception surpassed any such function that Rome has seen in a quarter of a century.

MUSSOLINI LEADS

The select company invited to be presented to the Princess was restricted to the visiting kings and queens and princes and princesses, the principal officials of the Italian state, and the Belgian officials accompanying the bridal party. The members of the Diplomatic Corps, including Ambassador John W. Garrett and Mrs. Garrett of the United States, were the only others invited.

The line of dignitaries that slowly passed before her this evening was headed by Premier Mussolini and other wearers of the order of the Annunziata, highest decoration within the gift of the Italian monarch.

Premier Mussolini was in full-dress uniform, dark blue with gold frogs, fourragere, and braid. He carried his white-plumed cocked hat under his arm. The members of his Cabinet, who followed the wearers of the Annunziata Order, were also resplendent in dark-blue and gold. Next came President Federoni of the Senate in full evening dress and decorations, heading the principal officers of the upper house, and then President Giuriati of the Chamber, leading the officials of the Chamber.

KING GIVES DOWER FUND

As each of the dignitaries approached the royal receiving party he bowed deeply, raised and brought the Princess' finger tips to his lips, and then uttered his congratulations. Marie Jose, who since her early schooling in Florence speaks fluent Italian, replied to each and smiled brilliantly. Crown Prince Humbert acknowledged the greetings with the military salute and his own infectious smiles.

King Victor Emmanuel, in honor of his son's approaching marriage, today gave the Governor of Rome 500,000 lire, or about $26,000 to be used as a fund for wedding dowers for poor girls. This adds to another sum the King gave for the same purpose of the occasion of the wedding of the Crown Prince's elder sister, Yolanda.

PRINCES AND PRINCESSES GO ON HUNTING PARTY

CASTEL PORBIANO, Jan. 6. (AP) Princess Marie Jose of Belgium and the guests who Wednesday will see her married to Prince Humbert of Italy, participated today in the largest hunting party this famous old estate has ever known.

After shooting in the morning the guests, who included Princes of the blood of Belgium, Italy, Great Britain, and Bulgaria, sat down to a hunt returned. Afterward the party returned to Rome to receive deputations of the Senate and Chamber and the Fascist Grand Council, presenting wedding gifts and making addresses of loyalty.

The party enjoyed excellent hunting weather, clear and sunshiny with just a touch of warmth to the air. The lodge is a fine sixteenth century building with traces of fortifications erected to defend it against pirates. It is about midway between Rome and Ostia on the way to the sea, and is situated in the midst of a great pine forest which abounds in deer, boar and other game.

The guns of the kings and princes brought down a number of deer and boars, all of which were distributed to Roman charitable organizations to garnish epiphany dinner tables of poor families.

The hunt lasted little over two hours. All the male guests were in sporting costume. The preserve was reached by automobiles, and its approaches were zealously guarded by plain clothes men and carbineri. At the gate, Count Guerrieri, whose title is "The Great Huntsman of the Court," welcomed the party and assigned members to their coverts.

FIGHT FOR FORTUNE FORECAST

Relatives and Former Wives Expected to War for Savin Millions

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (Exclusive) More than $10,000,000, and the probability of a fight to keep it, passed by will today to Mrs. Anna M. Schleis Savin, the Czecho-Slovakian chambermaid whom the late Frank M. Savin, retired broker, made his fourth wife to preside over the great Port Chester home where she had swept and dusted. Savin's will was read today at the mansion and will be filed tomorrow at White Plains for probate.

Among those not present, but regarded to be sure to be heard from in the future concerning the will were Savin's two children by his first wife, his adopted children and other relatives of himself and his various wives. Just the fourth wife was there when the Savin lawyer-executor, William M. Sullivan, read the $10,000,000 document. A finish fight between the widow and the other claimants expected to rise is predicted by those who know the Savin family history.

and their 7-year-old son of Stockton, were reported snowbound at Stockton. Late today L. Wood of that city. Late today L. Wood of Oakdale and father of Mrs. Nightengale, organized a rescue party at Sonora and prepared to go to their aid.

Sleet, snow and high winds put telegraph and telephone wires out of commission in the upper reaches of the Redwood Empire and in the Susanville district similar high winds disrupted the electric service, leaving part of the town without lights and many homes without heat because furnaces there are electrically operated.

The wind there was of gale proportions, it was reported, lifting chicken houses bodily into the air and hurling them around; unroofing isolated barns, toppling small granaries and felling trees and poles.

HEAVY SNOWFALL

Forty-seven inches of snow has fallen at the Sierra Summit and the temperature dropped to 12 deg. above zero.

Redding reported its heaviest snowfall in eight years, totaling four inches this afternoon with the snow still falling. The California State Automobile Association received reports of two feet in the Siskiyous between Redding and Dunsmuir and snowplows were brought out to keep highways open.

The association also reported snow at Willits, midway of the Redwood empire, and six inches at Cummings, farther north.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company had reports of snow varying from four inches at its Pit River No. 1 plant to two feet at Spaulding Dam.

SPORTS ASSURED

The Southern Pacific said snow ranged from ten to forty inches in the Truckee sector and dispatches from Yosemite reported five inches of snow there and a atemperature cold enough to assure the winter-sports program. C. G. Thomson, park superintendent, said the highways from Merced and roads in the valley are open and are being kept that way.

Auto traffic from San Francisco to Reno is being routed via Red Bluff and Susanville, the Automobile Association reporting the Yuba, Auburn and Placerville highways closed.

Small-craft warnings were displayed from the bay district north in anticipation of continued storm conditions offshore as well as on land. Many of the largest liners plying offshore have been delayed up to twenty-four hours in their scheduled arrivals because of head winds and rough wather at sea.

Precipitation in inches reported to northern stations to 5 p.m. was:

GASOLINE TAX MEET CALLED

Equalization Board Invites Oil Men to Parley

Reported Evasions of Levy Will be Discussed

Official Denies State to Suffer Large Loss

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 6. (AP)—Heads of five major California oil companies were invited to meet with members of the State Board of Equalization in San Francisco Thursday to consider reported gasoline tax evasions, in telegrams sent by R. E. Collins, of Redding, chairman of the board here today.

The subject also will be considered at a meeting of the board here tomorrow.

Those called to the meeting Thursday are K. R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil Company of California; G. Leigh-Jones, president of the Shell Oil Company; W. L. Stewart, president of the Union Oil Company of California; W. F. Humphrey, president of the Associated Oil Company, and A. L. Weil, counsel for the General Petroleum Corporation.

Other regional conferences with oil company heads will be called, Collins said. Only companies with general offices in San Francisco were invited to Thursday's meeting, which Collins suggested be held in the offices of the Standard Oil Company.

MEETING HERE PLANNED

Collins indicated that officials of the Richfield company, Gilmore Oil Company, Hancock Oil Company, Hercules Gasoline Company, Macmillan Petroleum Corporation and others with headquarters in Southern California will be asked to attend subsequent conferences in Los Angeles.

"Well, who recently directed attention to the gasoline tax situation in a letter to Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb, has categorically denied saying that the evasions amounted to $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 or any other sum," Collins said. "He has said that he has no knowledge of the subject whatever, and that he wrote his letter to the Attorney-General merely to make it clear that none of the major oil companies was attempting to hinder the work of the State in fixing responsibility for the evasions. He further states that to the best of his knowledge no such assertions were made by the executives of any of the other major companies approving his stand.

Reiterating his contention that the State will lose little, if any, taxes because of the practices uncovered, Dixwell Pierce, secretary of the board, said seven oil-distributing companies will have approximately $100,000 in back taxes added to tax rolls for the past quarter. At least one company in Southern California has ceased operation since the State has investigated methods used to evade the gasoline tax, Pierce said.

Reports that the State would lose $3,000,000 in unpaid gasoline taxes because of reported diversion of export gasoline into domestic channels were branded by Collins as unfounded.

Collins said he had reports that the Los Angeles District Attorney's office claimed it could aid the State in collecting $3,000,000 in unpaid taxes. The District Attorney has no power to aid in tax collection, Collins said, but is limited to prosecuting criminal cases of asserted tax evasion in which evidence is gathered by the Board of Equalization.

The State is not going to lose gasoline taxes, Collins declared, adding that he believed the reports from Los Angeles of heavy losses were "political propaganda."

GENERAL PETROLEUM DENIES MAKING CHARGES

The General Petroleum Corporation of California has made no specific charges of misconduct in connection with the asserted State-wide gasoline-tax evasions now under investigation by the District Attorney's office, D. W. Woods, secretary of the company, states in a letter received by The Times yesterday. It merely has urged the Attorney-General to institute proceedings in event it is disclosed the law has been violated, the letter points out.

Secretary Woods's letter directs attention of The Times to what he characterizes as two misleading headlines appearing in the issue of Saturday, the 4th inst., and asks that any erroneous impression likely to be gained therefrom be corrected.

The letter in full follows:

"Your attention is called to the misleading headlines appearing on the first page of The Los Angeles Times in the issue dated Saturday morning, the 4th inst., that 'General Petroleum Makes Charges Involving Employees of Several Companies in Huge Fraud,' and to the further misleading headlines appearing on the second page of the same issue of The Los Angeles Times as follows: 'Gas Tax Fraud Charges Made—Evasion Scheme Credited to Oil Employees.'

"The General Petroleum Corporation of California accuses no one of any misconduct whatsoever. The letter sent to the Attorney-General has no hidden implication but means exactly what it says and that is that we urge that if it be disclosed that the law has been violated, proceedings be vigorously pressed.

"From an examination of the other local newspapers of this date we find that the subject matter referred to was not treated by any other newspaper in the manner in which The Times made reference thereto in the headlines quoted. We ask that you appropriately correct the erroneous and misleading statements referred to."

ETHYL ALCOHOL TO BE POISONED

Dean Orders Denaturing to Terminate Diversion

Bootleggers Have Been Using Varnish Material

Dry Chief Says New System Ought to Stop It

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Indications that alcohol used in making varnishes and lacquers must be denatured further were issued today by Prohibition Commissioner Doran.

It was reported to the commissioner that ethyl alcohol used in the manufacture of varnishes and lacquer is being converted by bootleggers and used for beverage purposes.

The new orders provide that to every 100 gallons of ethyl alcohol there must be added four gallons of denatured wood alcohol and ten gallons of normal butyl alcohol, or denatured fusel oil or amyl alcohol.

Doran said he believes the new regulations will end the conversion.

LINER OPERATES BREWERY

Five Barrels Every Two Days Made for Passengers on George Washington En Route from Hamburg

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—The United States Lines revealed an "experiment" with prohibition today when the liner George Washington docked at Hoboken. It seems that a seagoing brewery had been installed on the ship to quench the thirst of doughty third-class passengers. Twenty barrels of beer taken aboard at Hamburg were not enough to satisfy them on New Year's Eve. They had to run the brewery, a new development in things alcoholic, day and night.

Joseph E. Sheedy, president of the United States Lines, Inc., hurried to see the brewery as the George Washington docked. Reporters met him at the pier and told him that Capt. G. A. Moloney had denied the existence of such a plant.

Mr. Sheedy smilingly admitted the brewery was working, and that he was quite pleased with the results.

"What of it" he demanded. "It's within the law. When the ship is within the twelve-mile limit, the brewery is dismantled and sealed. Once outside, it is run full blast and everybody is happy."

Reporters who met the George Washington were apprised of the existence of the brewery, which was installed at Hamburg by happy third-class passengers. They explained that all the beer on the ship had been consumed on New Year's Eve.

There was general mourning. Then a Moses appeared to lead the passengers out of the parched wilderness. It was Hans Kausler, reputed to be a braumeister of considerable experience.

He started the brewery and beer began to flow once more. The "baby machine" turned out five barrels every forty-eight hours, which is full capacity.

PLOT CHARGED TO LEGISLATOR

True Bills Voted Against Kuns of Illinois

Attempt to Commit Bribery and Fraud Asserted

Representative Says Action Based on Politics

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. (AP)—True bills charging Representative Kuns of the Eighth Illinois District and his son, Stanley, Jr., with conspiracy were voted today by the county grand jury, it was made known by Assistant State's Attorney Lavin. The true bills charge conspiracy to attempt to commit bribery, to operate a confidence game and to obtain money under false pretenses, Lavin stated.

Kuns and his son were served with subpoenas Saturday commanding their presence before the grand jury in its investigation of the civil service. The Congressman disregarded the summons, however, invoking his Congressional immunity and returning to Washington.

His accuser, Roman Trochowski, and the younger Kuns were understood to have testified before the grand jury today.

Trochowski, Lavin has revealed, has said he paid $400 to the Congressman for assistance in obtaining a police department job. Lavin said he had a certified check bearing the Congressman's signature which would be introduced as evidence. Representative Kuns, asked about the accusation Saturday, denied the implication of bribery and said the $400 check represented a personal loan which he had repaid.

CHARGES BASED ON POLITICS, KUNS ASSERTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Representative Kuns of Illinois today attributed charges upon which he and his son were indicted by a Cook county grand jury to "politics."

Kuns said that he did not understand the charges. He said he had been served with a subpoena in Chicago Saturday, but had to leave at once to be in Washington on time for reopening of the House today.

"A man can prefer charges of any kind against any man at any time," the Representative said. "You know I am in politics and have many enemies."

MURDER OF MISSIONARY STIRS QUIZ

Police in Africa Hunt for Native Blamed in Killing of American Woman

NAIROBI (Kenya Colony) Jan. 6. (AP)—Kenya Colony police today pressed investigation of the death of Miss Hulda Stumpf, 63 years of age, American missionary whose body was found in a house of the Africa Inland Mission station at Kijabe, fifty miles away. She is believed to have been murdered.

There was evidence the woman had been attacked. Authorities said she apparently had sufficated after the attack. They believe her assailant to have been a native. Search for him in near-by villages has been instituted.

Frederick Lanning, business manager of the Africa Inland Mission in New York, said Miss Stumpf had done secretarial work for the director of the Kijabe Mission. He said he had known her personally and that she was a valuable and efficient worker.

Mexican Dollar, China Standard of Value, Drops

SHANGHAI, Jan. 6. (AP)—China moved another step toward a depreciated currency crisis today when Mexican dollars were quoted at 35.5 gold cents, a drop of 2½ cents since Saturday. Today's quotation is stated to be the lowest in the history of the exchange in China. A year ago the Mexican dollar was worth 49 cents.

Much hardship already has been felt among merchants, both foreign and Chinese, as the result of the declining value of silver. Bankers have predicted that the price will slump to 30 cents, and possibly even less than that.

Two Men Killed by Rum Runners

McALLEN (Tex.) Jan. 6. (AP)—Rum runners seeking vengeance for a liquor hijacking killed Juan Gonsales and Salvador Bruno, whose bodies were recovered from the Rio Grande, and possibly a third youth, officers believed today.

Two murder charges were lodged against Manuel Zamora and a second man, thought to have escaped across the river into Mexico, was sought. Meanwhile, the muddy waters were being dragged for the body of Cipriano Ybarro, missing from home and believed to have been a third victim of the outlaw guns.

The bodies of Gonsales and Bruno were found, submerged, near a blood-stained section on the river bank littered with empty pistol cartridges.

CANADIANS TO AID MEXICAN RAILWAYS

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 6. (AP)—P. Mallory and F. T. Pringle, director of the bureau of statistics and general transport superintendent, respectively, for the Canadian National Railways, arrived here Sunday to assist in reorganization of the Mexican National Railways. They came at the invitation of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, who, prior to a recent trip to France, was commissioned to study a means of placing the railway on a better financial basis. They expect to remain in Mexico about four months.

WIFE OF FIGHTER SUES FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Mickey Walker

DRINKING CHARGED TO BOXER

Mrs. Mickey Walker Asks for Alimony and Custody; Tells of Fortune Earned

TRENTON (N. J.) Jan. 6. (AP)—Edward Patrick Walker, better known as Mickey Walker, the boxer, was accused of being drunk, cruel and abusive in a suit for divorce filed in Chancery Court today by Margaret Kelly Walker.

Mrs. Walker asked for an absolute decree in divorce, alimony and custody of Michael Walker, 5 years of age, and an expected child. Her papers assert that Walker earned $300,000 a year ago.

Among the allegations are that the boxer tore a door from an ice box in a drunken frenzy, and that he threw the dinner meat at the chauffeur and then fed it to the dog. Also that he took a "lavish" trip to Paris that cost $60,000 and did not ask her to accompany him.

Mrs. Walker charged the fighter threatened to shoot her once and that one night he had her stay at their home in Rumson, while he "wined and dined other women."

BROOKHART WOULD CURB SPECULATOR

Selling Short Prohibited by Iowa Senator's Bill; Other Measures Offered

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Bills to create a new Federal Reserve co-operative banking system, to prohibit short selling on stock and grain exchanges and to license corporations engaged in interstate commerce were introduced today by Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa.

The bill to license corporations would limit earnings to 5 per cent of the capital investment and would provide that excess profits be turned over to the Treasury Department. Licenses would be issued by the Federal Trade Commission after statements of investment, commercial transactions, gross and net earnings and salaries of managing officers were filed.

Short selling on the exchanges would be made unlawful by forbidding the use of mails to communications having to do with orders and payments.

Soviet Pushes Farm Project

MOSCOW, Jan. 6. (AP)—Announcement was made today that the process of converting small peasant farms into great state collective farms is going ahead more rapidly than hoped for.

The central committee of the Communist party reports that the conversion of millions of small peasant farms has gone ahead at such rapid pace that by autumn the sown area of land under the "socialized sector" of agriculture will exceed 30,000,000 hectares. This is 8,000,000 hectares greater than the area which the government had hoped to sow by the end of the five-year economic plan. (A hectare is equivalent to 2.70 acres.)

WIFE OF RICH BROKER GETS RENO DIVORCE

RENO, Jan. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Charlotte C. Samuels was granted a divorce here today from Donald L. Samuels, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and heir to millions. The decree was granted on grounds of cruelty. A property settlement provides that Mrs. Samuels shall have custody of a 4-year-old son and $500 a month.

OWENS VALLEY WATER CASE UP

Supreme Court Today Hears Los Angeles' Plea

Injunction Against Pumping Wells Reversal Asked

Shortage of Supply Pointed by City's Attorneys

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. (AP)—The city of Los Angeles' fight to maintain its Owens Valley water supply will be renewed here tomorrow when the State Supreme Court hears arguments on the municipality's petition for a writ of supersedeas suspending enforcement of a Kern county Superior Court injunction restraining the city from operating certain wells in the valley.

Attorneys for the city have asserted that if the injunction is not suspended during the pendency of an appeal Los Angeles will suffer irreparable damage.

DEFICIT IN WATER

With the injunction in operation, the petition filed December 9 set forth, there will be a deficit of 122 second-feet of water for the city's requirements. It was pointed out that "the city is experiencing a constantly threatening deficiency in its water supply and it is necessary to continue the supply from the Owens Valley region for uses built up or the city will be out of water."

Ranchers who fought for and obtained the injunction after a long legal battle will attempt to show cause tomorrow why the writ should not be granted. In 1927 they filed seventeen independent actions in the Superior Court of Inyo county, setting up that wells drilled by the city had drawn down subterranean waters to such an extent that their crops and trees had become less productive and cultivation of the land had become less profitable.

INJUNCTION HISTORY

Later, in December, 1928, the actions were transferred to the Kern County Superior Court for trial and an injunction was granted by Superior Judge Lamberson.

The city of Los Angeles tomorrow will maintain that the lower tribunal in issuing the injunction violated the so-called "rule of public use." Briefly, this rule provides that once private properties have been taken for public use without objection of the owners the owners "thereafter cannot maintain an action to enjoin continuance of such public use, but will be relegated to an action for damages."

DE RIVERA INDICATES EARLY EXIT

Spanish Dictator Asserts 1930 Probably Will be His Last as Premier

MADRID, Jan. 6. (AP)—Premier Primo De Rivera today said that 1930 "probably will be the last year" of his dictatorship in a message he sent to the highest army and navy officers in Spain thanking them for their patriotism and loyalty. The letter was sent on the occasion of "the day of the three kings," a national religious holiday in Spain.

The Premier lamented the fact that "the passions of some persons have prevented the government from receiving unanimous support in the country," but he expressed pride and satisfaction over the discipline of the nation's armed forces. He said he believes the example for peace and order set by the troops represents the general attitude of the Spanish people despite criticism.

"Stronger and More Vigorous Than in Years"

It seems impossible that any medicine could have brought glowing health to thousands of suffering men and women who had tried countless other treatments without benefit—and yet, according to the statements of those who have put it to the test Sargon has accomplished this seemingly impossible feat. Many who had almost given up hope of ever being well and strong again, or had been forced to quit work on account of ill health, have testified that they found lasting relief through this new and modern compound.

CHARLES M. CLARK

A typical example of Sargon's triumphs over stubborn ailments is shown in the statement of Charles M. Clark, well-known resident of [illegible] W. 6th St., Los Angeles, who said:

"I've gained fifteen pounds from four bottles of Sargon—which seems remarkable for a man seventy-two years old like I am—and this new medicine has also been of inestimable benefit to my wife. It has rid her of rheumatic pains at a time we were afraid nothing would ever help her and after we had spent thousands of dollars on special treatments, baths and medicines that never seemed to do her one earthly bit of good.

"For the past four years I had so much trouble with food sours rising on my stomach that I'd have to get up at night and take soda in order to get enough temporary relief to be able to sleep. It got to be an awful habit with me and didn't really correct my trouble at all. I also suffered from chronic constipation, biliousness and dizzy spells, and between taking laxatives continually and keeping dosed up on soda, my system was upset all the time and I got in a badly rundown condition.

"Sargon is the first medicine I ever took that really corrected the acid condition of my stomach—every trace of indigestion has disappeared and I feel stronger and more vigorous now than I have in years! It sure is a relief to be able to get a good night's sleep again, and the new strength and vigor I've gained has made my work a real pleasure.

"I also took the Sargon Soft Mass Pills and they're the most satisfactory laxative I ever used. They acted so naturally that I hardly realised I had taken any medicine and my bowels stay regulated in such fine shape that I have no further trouble with biliousness or dizzy spells.

"I've had the question asked me as to whether it's necessary to keep on taking Sargon after it once gets your system straightened out. From my own experience I can say 'No,' because I left off taking the medicine some time ago and have continued to enjoy the best of health. I can't recommend it too strongly to others."

What finer tribute than this could be paid to any medicine? The same splendid story is heard time and time again wherever Sargon is known. Let these experiences of others point the way to better health for you; for no matter how severe the test, Sargon can be depended upon to give a good account of itself.

The Sargon Man is at the Owl Drug Store, 6th and Broadway, meeting the public and giving the facts about this remarkable new scientific discovery. He cites case after case of Sargon's wonderful powers at work; personal instances of health renewed and happiness restored, right here in this city. Sargon may be obtained at all Owl drug stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

CUTTING COTTON ACREAGE URGED

Warning Given to Growers by Federal Farm Board

Veiled Threat on Denial of Assistance Voiced

Teague Says Appeal Meant for Grain Men, Too

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—In a terse warning to cotton farmers to cut their acreage this spring if they expect the government to help market the 1930 crop, the Federal Farm Board took its first decisive step today to force a minimum agricultural surplus.

C. C. Teague, member of the board, said the warning applies to wheat as well as to cotton, and to any other commodity in which producers make a deliberate attempt to expand their acreage in the face of overproduction.

"Some cotton farmers," the board said, "think that because the Federal Farm Board has been lending to co-operatives at an average of 16 cents a pound on middling seven-eighths-inch staple of the 1929 crop, the board means to see to it that the price will be at least that much for the crop of 1930.

"This is not so. The Federal Farm Board cannot protect farmers when they deliberately overplant. What the board will do to help in marketing next year's crop will depend on what farmers do at planting time."

PROBLEM DETAILED

Teague would not say whether the board means to imply that it will discontinue loans or refuse to assist in marketing if cotton farmers ignore the warning and a serious surplus results.

He turned the question rather to the problem of creating a profitable price on an overcrowded market.

"The advances we have made on cotton and wheat this year," he said, "represent what we feel to be a safe margin guaranteed by present prices, current stock, supply and demand. We do not know that we could offer as much, less or more, next year. Advances undoubtedly will vary from time to time, depending on the economic trend. Sudden expansion in any commodity producing a surplus might make it impossible to obtain a profitable price."

"In no event," Teague said, "would the Farm Board guarantee a price level for a crop in advance of planting."

REASON FOR WARNING

The board based its warning on its statement that last year's cotton acreage was too large. It was the largest planted acreage of any year in history, excepting 1925 and 1926. Nothing but crop failure in Texas in 1929, the board said, prevented a total yield of 16,000,000 bales—more American cotton than the world would take at a fair price.

The board recommended that the southern farmers plant no cotton next spring until they first have provided acres enough for a reasonable supply of food and feed and that no land be planted to cotton which has not produced at least one-third of a bale per acre on the average for the last five years.

While no suggestions were offered on wheat or other surplus-producing commodities aided by the board, Teague said the board will insist the acreage be held to previous averages at most.

TEXAS FARMERS TOLD TO ORGANIZE

AUSTIN (Tex.) Jan. 6. (AP)—Texas cotton farmers must organize into a central agency before they can share in the relief offered by Congress through the Federal Farm Board, Alexander Legge, chairman, and Carl Williams, cotton member of the board, said here today at a conference with Gov. Moody and representatives of farmers' and bankers' associations.

Chairman Legge told the conference that if the attitude of "wondering what the 'fool' Farm Board is going to do" continues, the real relief will not be much.

"It is necessary that the farmers get together and quit this thing of being competitors of one another," he said.

GLOBE TOUR IN AIRPLANE PROJECTED

Cleveland Millionaire to Use Giant Fokker, Leaving San Francisco in June

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. Exclusive) The round-the-world flight season opened officially today with the announcement here that Harry A. Husted, Cleveland millionaire, plans to purchase a $100,000 Fokker F-32 monoplane for a westward flight around the globe, beginning June 15 from San Francisco.

Contracts will be signed tomorrow in Cleveland, it is understood. Husted is head of the American Hard Rubber Company of Akron, O. For some time he has been interested in air transportation in China.

Leaving here the 15th inst., an F-32, the largest land plane in the world, will be flown nonstop to San Francisco to check performance figures. On the basis of that information, another F-32 will be specially constructed for Husted's round-the-world flight.

James Boyle, Western Air Express pilot, with a long record of cross-country and air-mail flying, is expected to pilot the F-32 on its world flight, although this matter is not entirely settled, according to James King, Fokker engineer, who will supervise flight preparations in San Francisco.

Gen. Summerall Says They Ought to be All Dolled Up in Dress Uniforms

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) The American soldier must be well dressed to be a good fighter, in the opinion of Maj.-Gen. Summerall, chief of the Army staff, who believes the time will come when the Army will have to be supplied with blue dress uniforms.

Discussing the army uniform before a House appropriations War Department subcommittee, he said the lack of a ceremonial dress uniform puts American soldiers "at a great disadvantage in comparison with the Navy and Marine Corps and with foreign troops, when they come in contact with them."

NEW YORK SAILS FOR BYRD CAMP

Supply Ship Given Great Send-off on Departure from New Zealand

BY LLOYD BERKNER

(Copyright, 1930, by Los Angeles Times, New York Times and St. Louis Post Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.)

BARQUE CITY OF NEW YORK AT SEA, Jan. 5. (By Wireless)—The City of New York today started its second journey to the Byrd Expedition Camp at Little America when at 2:30 p.m. Capt. F. C. Melville gave orders to get under way.

The departure of the City of New York from her winter quarters in Dunedin was witnessed by hundreds of friends of the expedition, who braved the stormy weather to take part in the hearty send-off and to bid good-by to the members of the crew. Every man has been looking forward to this time throughout the winter for we all are anxious to see our companions at Little America again and bring their mail from home and their fresh supplies.

Because of heavy gales along the coast, during which shipping has been delayed it has been necessary for the City of New York to lay just outside Port Chalmers until morning, when it is hoped weather will moderate sufficiently to get under way again.

The send-off partook typically of hospitality received by all of the members of the expedition, who spent their winter in New Zealand, and every effort was made by the Otago Harbor Board to assist in the departure south.

UNIONS PICK BIRMINGHAM AS CENTER

Plans for Contemplated Drive in Southern Area Told by A.F. of L. Chief

CHARLOTTE (N. C.) Jan. 6. (AP) The selection of Birmingham, Ala., as the southern headquarters of the American Federation of Labor in its proposed campaign to unionize the South was announced late today by President Green at the Southern conference here.

The announcement climaxed the day's sessions which had included a keynote address by President Green in which he declared union labor is coming south with an outstretched "hand of friendship." He also announced the personnel of the committee which is to have charge of the proposed organizing campaign.

The members of the committee are Paul Smith, vice-president of the United Mine Workers of America; W. C. Birthright, vice-president of the Barbers' International Union, and Frances J. Gorman, vice-president of the United Textile Workers of America.

This committee, Green said, will begin work at once in making plans for "carrying the gospel of unionism" south of the Mason and Dixon line.

More Time Ordered for Chicago Station

Court of Appeals Confuses Commission's Power

Standard of Program Made Basis for Privileges

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (NANA) Several more moot points in the highly involved jurisprudence being built up around radio were settled, but the powers of the Federal Radio Commission were left in a somewhat confused state, by a decision of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia handed down today ordering the commission to allot more time on the air to station WENR, Chicago.

The effect of the decision is to give WENR, one of the country's few 50,000 watt stations, half time on the cleared channel it now shares with WLS, also of Chicago. Under the commission's previous decision, which was appealed to the court, WENR obtained only two-sevenths time, the remaining five-sevenths being allotted WLS.

The court' opinion holds no brief for arguments against the ownership and operation of a broadcasting station by a power company. Although WENR is owned and managed by an association of public utility corporations, primarily the Insull interests, it is described by the court as a "general service public station for broadcasting good music, entertainment of various kinds, educational features, and news," and as ranking with the foremost stations in the country.

When the commission heard the three-cornered argument for wavelength privileges, in which WENR, WLS and WCBD (the latter station operated at Zion City, Ill., by Wilbur Glenn Voliva) all sought more time on the air, several United States Senators appeared to urge against granting increased radio facilities to what they described as a "power trust."

The court's action, in effect, repudiates the Senatorial arguments. However, the court also pays tribute to the programs of WLS as being of "high character and general interest." The station is owned jointly by the Prairie Farmer Publishing Company and Sears, Roebuck & Co., and is devoted largely to agricultural interest. It was on behalf of this station that the Senators testified.

MIRRORS SOUGHT AT WEST POINT

Academy Head Wants Riding Cadets to See Selves as Others See Them

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) West Point cadets would be provided with mirrors to show them how they look on horseback under a request to the House War Department appropriations subcommittee.

Maj.-Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent of the academy, asked for funds to install mirrors in the riding hall to enable the cadet "to see what he looks like on his horse, and get an idea of what he is doing."

SENATOR URGES ISLAND COUNCIL

Philippines Status Confab Sought in Resolution

Bingham Sets Hearings on Filipino Independence

Congress Will be Asked to Fix Territory's Future

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—A resolution to request President Hoover to call a conference at Manila in September, next, to discuss the future status of the Philippine Islands and to make recommendations to Congress was introduced today by Chairman Bingham of the Senate Territories Committee.

The resolution, which was introduced after Bingham had announced that hearings by his committee on questions of independence for the islands would be started on the 15th inst., said it was "important for the economic and political future" of the Philippines that the question of its future position in world affairs be "decided wisely and definitely as soon as possible. It added that the status of the islands never had been "explicitly determined" by Congress.

The United States would be represented at the conference by three Senators, three Representatives and two citizens named by the President and the Philippines by three members of its Senate, three members of its House and two citizens appointed by the President.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—A War Department budget item providing for the training of 3000 Filipino cadets in military camps of the United States was rejected in a report to Congress submitted by the House Appropriations Committee with a bill for War Department supplies.

CAPITAL'S WET REPUTE DENIED

Grand Jury Declares City Not Vice-Ridden

Tale of Wall-street Booze Party Investigated

Violation of Liquor Laws Held Not Flagrant

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Concluding an extraordinary session of three months which included a special investigation of the liquor situation in Washington, a Federal grand jury reported today that "the nation's capital is not the vice-ridden, lawless community that it has been pictured."

The grand jury had before it, among other cases, that of the celebrated "Wall-street booze party," and Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, who denounced this party as having been a wet affair, was among the witnesses heard. In addition it conducted the investigation into charges that liquor can be purchased all over the city.

"While there are numerous violations of the prohibition law in the District of Columbia, conditions certainly are no worse and probably are better than those existing in other sections of the United States," the report said.

"We feel, however, that a large number of the cases of crime presented before this body are directly or indirectly attributable to violations of the national prohibition act, due, no doubt, to the lack of complete co-operation on the part of the public in general in the enforcement of the prohibition laws."

Catholics Urged to Form Unions

OTTAWA, Jan. 6. (AP)—Formation of Catholic labor syndicates and a diocesan union of farmers is recommended by Archbishop J. C. Forbes of Ottawa, in a pastoral letter.

The alarming progress of socialistic doctrines and uneasiness in agricultural communities are reasons advanced by the archbishop for the necessity of such steps. Rev. Rodrigue Claude, pastor of St. Bonaventure Parish, has been appointed chaplain of the movement and director of social works in the diocese.

BANDIT SUSPECT KILLED

BROWNWOOD (Tex.) Jan. 6. (AP) A man who was killed in a gun fight with officers near Santa Anna later was identified by W. F. Roberts, Jr., cashier of the Lohn State Bank, as one of two men who held up the bank and escaped with more than $1500 today. The dead man's name is believed to be Wright.

CARRIER ISSUE TO BE WATCHED

Washington Set to Discuss Naval Plane Ships

New Value Set on Vessels Since 1922 Treaty

Japan Known to be Seeking Considerable Cut

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—The American delegation will enter the imminent conference on naval limitation in London prepared to discuss further restriction of aircraft-carrier building, should that important matter be brought to the fore.

Final consideration of the fundamental issues at the meeting the world is awaiting has raised the aircraft-carrier question.

With completion by the American delegation of detailed preparations for participation by the United States, the attention of official circles here turned to the basic objects of the parley, bringing forward not only the limitation of fighting sea forces but also the halting of competitive building of all categories of ships.

CARRIERS LIMITED

Among the classifications which offer possibilities of limitation is the aircraft carrier, which transports with the fleets the combatant and observation planes. That type of vessel was limited under the Washington treaty of 1921. There have been no indications during the preliminary discussions among the powers, that the United States has changed its policy regarding the impracticability of limiting naval aircraft. There have been indications, however, that the seven years since the signing of the Washington agreement have brought a change in the theory of American naval experts on the uses of the aircraft carrier.

In urging upon Congress the construction of additional carriers to fill the American quota, naval experts have stressed the value of smaller carriers—roughly one-half the size of the vessels permitted by the arms treaty.

It has appeared that the theory of the American Navy now is that the aircraft carrier is in itself a defensive arm of the fleet, deriving its own defense from antiaircraft guns and much smaller weapons than were placed upon America's two largest carriers, the Lexington and the Saratoga.

JAPAN'S CONTENTIONS

The writers of the Washington treaty themselves anticipated changes in theories surrounding the use of capital ships and airplane carriers, and provided in the treaty for consultations among the interested powers over such questions as the airplane carrier provide.

Japan is expected to be a supporter of a proposal to reduce the limits of the aircraft carrier. Former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, chief Japanese delegate to the parley, said in an interview shortly after leaving Washington—where he had conferred with American officials preparatory to the conference—that it was the view of the Tokio government that the limits of aircraft carriers should be reduced below the figures set at the Washington conference.

While there has been no public detailed expression of the attitude at the conference as a result of any changes in technical theories with regard to aircraft carriers, Secretary Stimson will have with him at the conference Rear-Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Navy, who will act as adviser on aeronautical subjects.

MINISTER SCHOENFELD RESIGNS AS DIPLOMAT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Arthur Schoenfeld, recently appointed Minister to Costa Rica has resigned from the diplomatic service. The resignation was announced today by Undersecretary Cotton, who said the department regrets losing Schoenfeld, but hopes he later will return to the service. Schoenfeld, who is in New York, plans to enter business.

BAY CITY SUBWAY PROPOSED

Mayor Rolph Also Suggests Elevated System as Cure for Traffic Congestion

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—In his inaugural address to the new Board of Supervisors, which took office today, Mayor Rolph proposed building a subway downtown and an elevated system in the Bernal cut to expedite through traffic. The subway under Market street to take street cars off the surface has been broached before but the elevated structure for Peninsula-bound traffic came as a new item.

Among other major items these seventeen-mile extension of the highway along the ocean shore from Fleishhacker pool south, as well as a host of other matters.

Among other major items the Mayor proposed are:

Consolidation of San Francisco and San Mateo counties; construction of a new tunnel on Broadway to give cross-town access to the north beach section; purchase of Mills Field for a municipal airport;

Consolidation with San Mateo county, the Mayor said, is vital, but should not be gone about haphazardly. He suggested the naming of a committee at once to confer with Supervisors of the adjoining county.

CABINET CHIEF MEXICAN TOPIC

Speculation Rife on Line-up Under Ortiz Rubio

No Official Word Expected Prior to His Return

Calles, Saenz and Amaro Listed as Prospects

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 6. (AP)—With inauguration of the Ortiz Rubio administration only a month away, speculation is rife here as to the composition of the new Cabinet.

No official announcement is expected until the President-elect returns from the United States, which is looked for the latter part of this month, but in almost all the prospective cabinets discussed in political and private circles the name of Aaron Saenz, Governor of Nuevo Leon, figures, and it is generally believed that Secretary of War Amaro either will continue to hold that post or become chief of the newly created general staff of the army, with actual command of the country's armed forces.

CALLES MENTIONED

Excelsior claims to have learned in usually reliable sources that Gen. Calles will occupy the post of Secretary of the Interior, but Calles has refused to make a statement with regard to his plans.

The Cabinet set forth by Excelsior would include Gen. Lazaro Cardenas, one of the leaders of the campaign last spring against the Escobar rebels, as Secretary of War in case Gen. Amaro does not retain that post, and lists Gen. Saturino Cedillo, Governor of San Luis Potosi, as the choice for Secretary of Agriculture. Gen. Cedillo is an outstanding agrarian leader.

OTHER PROSPECTS

Excelsior sees Gen. Manuel Perez Trevino, president of the National Revolutionary party, as a possible choice for the portfolio of Industry, Commerce and Labor; Luis Leon, provisional Governor of Chihuahua, for Communications and Public Works; Saenz for Foreign Relations; Prof. Basilio Vadillo for Education; Ezequiel Padilla, now Secretary of Education, for Attorney-General; Previsional President Portes Gil for the Treasury, with Alberto Pani, former secretary, as secondary choice; Gen. Abelardo Rodriguez, former Governor of the Northern District of Lower California, for chief of the Federal district government, and Dr. Puig Casauranc, present head of the Federal district government, for Comptroller-General.

PRESIDENT-ELECT GREETED IN KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 6. (AP)—Senor Pascual Ortiz Rubio, President-elect of Mexico, his family and other members of a party on tour of the United States, arrived here today from Chicago for a twenty-four-hour visit.

Approximately 300 persons, mostly Senor Ortiz Rubio's countrymen, greeted the party. The delegation was led by Allesandro P. Carrillo, Mexican Consul-General from New Orleans, and Alfred Vasquez, Mexican Consul here.

A luncheon for the President-elect was given at a hotel.

The party will leave at 10 a.m. tomorrow for San Diego, Cal., by way of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

OFFICIALS PLAN TO MEET TRAVELER

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 6. (AP)—President-elect Pascual Ortiz Rubio will be met by several congressional leaders as he nears his homeland, after his tour of the United States.

Gonzalo Santos, president of the permanent congressional commission, and Melchor Ortega, President of Congress for the extraordinary session on February 5, next, when the new President will be sworn in, and several other Congressmen left today for San Antonio, Tex., where they will join Senor Ortiz Rubio.

Another group of politicians plans to go to San Diego, for it is understood the President-elect is going to California before returning here.

Phonograph Record from Venizelos Tells Greeks to Remember Home

ATHENS, Jan. 6. (AP)—Premier Venizelos has given a phonographic message to American Greeks.

He urges concord. "Don't transfer your differences to the new world but work in the consciousness that you come from a Greece which was not demoralized by disaster but is a morally united Hellenic republic advancing firmly toward prosperity. I beg you never to forget your motherland."

Senators Argue Universal Draft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—The American Legion proposal for the creation of a joint commission to study the "universal draft," was blocked in the Senate today by Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, who argued that a constitutional amendment is required.

"I am for universal draft," said Senator Dill, "but all this talk about legislating it is impossible. We must have a constitutional amendment."

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, author of the resolution, contended the government has the power to fix prices and interests and to confiscate property in time of war and urged the appointment of the commission to study ways of bringing it about.

ROAD CONTRACT LET

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 6. (AP)—The State Department of Public Works awarded today a $240,109.80 contract to the California Construction Company of San Francisco for the grading and paving with asphalt concrete of 8.6 miles of the Golden State Highway between Pixley and Tipton, Tulare county.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

After his inhospitable reception by the great apes, Korak roamed the jungle unhappily for days, unsatisfied vengeance smoldering in his breast. A week he remained in the vicinity of the apes' amphitheater hoping to meet the king ape. But finally the constant search for food led him several miles away. With Akut he was moving slowly down wind. Suddenly they halted. Not a muscle quivered as they stood immovable, listening.

Korak advanced cautiously a few yards and leaped nimbly into a tree. Akut followed close. Neither had made a noise that human ears could hear a dozen yards off. Stopping often to listen they crept forward through the trees. Both seemed greatly puzzled. Finally Korak caught a glimpse of a palisade and beyond it some goatskin tents and thatched huts. His lips curled in a savage snarl. Blacks! He signed to Akut to wait his return.

Woe betide the unfortunate villager whom Korak the Killer came upon in his present mood! Leaping lightly from one jungle tree to another, he came silently above the village. His ears told him some human being was near and he held his spear ready. Now he saw the owner of the voice that rose to him from below. It was a little girl, a little nut-brown maiden singing a lullaby to a ragged doll. The snarl faded from his lips and he smiled to himself.

Now arose a great noise on the opposite side of the village. Men, women and children ran toward the gate through which trooped a motley crowd of black slaves, Arab camel drivers, donkeys, goats, sheep and horses. A tall, sour, old man led the caravan. Korak saw him question an old hag; she pointed to the place where the girl played. "Her father," thought Korak. "His first thought is of his little daughter. How glad she will be to see him!"

GIANT WAR-AID BILL UP TODAY

House Will Not Tarry for Hoover Survey

Supply Measure Involves Almost Half Billion

California to Get More Than $3,000,000 Help

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—The House will begin consideration tomorrow of the $454,231,000 supply bill of the War Department for 1931, without waiting for information on the economic survey of that branch instituted by President Hoover last June.

Although the measure, as reported by the House Appropriations Committee, calls for an increased outlay of $442,000 over the current year, it carries a provision which would restrict the use of funds appropriated should economies be enforced as a result of the survey.

Staying within the budget estimates by $2,767,000, the bill designates $337,940,000 for military activities and $117,173,000 for nonmilitary purposes. The former represents an increase of $6,819,000 and the latter a decrease of $5,577,000, as compared with 1930.

HOW SAVINGS EFFECTED

The committee explained in its report that the saving from the budget estimates was effected by reducing the amount for army housing by $2,000,000, while the decrease for nonmilitary activities was brought about by cutting off appropriations for the inland waterway corporation, which had an unexpended balance of $8,000,000 from last year.

Permanent appropriations sought by the bill total $9,627,000, of which $8,251,000 would be for nonmilitary purposes and $1,376,000 for military activities.

In the nonmilitary portion of the War Department bill, the sum of $55,000,000 was provided for rivers and harbors works, an increase of $5,000,000 over the current year, and $35,000,000 was set aside for Mississippi flood-control work, also an increase of $5,000,000.

OTHER APPROPRIATIONS

Other large appropriations coming under the head of nonmilitary activities of the Engineer Corps include $1,000,000 for Sacramento River flood control, $360,000 for Muscle Shoals Dam No. 2; $400,000 for emergency flood control funds, and $800,000 for roads and bridges in Alaska.

The sum of $133,557,000 was set aside for the pay of the Army, which will care for 12,000 officers and an enlisted personnel of 118,750 men and 6500 Philippine scouts.

For civilian military activities the bill set aside $23,058,000 for the militia bureau, which included $27,014,000 for the National Guard, $6,543,000 for the organized reserves, and $6,822,000 for citizens' military training camps.

In its report the committee said that more than 20 per cent of the items in the bill for military purposes were chargeable to the aviation corps, which shows a shortage in personnel under the five-year expansion program.

OTHER LARGE SUMS

Although the bill set aside $36,776,000, an increase of $1,396,000 over the present year, as chargeable directly to the air corps, the committee said the actual total for that service was $72,833,000.

Other large sums for military purposes included $91,080,000 for the quartermaster corps; $11,669,000 for the ordnance department; $1,347,000 for the chemical warfare service; $2,687,000 for sea coast defense and $2,470,000 for the West Point Military Academy.

In the nonmilitary procurements, the measure set aside $11,385,000 for the national homes for disabled volunteer soldiers, an increase of $1,168,000 over the present year; $11,853,000 for the Panama Canal, an increase of $1,842,000; $1,139,000 for national cemeteries; $368,000 for national military parks and $390,000 for Washington-Alaska cable maintenance.

CALIFORNIA TO RECEIVE LARGE FEDERAL AID

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—Under the War Department appropriation bill reported to the House today California will receive more than $1,000,000 for rivers and harbors improvement and maintenance, $1,274,800 for the soldiers' home at West Los Angeles (Sawtelle) an item $1,000,000 for the flood-control work on the Sacramento River and $18,000 for the California debris commission, as well as the State's share of money for military activities to be allocated by the War Department.

Figures furnished the Appropriations Committee by the War Department showed that Los Angeles Harbor led all other harbors in the State in tonnage handled in 1929. The total tonnage for Los Angeles Harbor in that year was 25,696,430 compared to 13,651,947 for San Francisco and 793,580 for San Diego.

Most of the California harbors, including Los Angeles, are on a purely maintenance basis under the War Department bill. Los Angeles Harbor will receive $100,000, San Diego, $25,000; San Francisco, $55,000; Oakland, $100,000.

According to the testimony taken by the Appropriations Committee the citizens' military training camps at the Presidio of Monterey and at Del Monte will be combined in 1930, to allow a similar camp to be established in the Philippines.

WAR GAS BOGEY EXPLODED

Army Chemical Service Chief Scouts Possibility of Decimating City Population

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—The War Department sees no future limit upon the use of poison gases. Maj.-Gen. Harry L. Gilchrist, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, characterized the gas situation as "one of the most important things facing us at the present time" in the testimony before the House War Department Appropriations Subcommittee.

"There is no limitation of any kind to what gases may do in the future," he said.

CAN'T BE DONE

"So far as wiping out populations is concerned," he told the committee, referring to present gases, "I know of no gas, sufficient concentrations of which could be placed to accomplish the destruction of the population of a city should any military commander be so foolish as to desire such a thing.

"Gas would create confusion, it would disrupt business and social activities and on an unprepared and untrained populace would doubtless cause casualties."

If a commander wanted to destroy buildings, public works and factories and kill as many people as possible, he said, "he would use high explosives—not gas. Gas would be the more humane of the two," Gilchrist added. "And I believe it would be the more efficient of the two in bringing the inhabitants to terms on account of the confusion" it would create.

NATION SHOULD PREPARE

"I have never heard," he asserted, "that any attack on unprotected civilians would be contemplated or countenanced. I am sure that we, as a civilized people, would not tolerate such attack. It is something, however," he declared, "that we should be prepared against, and in case of war our people should be warned and instructed in the way they should act in a gas attack."

Eddying air currents of a great city, caused by side streets and buildings of unequal heights, would dissipate the concentration of gases," he asserted.

"In a city people would be reasonably safe in going inside of buildings, stopping up doors and windows and shutting off ventilators and putting out fires," he said.

CONGRESS GETS BACK TO WORK

Consideration of Tariff Bill Resumed by Senate

Prohibition Row Submerged, for Present at Least

Measure for Army Outlay Goes Before House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Tariff and a mass of other business confronted Congress as it resumed its long session today and the holiday prohibition quarrel was submerged, for the present at least.

Within a few minutes after meeting, the Senate was back at work on the tariff bill where it left off at Christmas time. A clear road was ordered for that controversy until it is settled, probably early next month.

The House received the War Department appropriation bill, carrying $435,231,000 for next year's expenses of the branch—an increase of more than $400,000 over the present fiscal year's cost of the army. Hope is held out for future reductions when the military economy commission reports.

PLENTY OF WORK

The day bore signals of plenty of work ahead in both branches. Senate committee chairmen planned early beginnings on proposals for a stock market inquiry, for Philippine independence, and on the disputes over the seats of Senators Grundy of Pennsylvania and Sullivan of Wyoming.

President Hoover added to the list of futures in the House with the submission of recommendations for $61,000,000 in supplemental appropriations covering a wide range of activities.

The Senate delayed its tariff debate long enough to pass the Dale bill, liberalizing the Civil Service Retirement Act, and a resolution authorizing a study of the pay of the enlisted personnel of the military service. Both propositions were sent to the House. President Coolidge once vetoed the Dale bill.

The day also brought the first opportunity for Senator Grundy to vote on the tariff bill, for which he worked so zealously before his appointment to the Senate last month—and he passed it up. The vote was on wool yarns and the Pennsylvanian explained that he would not vote because he is financially interested as a manufacturer. The increased tariff won.

WOOL AMENDMENTS

The Senate in a little more than three hours, adopted thirty-one amendments to the wool schedule of the tariff bill, providing increases all along the line on manufactured wool, including yarns, fabrics, blankets, clothing and rugs.

The action, marked by another split in Democratic and western Republican ranks, all but completed work on the wool schedule and paved the way for early grappling with the most controverted rates in the bill—sugar. These might be reached tomorrow, when the tariff will have been before three sessions of Congress almost continuously for exactly one year.

Traffic Tie-up Ends Soon on Chinese Road

TOKIO, Jan. 6. (AP)—International traffic over the Chinese Eastern Railway, halted since late November when Russian troops made a punitive raid into Manchuria, will be restored the 20th inst., said a dispatch today from Harbin to the Rengo news agency.

Trains will travel over this shortcut railway from Chita, Siberia, on the trans-Siberian Railroad, across Manchuria to Vladivostok, Russian port on the Japan Sea. Service between Harbin, Manchuria, and Vladivostok is planned to begin the 10th inst., but repairs necessary between Yakusu and Khailar are delaying resumption of travel in the western section of Manchuria.

TIN MINES CLOSE SUNDAYS

SINGAPORE (Straits Settlements) Jan. 6. (AP)—Nineteen tin-mining properties in Malaya, involving about thirty dredges, ceased work yesterday in conformity with a recommendation of the Tin Producers' Association for Sunday stoppage throughout 1930.

He's building his bones and teeth now

—and he needs special help

"THE time to help your baby build good bones and teeth is during the first months and years of life," physicians are telling mothers.

"He must have special protection—even though he is breast-fed he needs it. Otherwise he may not have the finely-shaped head you want him to have, the full chest, straight legs, and sound, uncrowded teeth that will not decay easily."

Nature provides this protection—Vitamin D—in two ways. In sunshine and good cod-liver oil!

Direct sunshine would keep your baby safe, if he could get enough of it on his bare body. But this is not possible on account of clothing, clouds, fog and smoke. Even ordinary window glass filters out the rays that protect.

The use of Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—then, is urged as the sure protection.

The country's leading specialists advise the use of Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil. They prefer it because they know they can depend on its high vitamin content.

Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is very rich in Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" which helps to build good bones and teeth, and also in Vitamin A which promotes normal growth and increases resistance to infections.

When you choose Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil, you are using a vitamin-tested, vitamin-protected oil. Be sure to insist on Squibb's. At all reliable drug stores. Plain and Mint-flavored.

"You have a fine lot of Officers and Employees"

This expression made to me recently by a depositor was very gratifying.

I knew we had a strong bank—probably exceeded by no other bank on the west coast in the matter of percentage of Capital and Surplus reserve against deposit liability.

I knew we had an unusually clean bank—with a turn-over of ninety million dollars in loans with losses on loans of less than eighteen hundred dollars since the bank began.

I knew our loan committee was aggressive—always trying to be of genuine assistance in the betterment of the financial condition of the individual or business firm.

Yet it pleases me most to have our patrons feel that we have officers and employees who are sincerely friendly, always trying to do a little more than is expected to make the services of the Seaboard National pleasant as well as helpful—and to this spirit on the part of our officers and employees we attribute a large portion of our substantial and rapid growth.

BANK DEPOSITS REGISTER GAIN

Local Clearinghouse Group Total $1,364,064,095

Increase of $50,242,530 in Three Months Shown

Combined City Figures Shade Off in Year

Combined deposits of thirteen national and State banks in the city of Los Angeles reporting to the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association as of December 31, increased more than $50,000,000 or nearly 4 per cent since October 4, the date of the last call for condition, according to a statement issued yesterday by the clearinghouse.

The banks, all members of the clearinghouse, which reported for both periods, had deposits aggregating $1,364,064,295.94 at the close of the year against a total of $1,313,821,765.49 as of October 4, last.

Deposits of the eight national banks amounted to $891,944,612.56, an increase of $36,295,549.56 or more than 4 per cent. Deposits of the Bank of Italy are those in the Los Angeles city limits only. Deposits of the five State institutions reporting to the clearinghouse totaled $972,119,483.34, a gain of $13,987,-189.77, or 3 per cent.

YEAR TOTAL LOWERS

Deposits of all the State and national banks in the corporate limits of Los Angeles, including those not members of the clearinghouse and excluding the Bank of America, which is State-wide in scope, reached an aggregate of $1,042,216,-362. This compares with the deposits of all banks in Los Angeles at the close of 1928 (excluding Bank of America) totalling $1,078,529,005, and represents a decrease of $36,-212,683, or about 3.3 per cent.

Comparative figures for the Bank of America in Los Angeles only were not available at a late hour yesterday. The bank was formed through the consolidation of the Merchants' National in Los Angeles with the United Security in San Francisco, near the close of 1928. Deposits of the old Merchants' National when last published on October 3, 1928, stood at more than $137,000,000. The Bank of America deposits on December 31, last, totaled $337,634,372.77.

NATIONALS UP SHARPLY

Showing a striking development of the national banks in this city principally through mergers and acquisitions, the combined deposits of all the national institutions in the city limits of Los Angeles aggregated $804,923,036.09 (eleven banks) as against deposits of $661,-330,670 (twelve banks) at the close of 1928. This is an increase of $143,592,365, or 35 per cent. Merger of the Security Trust and Savings, a State institution, with the Los Angeles-First National to form the Security-First National Bank, was largely responsible for the increase. Merchants' National, which turned State when it went into the Bank of America, is not included in the 1928 figure of the nationals.

Some of the banks that show increases for the full year include United States National, Bank of Italy, National Bank of Commerce, Seaboard National, Western National, First National Bank of Venice, Union Bank and Trust Company, German-American Savings, Yokohama Specie, Citizens' Bank of San Pedro, Bank of San Pedro, Bank of Hollywood, Hollywood State and Broadway State.

Deposits of all the State and national banks in Los Angeles on December 31, were as follows:

Security-First National	$ 541,468,294
Farmers' & Merchants'	97,543,135
Citizens' National	100,498,000
United States National	16,038,126
Bank of Italy (city only)	183,418,237
National Bank of Commerce	4,792,462
Seaboard National	1,270,160
Western National	1,933,000
Pacific National	1,160,614

New Financial Expansion on Calitalo Card

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. (AP)—Calitalo financial ramifications were given official promise of further broadening today when M. Maffei, president of Calitalo Investment Corporation, announced a new $50,-000,000 company would be formed. The new company, to be called Associated Calitalo Holdings, Ltd., may absorb the investment corporation, Maffei said.

Rights will be issued Calitalo Investment stockholders and subsidiaries to purchase the new concern's stock through Frederic Vincent & Co., fiscal agents, at $3.50 a share. Vincent said an exchange of stock will be offered Calitalo holders on a share-for-share basis. He said this would give holders who recently bought the Calitalo stock for $1 to $1.50 a share a chance to net a profit of 100 per cent or more. No explanation was offered as to why Calitalo stock now selling at $1.50 will be exchanged for the new stock to be sold at $3.50.

Stockholders of six banks controlled by Calitalo will be offered twenty shares of Associated Calitalo Holdings, Ltd., for one share of bank stock, placing a nominal market value of $70 on the bank stock. Calitalo Investment shares and bank stock will be withdrawn from the market after completion of the exchange for Calitalo holdings, subject to ratification at the February 15, next, meeting of Calitalo stockholders.

New Financing of Consolidated Steel on Mart

Offering of Consolidated Steel Corporation, Ltd., 6 per cent convertible gold notes, series A, will be made today by a syndicate headed by the Pacific Company and including Security-First National Company, Tucker, Hunter, Dulin & Co., William R. Staats Company, E. H. Rollins & Sons, California Securities Company, Jones, Hubbard & Donnell, Inc., and the Los Angeles Investment Securities Corporation.

The notes have previously been offered to the company's stockholders and a public offering is now being made of the unsubscribed balance. They are due December 1, 1944, and are priced at 100 and interest to yield 6 per cent.

Net earnings of the steel company during the first ten months of 1929 were at a rate of more than ten times maximum interest requirements and more than six times requirements for interest and sinking fund, it was stated. Assets after all liabilities except this issue are more than 5.34 times the issue, while current assets as against current liabilities are in a ratio of 3.79 to 1. Representing the merger of three of the leading iron and steel companies in Southern California, the corporation is the largest iron and steel fabricating and manufacturing organization west of the Mississippi River.

Richfield Adds Oil Unit in Eas

Acquisition of Super Service Stations, Inc., with headquarters at Lockport, N. Y., was announced yesterday by the Richfield Oil Corporation of New York, subsidiary of the Richfield Oil Company of California, according ot C. M. Fuller, president of the latter.

Super Service operates three bulk plants and twenty-five service stations and has 150 dealer accounts with an annual sales volume in excess of 6,000,000 gallons. The management will continue in the hands of Floyd A. Root and Fred M. Renfrew, from whom the business was acquired.

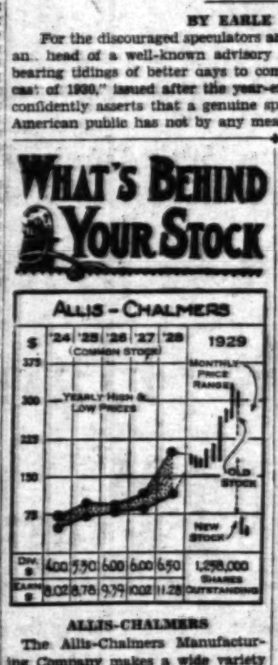
SPRING RISE IS PREDICTED

Moody Looks for Genuine Move in Early Months of Year; Bull Market to Start Again

BY EARLE E. CROWE

For the discouraged speculators and stock brokers John Moody, analyst an[illegible] head of a well-known advisory service, steps forward as a prophet bearing tidings of better days to come. His "Annual Review and Forecast of 1930," issued after the year-end flood of prophecies has subsided, confidently asserts that a genuine spring rise is scheduled, and that the American public has not by any means lost its appetite for stocks.



"Though the next month or two may not witness any large or growing buying movement," Mr. Moody states, "yet on the first signs of clearing in the business sky, there will be a revival of stock buying by the masses, which before another year is out may well take on characteristics similar to those of a year or two ago. Thus the year 1930 might end in the stock market as dramatically as 1929 opened—but on a far more stable foundation."

INVESTORS CHEERED

If Mr. Moody is right, his prediction will corroborate the judgment of scores of small investors who stepped into the market after the October-November crash and picked up small blocks of stocks. Many of these purchases have since looked badly in comparison with current prices, and the slow volume of trading has not been calculated to instill confidence into these new stockholders.

Mr. Moody goes further than advising discouraged holders to wait for renewed public interest in stocks and rising prices. He warns: "Let no one with sense 'sell the market short' this spring."

"Though the stock market may prove a negative affair for a few weeks or months—and conceivably may dip temporarily lower than in December, before the trend definitely improves—yet a real 'spring rise' is likely to set in," he predicts, "which may be a forerunner of immense activity at rising prices later on."

This authority's forecast of a spring rise is predicated on the belief that by early spring there should be definite signs of a turn in the trend of all basic lines of importance. The last half of the year, in his opinion, should be marked by rapid recovery in every direction."

BONDS INDORSED

To the bond buyers Mr. Moody tersely says: "Good bonds are a 'buy'." He points out that the demand for senior securities in this country is enormous and grows steadily with the general accumulation of wealth. The prevailing large yields in good bonds and preferred stocks are expected to attract large amounts of corporate and private funds which last year were employed in call money loans.

"By the past December," Mr. Moody concludes, "people will be thinking of the then existing price level simply as another stage in the vast rolling force of economic development that began after the deflation of 1920-21. This is the outlook which is the most logical one for the coming twelve months. Accident can or may upset it, but we do not think any troubles of that sort are worth considering at this time."

CALIFORNIA STANDARD SUBSIDIARY FORMED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—The Bahrein Petroleum Company, Ltd., has been formed with K. R. Kingsbury, president of Standard Oil Company of California, as president. It will develop and exploit petroleum lands in the Bahrein Islands off the Persian Gulf. Total capitalization will be 9000 shares common at $100 par. The State Corporation Department has authorized the issuance of 486 shares to Standard Oil of California at par and fourteen shares to fourteen persons in cancellation of indebtedness.

NEW KLEIBER TRUCK TO BE WOOD BURNER

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—Kleiber Motor Company announced today that a new type motor vehicle is now under construction, being turned out in a three-ton six-cylinder truck. This type of vehicle uses wood for fuel, the wood generating gas which is carried through a condenser and into combustion chambers of the motor. This type of motor has proven successful in Europe and it is believed that this is the first construction of this kind in the United States. Delivery date of the new truck has not been set.

ASSETS OF BUILDING AND LOAN UNIT UP

W. O. Welch, chairman of the United States Building and Loan Association, yesterday announced that assets crossed the $2,000,000 mark for the first time at the close of 1929. The year was the best in the history of the association, he said, exceeding any previous period in amount of growth. Directors have authorized the payment of the regular 6 per cent semiannual dividend, making a total of 12 per cent for the year.

STRAUS TO DISBURSE JANUARY INTEREST

S. W. Straus & Co. yesterday announced that January payment in interest and principal due the holders of 111 outstanding issues of Straus bonds will amount to $3,211,-806. The number of bond issues at present outstanding was reported at 568 with a total of 331 issues having been paid at maturity or called at a premium during the last twenty years.

THEATER CHAIN EXTENDED

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (Exclusive) Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation announced the acquisition of a new group of theaters to its chain. They are: The Palace, the Jefferson and the Emboyd theaters in Fort Wayne, Ind.

ALLIS-CHALMERS

The Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company makes a wide variety of heavy machinery and electrical equipment, including engines, pumps, turbines, flour-mill and sawmill machinery, mining and cement machinery, motors, generators and transformers. In the past two years several new types of tractors for farm use have been developed, and the company's expansion has largely been concentrated on this division.

Net income for the nine months ended September 30, 1929, amounted to $2,379,000, as compared with $2,224,000 for the same period in 1928. Giving allowance for the four-for-one stock split and subscription for new stock, the above earnings were equivalent to $2.95 per share on the common, as compared with $2.74 per share in the 1928 period. The June 30, 1929, balance sheet showed the company's strong balance sheet, with current assets of $22,500,000 of which $4,310,-000 was in cash and marketable securities and $12,131,000 was receivable, as compared with current liabilities of $25,068,000. The book value of the common stock at this time was $120 per share, excluding patents, etc.

Title Insurance to Split Stock

Los Angeles Curb Exchange members were notified yesterday that the Title Insurance and Trust Company has declared a 100 per cent stock dividend to be paid to holders of record December 31, last, and has announced the reduction of the par value of the stock from $100 to $25, splitting it four for one. As a result the company's stockholders of record December 31, last, will receive eight new shares for each one of the old shares.

The notice further stated that the new certificates will be issued at some time after the 20th inst. At the close of 1929 the company had 30,000 shares outstanding, with an annual dividend rate of $25 per share.

HERSHEY CHOCOLATE IN DIVIDEND ACTION

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (Exclusive) Hershey Chocolate Corporation today declared an initial quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on its common stock and an extra of $1 a share on its convertible preference shares, both payable February 15, next, to stock of record the 25th inst.

COTTON MART CLOSES

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—The New Orleans Cotton Exchange will be closed on Wednesday, the 8th inst., in observance of the Battle of New Orleans.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—Cotton was quiet and generally steady today, with some early liquidation and southern selling absorbed by trade buying or covering. Rallies were fully maintained, but the mid-afternoon market held around 17.12 for March, with the active months net unchanged to 1 point higher.

BARNESON ADDS NEW PARTNERS

J. Leslie Barneson and M. E. Pinckard Admitted to Brokerage House

Entrance of J. Leslie Barneson and M. E. Pinckard as general partners into the New York Stock Exchange house of H. J. Barneson & Co. was announced yesterday by Harold J. Barneson, senior partner. Headquarters of the organization are in Los Angeles, and offices are operated in various Pacific Coast cities.

Messrs. Pinckard and J. Leslie Barneson will have charge of the San Francisco and other northern offices, according to the announcement. They will relieve C. R. Stevens and H. De La Chapelle as general partners.

J. Leslie Barneson is a son of Capt. John Barneson, pioneer California oil man and founder of the General Petroleum Corporation, and is a brother of Harold J. Barneson. He was connected for a number of years with the General Petroleum Corporation as treasurer. Mr. Pinckard was formerly managing partner on the Pacific Coast for E. A. Pierce & Co., which entered the Coast territory in 1922 by the acquisition of Pinckard, Shaughnessy & Anderson, of which Mr. Pinckard was senior partner. He became a special partner in the Pierce company in January, 1923, and resigned December 31, last, to enter into his new affiliation.

J. D. Kennedy is resident partner of the Barneson company in Los Angeles. Offices are maintained in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Hollywood, Portland, Seattle and New York City.

Tone Steady on London Market

LONDON, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—The stock market had a firm tone today with prices higher and trading on a more active scale. Issues of trans-Atlantic interest were in good demand. Talking machines issues, especially Columbia Graphophones were strong. Tobaccos, artificial silks and textiles had a steady tone. Matches, chemicals and margarines shares were higher.

The oil group had a cheerful tone with Royal Dutch a firm feature. South African mines were in good demand with Rhodesian issues firm. Rubbers had a steady tone. Ford Motors, Ltd., was quoted around £1 7-16. Brazilian tractions around 39 3-4 and International Nickel around 32 7-8.

The gilt-edged division had a firm tone. Foreign issues generally were steady. Home rails were firm, while Argentine rails were irregular.

Fox Receiver Rumor Denied

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (Exclusive) S. M. Lazarus, representing the committee of Fox Film Class A stockholders, in a statement issued today declared that in connection with the rumor of plans for the appointment of a receiver, the committee does not know any basis for such report and that if such rumor has to do with any voluntary application by Fox interests it also is without foundation.

"The present situation," said Mr. Lazarus, "would render such a move extremely unlikely and unnecessary."

CANADA BANK SURVEY MADE

Eighty-four Branches Added in 1929; Capital and Surplus of 4223 Total $298,000,000

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.]

OTTAWA (Can.) Jan. 6.—Canada's eleven banks opened eighty-four new branches during 1929, bringing the total number of branches of these chartered banks of Canada to 4223.

During the last year, one of Britain's "Big Four" (Barclay's Bank) started operations in Canada with a paid up capital of $500,-000, and a surplus of the same amount. So this nation of 10,000,-000 people entered the new year with its eleven banks having a paid up capital of $142,000,000—an increase of $19,000,000 during the year; and a surplus of $156,000,000—an increase of $22,000,000 over 1928.

The total assets of Canada's chartered banks increased from $2,422,-000,000 to $2,710,000,000. Loans and discounts are the largest items of increase during the twelve-month period, having moved up from $1,227,000,000 to $1,473,000,000.

The volume of deposits is always the interesting factor in a bank. Canada's total demand deposits increased $69,000,000 during the year to a total of $785,000,000. But the savings deposits decreased $41,000,-000 to a total of $1,470,000,000. So time deposits, upon which savings are paid are almost twice as large as demand deposits.

The measure of Canada's economic activity is largely seen in the volume of its clearings. Beaudry Leman of Montreal, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, estimates a total of about $45,000,-000,000 for the year, an increase of approximately 10 per cent over the figures of 1928.

Of the eleven banks, only one, the Royal, has reached the billion-dollar class, though the Bank of Montreal is not far behind.

It is no exaggeration to say that Canada was bled white—both physically and financially—by the great war.

Canada's net debt on November 30, last, was $3,143,000,000, a decrease of approximately $65,000,000 during the year.

Canada has been a "borrowing" country largely. For fifty-six years, from confederation to March 31, 1923, the net debt of Canada was increased every year, but eight times, she has attempted to cut the debt some, every year.

Canada's total government expenditures are increasing. In 1927, they amounted to $346,000,000; 1928 to $360,000,000; 1929, to $373,000,000. But her revenues are increasing, too. In 1927 they amounted to $400,000,000; 1928, to $429,000,000; 1929, to $460,-000,000.

Of this vast expenditure by a nation of but 10,000,000, a little more than $100,000,000 a year is directly attributable to the war.

Canada's revenue largely comes from three sources: customs and excise taxes last year gave her $250,-000,000, the sales tax, $93,000,000 and the income tax, $59,000,000. The rest miscellaneous.

Minister of Finance Dunning has two maturing loans this year to meet, one on February 1, of $200,000,-000, payable in Canada, and the other of $45,000,000, payable on December 1, in New York.

In 1931, the total maturing Canadian government loans amount to $252,921,000; in 1932, to $72,225,000; in 1933, to $446,956,000, and in 1934, to $534,377,000.

Already the Finance Minister has announced that the $20,000,000 loan falling due on February 1 will be paid in cash.

New Commerce Classes to Open

Commercial courses opening tonight at university college, Seventh and Los Angeles street, under the auspices of the University of Southern California, include business law, economics, accounting systems, personnel management, property valuation and commercial aviation.

The following classes will meet for the first time in the 1930 winter quarter tomorrow evening: Income-tax law and procedure, accounting, salesmanship, store organization, real estate appraisals and foreign trade. All classes are open to both men and women.

Gain Forecast in 1930 Cotton Belt Plantings

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—With the oil in good shape and weevil believed retarded by wet and rather frigid weather on several occasions, and the economic condition of farmers not quite so good as it has been recently, everything seems to be shaping up for a full acreage of cotton next season throughout this section.

Purchases of fertilizer by farmers in the hill sections will not be made until early spring, but delta farmers who usually obtain car lots have contracted for increases and it is evident that several farmers will call for a volume equal to the past season's at least. Merchants all over the valley report business conditions off about 10 per cent, particularly in new purchasing, but state that collections of old debts have been good.

Under these conditions farmers are evidently paying off old debts and refusing to make new ones. Some plowing has been done in Arkansas but wet weather has hampered this greatly so far.

Considerable optimism is prevalent in the market here over the tightening spot situation. Long staples moved much more readily the past week at basis that holders considered satisfactory and one of the largest sales of the season is reported by the staple association at Greenwood, Miss. The Memphis market has shown no exceptional activity as January orders are well taken care of. March contracts may cause some trouble.

Stockholders of Wabash 'B' Win Decision

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—The rights of holders of non-cumulative preferred A stock of the Wabash Railway Company to earnings in nondividend years were denied today by the United States Supreme Court in deciding two cases involving the question.

The litigation before the court was begun by holders of the 5 per cent profit-sharing preferred A stock to establish a dividend credit amounting to millions of dollars in favor of the A stock and to enjoin payment of dividends on the B stock.

Counsel for the railroad in the argument of the case asserted that the lower court had erred in holding that the directors should be enjoined from the payment of dividends on the preferred B and common stock until the rate of return on the preferred A shares had been satisfied for former years. In absense of an express obligation, it was contended that the noncumulative preferred shareholders who do not become entitled to dividends for a particular fiscal year by appropriate declaration had no right to require that dividends for such year be added to the payment declared for a subsequent year.

MINING CONCERN TO DISCONTINUE EXTRA

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating Company has mailed notices to stockholders that one of the extra monthly dividends of 35 cents will be discontinued, due to the low price of metals, together with the fact that the refinery at the Bunker Hill smelter is shut down while being enlarged. The company has paid a regular monthly dividend of 25 cents and two extras of 25 cents each for more than five years.

SOUND BONDS PROVE THEIR INHERENT STABILITY

A COMPARISON of the fluctuation in stock and bond prices during 1929, emphasizes the importance of sound bonds as a stabilizing factor in every investment program. While stock prices showed a spread of 150 to 200 points during the year, the average price of 40 high grade bonds varied less than 6 points in the same period.

Although bond prices have shown a marked improvement since the stock crash of November 13, seasoned issues are still available on a most attractive yield basis. We believe investors who purchase sound bonds at today's prices are securing for themselves a maximum of dependability and income for the years to come.

Report of Heavy Sales in Early Delivery Spurs

General Price Drift Under on Light Turnover

Trading Confined Chiefly Professional Group

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—The stock market continued to drift about today in the inconsequential eddies of professional trading, few shares, notably the coppers, responded to favorable trade news, but price trends generally were narrow and indefinite. Trading, held at a low ebb, the day's turnover exceeding 2,000,000 shares by a scant margin.

A moderate rally during the morning was checked by selling pressure, but trading turned extremely dull and operators in the decline withdrew before the close. Late in the day the general list rallied in sympathy with the copper shares and closing quotations were steady to firm.

Further evidence of the January ease in money rates appeared in a sag in the call loan rate to 4½ per cent, equalling the 1929 minimum after renewals at 5. Foreign exchange rates continued to drift, making an early resumption of the outflow of gold improbable although international bankers still predicted a rise in the rates for leading European currencies as the month progresses, in keeping with the normal January tendency.

COPPERS ACTIVE

The outstanding item of today's business news was a report from copper trade circles that 50,000,000 pounds of the red metal had been taken for first quarter delivery within the past few days at the 18-cent price level. This quieted the uneasiness of recent weeks over the ability of producers to maintain the 18-cent level, and the copper shares moved forward in the most emphatic manner in some time.

Woolworth's report of December sales, showing a decline of only 2 per cent from December, 1928, was rather disappointing, but the fact that there was one less Saturday in the 1929 month and that the weather was less favorable, make the comparison less disheartening than it appears at first glance. Such favorable tidings as came to hand included the inauguration of dividends on Hershey Chocolate common at the annual rate of $5.

In the coppers, Anaconda, Calumet and Arizona, Cahuma, Copper Hecla, Grandy, Howe Sound, Kennecott, Inspiration and U. S. Smelting mounted about 2 to 4 points. Hershey Chocolate sold up more than 9 points on the dividend announcement and closed up 3¼ net.

FOX FILM RALLIES

Johns-Manville mounted several points in response to a favorable earnings estimate. Michigan Stove and Celotex mounted about 5 points. American Machine and Foundry, Mathieson Alkali, Coty, International Combustion issues, National Biscuit and Underwood Elliott sold at substantial headway. Fox Film rallied 1½ points in a large turnover, but closed up only ⅝. U. S. Steel fluctuated in a range of a couple of points and closed unchanged at 168¼.

Allied Chemical lost 6 points, Auburn Auto nearly 9, and American Tobacco, Beatrice Creamery, J. I. Case, General American Tank, Eastman Kodak, Gillette, Locomotive, Pullman and Woolworth lost about 2 to 4 points. Radio eased a little, after the wild demonstration with the automobile show opening last week. Oils and rails were dull. In the former Southern Pacific and Prince did not appear on the tape at all.

Commodities moved in narrow ranges. Wheat was a little firmer in response to a decrease in the visible supply and renewed export demand. Cotton sagged moderately. In the sagging foreign exchanges sterling cables were quoted at $4.87⅛, off 3-16.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—The trend of interest rates was downward today, but bond prices, after an encouraging start, ran into a dull market and many forenoon gains disappeared in the later hours. As a whole, however, the list was firm and the easier tone of money was reflected in a narrow advance by the United States governments.

Call funds were in plentiful supply at the renewal rate of 5 per cent and the charge fell to 4½ shortly after noon, with money available outside at 4 per cent. These accommodations commanded 4½, a shade below the recent figures.

One of the day's features was the movement of the French government bonds, with the 7½s and the 7s exceeded their 1928 highs on good buying support. But the rally did not hold and the latter obligations finished a point below the Saturday close. German bonds, both government and corporate, were moderately strong. The foreign group in general proved to be in considerable favor.

Speculative and semi-speculative domestic corporation bonds, particularly industrials and specialties, enjoyed an upward turn. A few foreign issues, which suffered in the recent profit-taking selling, were in this group, which also included Paths 7s. The gains ran from 1 to 3 points.

Railroad mortgages led the early upturn, but were lifted at the close, with the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific issues well balanced. Utilities behaved similarly.

Convertibles ruled steady most of the day and then softened. American Telephone 4½s declined ⅝, Allegheny 5s of 1949, 1½, and American Chemical 6s, series 1, Missouri Pacific 5½s gained a point.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

At What Prices Do High-Grade Listed Bonds Appear Attractive?

THIS question is naturally uppermost in the minds of most investors at this time. Accordingly, we have prepared a list of twenty high-grade marketable issues showing the price at which we believe each may be purchased for yield and probable profit, giving salient reasons for our selection. Approximate current prices and yields also stated.

List includes: rails, public utilities, industrials and foreign government bonds...all yielding higher returns than the average for these classes.

Interest in other securities, during the past year or two, has tended to lower the price of investment bonds. As a result, many are now selling materially below their normal levels.

The securities selected are in strategic position to appreciate in price with return of increased interest in investments of this kind. In addition security of principal, dependability of income and quick marketability are offered.

You are invited to call or write for this timely list of special values in this investment group.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Security Prices Move Forward Slowly on Sluggish Trading in Local Stock Market

Little change in the recent spell of dull trading marked the opening yesterday of the week's operations on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Although a brighter tone was felt generally the small volume of dealings attested to a continued hesitancy on the part of traders to commit themselves at this time. Small fractional gains were hung up at the close of the session.

International Re-Insurance marked the greatest improvement in the list with an advance of 2 points to 43 on a transfer of 300 shares. With the exception of Western Air Express, which fell off 1½ points to 22½, there were no other changes on the board exceeding a full point.

Southern California Edison common featured the activity of the session with sales of 2100 shares. The stock opened at 58 and closed at 57, unchanged from the last sale Saturday. The 6 per cent preferred stock of the same company was the third most active issue on the board with sales of 1400 shares. This issue ranged within 1-8 to close high at 24 7-8, up 1-8 net. Edison rights ranged between 3.00 and 2.90, closing at the latter price.

Transamerica, on a turnover of 1600 shares dropped back 5-8 to 43. Security-First National Bank moved up 1-4 to 110 3-4, while Pacific Finance and Pacific National Company held steady at 40 and 7½, respectively. Seaboard National Securities Corporation transferred at 48, also unchanged.

Byron Jackson Pump, which has shown a consistent improvement over recent sessions, added another 1-4 to hit 20. Aero advanced 15 cents to 1.90.

Sales totaled 33,560 shares valued at $381,871; previous day, 34,116 shares valued at $362,403.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. (AP)—The first trading session in the new building of the San Francisco Stock Exchange found the price level higher.

The strong group was the utility block. Pacific Lighting, on renewed rumors in speculative circles that a stock split was in prospect during the year, gained 1½ points, and the preferred advanced 2 points. Pacific Gas gained 1½, and the preferred ½. Southern Pacific Golden Gate B made a fractional gain, but Pacific Public Service and Great Western Power 7s preferred, after an erratic day, showed losses though only fractional ones.

Irregularity in the oil group was continued. Union and Shell showed ½-point gains, which were countered by equal losses on Richfield preferred. Richfield common lost ½.

Buying continued in Magnavox, with little explanation offered. Only slightly ahead of Magnavox in sales volume was Transamerica, which showed a gain of ½. The rights were active, buying reviving on arrival of the date on which the rights can be exercised. Transamerica headquarters today reported numerous inquiries, indicating intention to purchase now rather than wait until expiration in March of the rights as originally issued. Today purchases were made over the counter of Transamerica and subsidiaries, at $2 reduction from the close in New York last Saturday. Tomorrow's purchases can be made for $41 a share—the New York Curb closing price today.

Stocks not ordinarily active showed gains today. Schlesinger preferred jumped 7 points, while Yellow and Checker Cab, Lassendorf A, Western Pipe and Steel and North American Investment gained 1 to 2½ points. Byron Jackson, Caterpillar, Foster & Kleiser, Marchant, Calaveras Cement, California Cooper, Paraffine and Lassendorf B gained fractionally.

Small losses were suffered by Hawaiian Commercial, Golden State and California Packing.

Trading was in moderate volume of 46,521 shares, valued at under $1,000,000, and $9000 in bonds.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Security prices ranged in an irregular manner on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday as, influenced by the trading on the parent board, the volume of the day's business held to a quiet level. With one or two exceptions the few changes recorded were fractional.

Consolidated Steel preferred recorded the largest gain with an advance of 1 point to 22 1-4. Intercoast and Continental Credit, traded to the extent of 400 shares each, were the most active issues on the board. The former firmed up 1-8 to 22 and the latter, a similar amount to 13 5-8. Fokker fell off ½ to 15 1-4 and Claude Neon of Delaware, 1-8 to 30¼.

Kemper Radio, among the cheaper-priced issues, slumped 40 cents to 2.45. A small improvement was registered by Banca d'Italia, Italo Petroleum, Kinner, Tascott Oil and Occidental Petroleum.

Sales totaled 15,433 shares valued at $58,810; previous day, 18,700 shares valued at $32,770.

BUYING OF LEAD AND ZINC BRISK

Low Prices Held Stimulant to Active Demand

Copper Continues Steady at Former Quotation

Red Metal Outlook for New Year Promising

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
Editor the Mining Journal, Phoenix

Low prices are bringing about a good demand for lead and zinc, but copper is still sticking to its price with very small sales. Copper remains at 17.775 f.o.b. refinery, lead at 6.25 f.o.b. New York and zinc at 5.45 to 5.50 f.o.b. St. Louis.

The producers of lead continue unwilling to sell for shipment beyond January at present prices, and it is the feeling that the producer anticipates a better price early in January. Most of the producers are well sold out through January, but there will probably be no move to increase production until the price level can advance.

The lead interests have been well satisfied with the statistics of the industry. World production of pig lead in November amounted to 163,363 tons, comparing with 170,306 tons in October and 162,755 tons in November of last year. This was the lowest output since September, when it was 159,016 tons. Of the November total the United States produced 59,496 tons, compared with 61,813 tons produced in October. The daily rate of production in November was 5446 tons, compared with 5494 tons in October.

ZINC BUYING ACTIVE

The bargain prices in zinc have brought the buyers into the market. While most of the business has been placed for January shipment, some sellers have been willing to take orders through the first half of the year. These sellers, however, are in the minority as few cared for business beyond March.

There is little hope now entertained of a continuance of the European zinc cartel and it is reported that the committee which has been trying to reconcile the divergent opinions is no nearer a solution than they have been. The agreement came to a conclusion with the end of the year.

World production of slab zinc in November amounted to 130,940 tons, compared with 135,597 tons in October, and 131,555 tons in November of last year. Of this total the United States produced 47,820 tons, Belgium 18,832 tons and Poland 15,830 tons (including dust.)

November output is the smallest for any month since February, 1929, when it was 121,996 tons. The daily rate of production in November was 4365 tons. In February it was 4367 tons.

For the eleven months of 1929 world output of zinc was 1,474,314 tons, comparing with 1,459,458 tons in the corresponding period of 1928. Of this total the United States production was 579,672 tons.

COPPER TONE BETTER

The whole tone of the copper market is better now than it has been for some time, as better business among the fabricators indicates that the ultimate consumer is now convinced that the price is going to stay up and is willing to place orders accordingly. The general industrial situation is better.

The demand for copper, both domestic and foreign, of the last few days of the old year was somewhat larger than usual. Due to the fact that this period is generally the time when consumers do not buy metal and carry it over into the next year, it would indicate a very urgent need and very short supplies.

The world production of blister copper in November amounted to 170,585 tons, as compared with 175,540 tons produced in the preceding month. From the point of view of monthly output, the November total was the lowest for any period since February, 1929, and with that one exception the lowest for any month since September, 1928. On a per diem basis, the November production was slightly higher than in October.

The greatest curtailment was in the United States and Chile and Peru. The output for the eleven months of the current year amounts to 1,970,906 tons, which compares with 1,918,471 tons, representing the total production for the entire year 1928.

Copper is starting into 1930 under particularly favorable conditions. Two years ago copper was about 14 cents a pound, in October, 1928, it reached 15 cents and went up from there until its peak of 24 cents early in April, 1929. Practically no copper was sold at that level and the price was dropped to 18 cents, where it has remained ever since.

PRODUCERS NOT STAMPEDED

Even though the copper producers had piled up substantial profits, they have not been stampeded into a program of overproduction, they have kept the supplies down, they have taken care of and controlled the foreign demand and the result of it is revealed in the ability to maintain a stable copper price for a period of about nine months. During that time they have passed through two periods when almost no metal was being sold and one period of the other extreme, hectic and disorderly buying.

The only unhealthy side of the copper situation is the open conflict which exists between the buyers and sellers, each side appearing content to try and starve the other out. It is not a healthy situation when "stabilization" which was supposed to be designed for the benefit of the entire coppe. industry produces conditions comparable to those that existed in 1907 or 1920, when consumers similarly combated efforts of producers to main "boom" prices in periods of trade recession.

It is hoped that efforts will be made in the near future to restore not only the contact between buyers and sellers, but also to restore the good-will element, without which it is not possible to have a satisfactory and healthy situation in this important industry.

Group of Chain Sales Reported

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—Sales of chain-store systems reported here today follow:

F. W. Woolworth, December sales totaled $44,153,306, off 2.83 per cent from December, 1928, and for the year aggregated, $363,033,894, up 5.47 per cent. The company had 1,820 stores in operation at the end of the year. The loss in December sales was attributed to the fact that there were only four Saturdays in the month against five in December, 1928.

S. S. Kresge, December sales totaled $24,347,016, off 2.43 per cent and for the year aggregated, $185,327,735, up 6.06 per cent. Company had 1,022 stores in operation, 176 stores in the United States and nineteen in Canada. Decrease in December sales was attributed to one less Saturday and bad weather conditions.

W. Grant, December sales totaled $17,635,827, up 11.69 per cent and for the year, $145,248,283, up 10.52 per cent.

S. and W. Grand-Silver Stores, Inc., December sales totaled $6,127,862, up 4.97 per cent and for the year, $50,416,956, up 27.7 per cent.

S. and W. Grand 5-10-25 cents stores, December sales totaled $3,650,295, up 8.39 per cent and for the year, $31,696,709, up 27.78 per cent.

Isaac Silver Bros., Inc., December sales totaled $1,234,063, up 12.10 per cent and for the year, $8,486,146, up 27.5 per cent.

National Dollar Stores, December sales totaled $4,863,736, up 2.39 per cent and for the year, $48,851,047, up 9.7 per cent.

McCrory Stores, December sales totaled $7,295,848, up 1 per cent and for the year, $44,758,077, up 8.7 per cent.

Waldorf System, December sales totaled $1,444,062, up 5.6 per cent and for the year, $13,066,334, up 9.5 per cent.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Trading in wool is rather light. Interest is now being centered on delivered wools the mills having purchased during the past two weeks. The recent movement of wool trade also to cause current buying to slacken, for mills have covered the most urgent needs just before the close of the year. Sales reports during the week ending the 4th total approximately 1,000,000 pounds, compared with 1,343,100 pounds the previous week.

14¼% Yield from
31 CASH-RICH COMPANIES

FOR strength, income, appreciation and likelihood of large stock dividends in the future, every January investor should investigate the possibilities offered by Trustee Standard Oil shares, which represents ownership in all 31 of the great Standard Oil Companies. During the year 1929, holders received cash dividends of over 14¼% on the present market price.

Few people realize that the 31 Standard Oil Companies now have a combined surplus in excess of $1,500,000,000, greater than in 1921, indicating likelihood of liberal stock dividends in the future. Every one remembers that 16 of these companies declared stock dividends of 33⅓% to 900% in 1922, totalling $1,760,000,000 in market value, thereby enriching their stockholders.

This trust, now selling around 312 per share, presents an attractive means of participating in the future growth and profits of the gigantic Standard Oil group, whose combined resources exceed $5,000,000,000. For descriptive details use coupon below.

At $40.00 per share from December 2, 1935 to and including December 1, 1937.

Mr. Lee A. Phillips, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company, has summarized his letter to us as follows:

COMPANY: Consolidated Steel Corporation, Ltd., organized in California in December, 1928, acquired all of the business and properties of the Llewellyn Iron Works, Baker Iron Works and Union Iron Works, which companies had been engaged for many years in the manufacture and sale of iron and steel products principally in Southern California. In March, 1929, the Company acquired the Gallagher Company, manufacturers of tanks and floating roofs for oil storage reservoirs. Consolidated Steel Corporation, Ltd., is the largest iron and steel fabricating and manufacturing organization west of the Mississippi River. Its products are widely diversified and include structural steel, elevators, boilers, mining and oil well machinery, storage tanks, refinery equipment, road machinery, rock crushers, cranes, etc.

EARNINGS: The net earnings of the Company, after all expenses, taxes and depreciation, but before Federal income taxes, for the ten months ended October 31, 1929, were $776,858.62, or at an annual rate of $932,000. This is more than 10 times the maximum annual interest charges on these Notes and more than 6 times the maximum annual interest and sinking fund requirements.

PROVISIONS OF ISSUE: The Company will covenant in the Trust Agreement that while any Notes remain outstanding:
1. It will not, without equally and ratably securing these Notes, create upon any of its property any lien or other charge except purchase money mortgages or liens existing on after acquired fixed property, which purchase money mortgages or liens are not to exceed 66⅔% of the actual cost or fair value of such after acquired property.
2. It will maintain at all times current assets equal to at least one and one-half times its current liabilities, and net current assets equal to at least one and one-half times the amount of Notes outstanding.
3. It will maintain an aggregate unimpaired paid-in capital, surplus and undivided profits of at least $5,000,000.

BALANCE SHEET: The Balance Sheet of the Company as of October 31, 1929, adjusted to give effect to this financing, shows current assets of $3,456,093.22 and current liabilities of $1,438,598.57, a current ratio of 3.79 to 1.00. Net current assets are $4,017,494.65, or 2.68 times the amount of this Note issue, and net tangible assets, after deducting all liabilities except these Notes, are $8,018,044.69, or more than 5.34 times this Note issue.

EQUITY: These Notes are followed by 197,383 shares convertible preferred stock and 241,617 shares common stock, which at market quotations indicate an equity behind these Notes of approximately $7,000,000. Preferred stock is convertible into common stock until July 1, 1931, at the rate of four shares of preferred stock for five shares of common stock.

MANAGEMENT: The management of the Company will continue in the hands of the men who for many years successfully managed the constituent companies. The Board of Directors of the Company includes men of widespread financial, commercial and industrial interests in Southern California. The officers are: Lee A. Phillips, Chairman of the Board of Directors; Reese Llewellyn, Chairman of the Executive Committee; Waller Taylor, President; Ford J. Twaits, Executive Vice President; Milton Baruch, Vice President; Harry S. Hitchcock, Vice President; Robt. P. Miller, Vice-President; Lind C. Rollins, Secretary; O. Rey Rule, Treasurer. The Board of Directors of the Company consists of the following: Fred S. Albertson, Milo A. Baker, I. Eisner, S. M. Haskins, Robert E. Hunter, John E. Jardine, W. P. Jeffries, Reese Llewellyn, James R. Martin, Ben R. Meyer, Horace G. Miller, John B. Miller, John Milner, B. F. Nyswander, Jr., Stuart O'Melveny, James R. Page, Lee A. Phillips, Henry M. Robinson, O. Rey Rule, Waller Taylor, Joe Topitzky.

All proceedings had in the issuance of these Notes will be passed upon by Messrs. Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, Attorneys, of Los Angeles, for the underwriters and by Messrs. Loeb, Walker & Loeb, counsel for the company.

Stronger Tone Rules Trading on Wheat Mart

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. (AP)—Correct belief that the United States wheat visible supply total would show a liberal reduction did a good deal to lift wheat values today. The curtailment of 2,589,000 bushels, however, was somewhat less than many traders had looked for, and price gains failed to hold well. News about Russian wheat export sales received less notice today than of late, fresh developments indicating that Russia will ship small quantities only.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ¼c to ½c a bushel higher than Saturday's finish. Corn closed ⅛@¼c off to ¼c up, oats unchanged to ¼c down and provisions unchanged to a setback of 5 cents.

Helping to lift the wheat market was the fact that North American wheat export business today was estimated at more than 1,000,000 bushels with Portugal, Belgium and Holland named as purchasers and with numerous additional bids noted at close to a working basis. Besides last week's shipments overseas from the United States and Canada shewed 2,000,000 bushels enlargement as compared with the previous week. On the other hand, the amount of wheat on ocean passage showed a surprising increase of 1,342,000 bushels for the week, notwithstanding that what world shipments were comparatively meager, hardly 10,000 bushels.

Predictions of a cold wave threatening possible damage to the United States winter wheat crop received favorable notice today among friends of higher prices.

Corn and oats prices were easy as compared with wheat. Talk was heard the cold weather would tend to enlarge the movement of the corn crop to terminal markets.

Provisions were inclined to sag owing to downturns in the value of hogs.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—With the stock comprising the greater part of the receipts, trading was active on this class at generally 15@25c higher values, some sales being up more. Steers, although in light supply, exhibited some strength early, but by the close, when a virtual clearance had been effected, values were about on a par with last week's close. Cows had also kept pace of the early gains at closing time. Bulls were steady on a light supply. The bulk of carlot supplies came from Utah, Arizona, Imperial Valley and near-by feed lots. Steers as a rule lacked the quality exhibited in last week's offerings, while quality of cows and heifers was more uniform.

A load of 726-pound Imperial fed yearling steers topped this division at 12.50, the same price having been paid Saturday for two loads of 1,604-pound Central California fed steers. The next best price was 11.35, realized by two loads 1010 and 1030-pound Utahs in medium to good finish. A few additional loads intermountain offerings ranged at 11.00@11.50 and a part load fed Montanas, 10.50, and common kinds down to 10.00.

A load Imperial fed yearling heifers averaging 630 pounds scored 12.00. Other part load lots heifers made 10.00@10.25, with several carts mixed young cows and heifers 8.50@9.75, a few lots Arizonas going downward to 9.00. While a few odd head cows reached 9.00@9.25, the practical top was 8.75, numerous loads out of local and intermountain feed lots making 8.40@8.60 and fed Arizonas 8.25. The bulk other cows, including dairy types, ranged at 7.00@8.50 and low cutters 5.50@6.50. A load 1130-pound Arizona fed bulls scored 8.10, and the bulk of the sales 7.00@8.00, two loads thin 600 and 650-pound averages going out to pastures at 6.50.

CALVES—Demand was good and all offerings cashed at firm to 25c higher values. A part load and odd lots desirable lights weight veals reached 13.50, with odd lots at 14.00@14.50. A short load 248-pound Imperials made 12.50, and medium grade calves 11.00@12.50, with culls downward to 8.50.

HOGS—The market was 15@25c lower, the bulk being 25c down. One load 186-pound Nebraskas went to an outside packer at 11.60, the practical top being 11.50. The bulk 170 to 200-pound easterns realized 11.25@11.50 and light lights down to 10.90. Odd lots sows realized 8.25@8.50.

SHEEP—On the limited number the market was firm at prevailing quotations. Two decks of good to choice 92-pound Utah lambs garnered 12.25 and a deck 96-pound California carried a large proportioned yearlings, 11.50, one deck of the latter grade being reported unsold at a late hour.

An Investment Opportunity

Holders of the following securities, many of which are parts of small issues having a limited market and consequently not well known, have the opportunity of turning them in in lieu of cash toward the purchase of $8 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates according to the tables below.

This offer is in line with the policy of the Associated System to establish a few large issues of securities of major importance in the investment world. As these issues become more widely distributed and the markets more seasoned they will enjoy an investment rating and market second to none in any industry.

Last Year's Earnings

In computing last year's earnings, did you figure depreciation on the basis of the actual wear and tear on property plus obsolescence? Did you have a clear-cut record of every dollar's worth of depreciating property? Do you know that the books correctly reflected actual additions, changes, and deductions? American Appraisal Service provides the necessary facts.

OIL NEWS

BY PORTER FLINT

With the Santa Fe Springs field showing a stubborn resistance to getting withing striking distance of its 150,000-barrel daily desired figure, established by the principal oil companies, Umpire Paul Grimm yesterday presented an urgent appeal to the companies still producing more than their allotment under the agreement to cut production.

Yesterday's output was estimated to be 156,802 barrels, and is the lowest it has been for several weeks. In a general appeal to operating companies who apparently are having difficulty in beaning down projects, Umpire Grimm said: "This is to advise that production at Santa Fe Springs is far in excess of either your allowable or allotted production set by this office as of January 1, 1930.

"We feel that in view of the fact that the potential production given your company was, in our opinion, very liberal, there is no reason why you should not live up to your agreement with our operators at Santa Fe Springs and cut your production as provided for in the agreement."

Generally speaking, Umpire Grimm said that continued disregard of fair methods by any company would react unfavorably in that a number of companies were desirous that everyone share a portion of the burden.

Deep Producer Here

The A. T. Jergins Syndicate's Community No. 9, in the extreme north central portion of the Signal Hill field, recently came in for about 700 barrels of oil per day from a depth of 3324 feet, and is the deepest producing well in the State. At present the project is flowing through open pipes. Two and one-half-inch tubing will be landed this week.

Jergins Syndicate's deep producer tested 700 feet of formation, although the first oil sand encountered was at about 4000 feet, and was continuous to present depth.

The project has four and one-quarter-inch casing set to bottom of the hole. On the same lease the Syndicate's Community No. 28 has just been completed for 600 barrels of oil per day from a depth of 3008 feet. This new producer is in the southeasterly portion of the operator's lease, and may be deepened further into the formation for increased flow.

Status of Wildcats

No unusual showings have yet been obtained in more than a score of wildcats that are searching for oil to extend already proved territory and in projects that are testing out areas still doubtful as to possibilities of finding production.

In the extreme southern end of the State activity is increasing. In Carbon Canyon J. W. Sherman has made location on Section 33, 2-8, and will test a small area which has produced from a shallow depth. Keck & Hall's No. 1 on the same section is drilling below 1000 feet, and the Urmi Oil Company's Marie No. 1, on Section 31, 2-8, which has had slight showings of oil sand, is drilling below 1220 feet. Gerand & Grimes recently spudded in a wildcat on Section 8, 2-8, and is drilling ahead.

Near Compton Dwyer & Becker's No. 1 has encountered a little oil sand and is drilling below 2500 feet.

Spuds in Wildcat

The Standard Oil Comapny recently spudded in Shepard No. 1, located on a 253-acre lease in Casitas Pass in Santa Barbara county, and is drilling below 250 feet. This undertaking is a short distance from the Shell Oil Company's Pithian No. 1, about four miles north of Carpinteria, and is one of a series of tests to link up producing areas along the coast.

Near Saticoy Standard's Saticoy Citrus No. 5 is drilling below 9460 feet, and has not penetrated any oil sand. At Point Arguello the company's Sudden No. 1 is drilling below 2208 feet, and the Gerber No. 1 at Point Concepcion is below 3512 feet.

Near Newhall the Southern California Oil Company's Needham No. 1 is putting out about 100 barrels of oil per day from a depth of 1600 feet, and the company's Needham No. 2 was recently brought in at 1515 feet, and is yielding 200 barrels of oil per day.

On an 1800-acre lease between Puente and Walnut, near Valley Boulevard, the Western Gulf Oil Company's Diamond Bar No. 1 is drilling below 1300 feet, and to date has not encountered oil sand. This test is located just back of the old ranch house. Near Pomona the Pomona Oil Association is preparing to abandon Community No. 1, with bottom at 1200 feet.

The State Company's Richfield-Puente No. 1 near Puente is drilling at 3380 feet. This undertaking is near the Richfield Oil Company's Diddier No. 1, drilled to 6000 feet, but failed to encounter showings to justify a production test.

Nearing Completion

The Standard Oil Company's Bonynge No. 3 on Section 16, 11-23, at Maricopa Flat will be given a production test today and may be flowing before the end of the week. Bottom of the hole is at 3526 feet. The company's Bonynge No. 1 is drilling at 3985 feet, and Bonynge No. 2 is below 3465 feet.

Standard's No. 9 on Section 9, 11-23, at Maricopa Flat, is standing cemented with bottom at 3650 feet, the No. 10 is drilling at 3508 feet and No. 5 is rigging up.

On Production

The Barnsdall Oil Company's Hazleton No. 1, a new completion located on a government prospecting lease at Maricopa Flat, is now producing steadily 100 barrels of oil per day from a depth of 3400 feet. Sand troubles prevented this project from producing, and it has been cleaned out to bottom a number of times to improve the output. The company is preparing to spud in Hazelton No. 1 on the same lease.

At Rosecrans Barnsdall's Trust No. 1 is standing after a bailing test. Nine-inch casing is cemented at 5764 feet, with bottom of the hole at 5848 feet. This project has cored into good oil sand and will be given a production test within a few days.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—Prices on the curb market showed an upward tendency today, but the market continued to lack leadership, and the rallies did not get very far. Trading was rather dull, due in part to the growing exodus of many traders, who have been providing much of the activity, for winter vacations in the south and elsewhere.

American Superpower, Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share and Niagara and Hudson Power, four of the leading public utilities, moved with only fractional gains. Some fresh buying came into this group, however, on the publication of the United States Supreme Court decision in the Baltimore Street Railway case, upholding the proposed increase in fare to 10 cents, and directing its early return to public utility investments. Allied Power rallied 3½ points. Public Service of Northern Illinois, which has not sold for several weeks, broke 138 points on one sale of twenty-five shares.

Increased activity was noted in the motor issues, which sold as low as $7 a share on the recent announcement that an application had been made for a receivership. Auburn Auto declined 4¼ points to 73¾ for a net gain of more than 9 points on reports that the receivership has been averted. Ford and Durant improved fractionally, but further heaviness cropped out in Ford of Canada "A," which lost 1½.

A rally of more than 9 points in Newmont Mining received the impetus from the revival of activity and strength in the copper stocks on the big board, which, in turn, was based on heavy sales of the metal. Anaconda, Kennecott and Utah Copper were among the most active issues, while Calumet & Hecla, Granby Consolidated and Inspiration Copper showed substantial gains. Miami Copper closed 1¾ points higher, after selling up 2¾ points to a new high record of 46¾. Calumet & Hecla added 4¾ points to 230, and Inspiration and Granby Consolidated 2¾ points each. Utah Copper closed 1¾ points higher, after selling up 2¾ points to a new high record of 46¾. Calumet & Hecla added 4¾ points to 230, and Inspiration and Granby Consolidated 2¾ points each. Utah Copper closed 1¾ points higher, after selling up 2¾ points to a new high record of 46¾.

Oil issues were generally higher, with Standard of Indiana, Ohio Oil, Marland Oil and Pure Oil among the most active issues. Standard of Indiana sold up 1¾ points to 46¾, Ohio Oil 1¾ points to 46¾, Marland Oil 1¾ points to 46¾, and Pure Oil 1¾ points to 46¾. Standard of Indiana, Ohio Oil, Marland Oil and Pure Oil among the most active issues. Standard of Indiana sold up 1¾ points to 46¾, Ohio Oil 1¾ points to 46¾, Marland Oil 1¾ points to 46¾, and Pure Oil 1¾ points to 46¾.

Rails were generally higher, with Missouri Pacific, Kansas City Southern and Missouri Pacific among the most active issues. Missouri Pacific sold up 1¾ points to 46¾, Kansas City Southern 1¾ points to 46¾, and Missouri Pacific 1¾ points to 46¾. Missouri Pacific, Kansas City Southern and Missouri Pacific among the most active issues. Missouri Pacific sold up 1¾ points to 46¾, Kansas City Southern 1¾ points to 46¾, and Missouri Pacific 1¾ points to 46¾.

County Sends Delegates to Water Confab

VISALIA, Jan. 6.—Representatives of the Tulare County Water Commission will attend the joint legislative committee hearings in the north this week. One was scheduled for Red Bluff today and another at Colusa tomorrow. Ford Chatters and John Turner of Lindsay and J. T. Crowe of Tulare were appointed to represent the Tulare county unit at a recent session here. The Tulare county body was organized to further the State-wide plan of co-ordinating the waters of the Sacramento River with the arid areas of the San Joaquin Valley.

Carl Holley, hydraulic engineer of Exeter, who has been conversant with water conditions of Tulare county for a number of years, has been employed by the commission as an engineer to gather further data on water conditions.

Cost of conducting the work of the organization has been impressed upon the taxpayers of the county, by action of the Board of Supervisors recently in a 4-cent levy for this purpose. A paid executive to conduct work of the organization has been tentatively selected by the commission.

NATURAL GAS—Marches with Progress

A Utility Romance: UNITED GAS COMPANY

The awakened spirit of industry has taken to itself a new motto: Growth. Related enterprises are joining their forces to assure greater production at lower costs, with a consequent stimulation of consumer demand. In this forward march to progress, Industry must summon every possible ally to its side. The most important of these is Power—and the new power behind Power is Natural Gas. Wherever industry or the home can employ this efficient, economical fuel, it is achieving greater results at lower cost. Natural Gas will be a giant figure in the industrial epic of the future.

United Gas Company is now one of the four largest producers and distributors of Natural Gas in the United States. Its reserves are to be calculated only in figures almost beyond human comprehension. Its great pipe lines traverse hundreds of miles, and supply hundreds of communities and many great industries in the South and Southwest. Among its customers are to be counted those great oil companies which find that Natural Gas, with twice the energy of manufactured gas at a fraction of its cost, permit more rapid development in a competitive age.

How To Darken Gray Hair

Makes One Look Younger

Men and women who used to be called Grandpa and Grandma are now setting the styles by darkening their gray hair at home.

For instance, J. A. McCrea, a well known Californian, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture in five minutes, that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. Merely take a half-pint of water, add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

"These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at trifling cost. Apply to the hair twice weekly with a comb. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."—[Advertisement.]

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's why thousands of stomach sufferers use Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they go to the real cause of the trouble—sluggish liver and disordered bowels. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach misery.

Have you had a bad taste, tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

TAYLOR MURDER TIPS BELITTLED

"New Angles" Discounted by Los Angeles Officers

Ex-Convict Hefner's Story Declared "Old Stuff"

Fewer Charges Asserted to Have Been Exploded

"New angles" in the William Desmond Taylor murder case asserted to have been revealed by Otis Hefner, alias Arthur Nelson, yesterday were discounted greatly by Los Angeles police officers and deputy sheriffs who charge that the ex-convict who talked himself out of Folsom prison has nothing in the nature of real evidence to offer investigators.

Only a few hours after it was announced that Hefner had been found in some unnamed Southern California city and had "told" a certain motion-picture celebrity as Mr. Taylor's slayer, it was disclosed by Sheriff Traeger that Hefner's story was investigated thoroughly and discredited by deputies in 1926 before Gov. [illegible] had granted the prisoner parole.

FREEDOM DEMANDED

Sheriff Traeger's statement is backed by Capt. Bell, and Jailer [illegible] who made independent investigations of Hefner's story at San Quentin.

At the time of the investigation Bell, now inspector of substations, was attached to the robbery-detail detail of the Sheriff's office. Inasmuch as he had done considerable work on the original Taylor murder inquiry, Bell was sent to San Quentin to interview Hefner and "get it be known that he knew all about the case."

Hefner, when questioned about the case Hefner is reported to have persistently declined to talk, demanding his freedom, stating that in other contexts would kill him to "penalize." If he remained in prison.

Finally he agreed to talk to Sheriff Traeger, according to Bell, and the interview was arranged.

"After talking to him I decided the man did not even know the date of Taylor's death," Bell said.

SAME FINDINGS

Sheriff Traeger's investigation followed that of Capt. Bell's and resulted in virtually the same findings.

"I talked with Hefner in Folsom prison at the request of Sheriff Traeger," Capt. Peoples said. "At no time he had nothing to offer in the way of some information which he thought Sands had given him. There was nothing about it that could be considered evidence."

Sheriff Traeger declined to discuss the case in detail. He merely stated that Hefner's story was discredited at the time he first sought parole.

Other peace officers who worked on the Taylor murder inquiry stated that the story asserted to have been told by Hefner yesterday does not coincide at all with the facts revealed by one of the most intensive searches in the history of the city.

Former Dist.-Atty. Keyes from his home in the County Jail also pointed out discrepancies and declared that it is his belief Hefner's story is manufactured.

STATEMENT BY FITTS

Dist.-Atty. Fitts expressed interest in Hefner's story but refused to commit himself as to whether he believes it. His official statement follows:

"My attention has been called, for the first time, to purported information in the possession of Otis Hefner.

"Naturally, this office welcomes any information that might lead to a successful conclusion of this case. I have, therefore, instructed my bureau of investigation to get in touch with Mr. Hefner and procure from him whatever information he may have.

"I have heretofore stated that for many months this office has quietly and without publicity worked on the Taylor case. We are intensely interested in a successful conclusion to the end that we would be in a position to start criminal case pending in this office."

ANOTHER ANGLE

Another angle of this phase of the Taylor murder case was before Los Angeles officials, dispatches were received in Chicago indicating that evidence has been obtained there by

HER ENGAGEMENT TOLD TO FRIENDS

DE MILLE'S DAUGHTER BETROTHED

Miss Cecilia's Engagement to F. E. Calvin Announced at Luncheon in Home

Engagement of Miss Cecilia Hoyt De Mille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Blount De Mille of Laughlin Park, to Francis Edgar Calvin, was announced yesterday during a luncheon at the home of the bride-elect.

The announcement was made by means of the cards of Miss De Mille and her fiance, tied together with ribbons and wrapped around the stems of fruit cocktail glasses at the beginning of the luncheon.

No definite date has been set for the wedding, although it will take place in February. The couple will make their home in Hollywood. Mr. Calvin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Calvin of 340 South McCadden Place. Mr. Calvin, Sr., who now is retired, having been an official of the Union Pacific Railroad. Miss De Mille, whose father is an executive of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, attended the Marlborough School, and is an expert horsewoman.

Miss De Mille's guests included Mmes. Wilson Jones, Laurence Liggett, Douglas Williams, Byrn Irwin, Arthur Kling, James Hardessey Johnson and Joseph Harper, and Misses Constance Simpson, Helen McCarthy, Honor Higgins, Nancy Adams, Rowena Thom, Jane Woodin, Gwendolyn Longyear, Ruth Moulton, Katherine De Mille, Marguerite Swope, Natalie Schemkleberger, Elizabeth Badge, Evelyn Flebbe, Frances Cunningham and Elizabeth Lewis.

Jury Picked for Trial of Street Widening Suits

The second group of condemnation suits in connection with the opening and widening of Mines avenue, Ninth and Tenth streets, and Country Club Drive, which will form a new cross-town artery, went to trial in Superior Judge Schauer's court yesterday.

There are thirteen suits on trial, affecting property between Figueroa street and Victoria street. Most of the suits originally filed in this area have been compromised, it was stated.

A jury was selected, and the court made a trip of inspection along the proposed boulevard yesterday afternoon. Testimony will begin today.

STATE'S LABOR STATUS VIEWED

Farm-hand Shortage Laid to Decrease in Mexicans

Chamber Committees Inquire Into Situation

Deportation Act Attacked by Manufacturer

The relationship between the reported shortage of agricultural labor in California and the decrease for various reasons in the number of available Mexican farm hands was stressed at a meeting yesterday under auspices of the manufacturing and industries committee, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Faye G. Bennison, general manager of the Southern Glass Company, chairman of a joint agricultural and manufacturers' committee of the chamber to inquire into the subject, presented details in connection with it.

He pointed out that there was an estimated shortage in California in 1929 of probably 50,000 Mexican laborers due, it was stated, to deportations under the recent Vincent-Copeland Congressional Act, the return of 20,000 more Mexican laborers to their own country compared with the number that headed northward across the border, and to middle west agriculture and industrial requirements, which drew 15,000 or more such laborers from California.

INDUSTRIES CONCERNED

The industrial interests of this State are taking a leading part in sending representatives to Washington as spokesmen for all phases of the subject in an effort to interest Congress in it, Mr. Bennison announced. It is desired to have a Congressional nation-wide study of common labor and bearings by House and Senate committees on immigration involving the subject of labor demand and supply.

A resolution by Senator McNary now pending in the Senate's Agricultural Committee provides for such a survey to determine the extent of this country's need for alien common labor, the meeting was informed.

The further statement was made that "no such survey ever has been made and no definite figures are available to indicate just how and the extent to which industry throughout the country—agricultural, manufacturing, transportation, etc.—would be affected by clamping down on Mexican immigration, but the recent shortage of agricultural labor in California demonstrates that it would place a tremendous handicap upon this State, and would cause not only a shortage of Mexican labor, but would induce the bidding for labor as between different groups, causing increased costs of operation and perhaps irreparable loss."

Chairman Schleicher of the manufacturing and industries committee, named Mr. Bennison as the chairman of a subcommittee he will appoint to inquire further into the subject and advance the suggestions made.

REPORTS OPTIMISTIC

Representatives of various industries expressed optimistic views in connection with industrial and business activities here in the present year. Stimulation of a local demand for home-produced commodities was urged by Chairman Schleicher as essential to stabilize prosperity here.

The committee postponed for two weeks its attitude regarding the tariff bill provision that refers to the importation of products manufactured in foreign lands under American trademarks.

Manager Bangster of the chamber's industrial department, emphasized the significance of the industrial census soon to be taken by the government.

Carlin Arrives for New Duties

Keith Carlin, who on the 1st inst. resigned as private secretary to Gov. Young, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to assume his new duties as chief counsel for the State Department of Professional and Vocational Standards.

Mr. Carlin will be the legal representative of no less than fifteen State boards and bureaus in the department, under the direction of James F. Collins. The appointment was made by Gov. Young

HELEN'S LOVE SHIP IN PORT

Rain Squall Ends Honeymoon at Sea

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Moody, Jr.

FREDERICK S. MOODY, JR., and his bride, the former Helen Wills, woman tennis champion, returned to Los Angeles yesterday after a twelve-day honeymoon cruise down coast in the sixty-two-foot yawl Galatea.

The star apparently is as good a sailor as her sea-loving broker husband, for she said she enjoyed every meal, and her eyes sparkled. They sailed under canvas all the way down to San Diego where she played a game of tennis, and on to Ensenada and beyond.

"We caught some fish, too, but I don't know what they were," confessed Mrs. Moody. Coming back all went well until Sunday when a southwester whipped up an angry sea and rain spoiled the otherwise unbroken sunny weather.

They had lunch yesterday at Wilmington and motored away. Their plans are to remain in Southern California another week—yes, perhaps she will play some tennis—then they will drive back to San Francisco where an apartment awaits them.

Mrs. Moody said she will go to New York in April to exhibit some of her sketches and paintings at the Grand Central, and hopes again sometime to play tennis abroad.

RUMORS OF BELL PLANT PACT DENIED

Councilmen Assail Report They'll Decide on Quarry at Dinner for Mayor

Rumors current at the City Hall that a decision on granting Alphonso Bell his application to establish his rock-quarrying plant in the Santa Monica Mountains is to be reached unofficially by members of the City Council at a dinner for Mayor Porter tonight at the home of Councilman Burns met with vigorous denial yesterday.

"The dinner is purely a social affair," said Burns. "The date has no significance, as it was the only evening Mayor Porter had open. I shall vigorously resist any consideration of the Bell permit or any other city business."

Other members of the Council were as outspoken, declaring that any such effort to corral their votes on the Bell proposition, which is to be taken up Thursday afternoon, would prejudice them on the other side.

The report, which met with such a strong denial, is that a poll will be taken on the Bell application, with the understanding that the majority will rule, and that, when the matter comes up officially, the entire membership of fifteen in the Council will vote unanimously, so as to avoid the possibility of individual members being singled out for attack on their attitude.

It was pointed out that if the vote is favorable to Bell, it will make it easier for Mayor Porter to concur than if the Council split, say, eight to seven.

The rumor included the statement that noses also will be counted to determine what support Mayor Porter can expect on the ousting of three prominent officials, one of whom serves "at the pleasure of the Mayor," and two who are established under civil service.

Airport Stand Has Been Razed

The Los Angeles Municipal Airport's landmark, the grand stand from which the famous 1928 air races were viewed, has disappeared from the field.

It was from this grand stand that Angelenos watched the skillful flying of D. W. Tomlinson and the other United States Navy Sea Hawks and the antics of Col. Lindbergh as a stunt flyer with the United States Army's Three Musketeers in place of their fallen leader.

The structure was razed to provide additional landing space for solo students of the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service school.

DIVER FINDS TWO BODIES IN SUNKEN PLANE WRECK

Pair Identified as Hawks, Harris; Surging Seas Halt Perilous Work on Ocean Floor

Two of seven bodies believed held in the wreckage of two motion-picture planes in the sea off Point Vicente were recovered yesterday after a bitter battle against surging waves and heavy ground swells. They were identified as soon as brought to the surface by the diver as Kenneth Hawks, film director, and Thomas Harris, studio property man.

The bodies were found rammed against the instrument board of the plane, and while badly mangled and broken showed no signs of burns from the explosion and flames which enveloped the ten men in the two ships which collided in mid-air last Thursday.

With the recovery the search for the missing five and the attempt to raise the wrecks of the planes was halted as a strong westerly wind whipped the sea into a fury and made a continuation of the grewsome work extremely hazardous. Further efforts to recover the missing will not be undertaken until the weather becomes calmer.

DIVER HEROIC

The hunt for the bodies and efforts to raise the mangled and twisted fuselages was directed by Capt. E. W. Samuelson of the Merriti, Chapman and Scott Corporation, and he declared that further attempts yesterday would place in too great peril the life of Charles E. Smale, diver for the corporation. Smale, according to Samuelson, worked in the face of constant peril yesterday and against advice of seafaring men in going down in the sixty-foot water and fighting a strong undertow.

With the report of Smale of his quest along the ocean floor in hand, Fox Film officials and investigating authorities were able to present more definite information as to the allocation of the eight employees and two pilots in the two planes on the fatal flight.

PERSONNEL LISTED

It was the belief yesterday that the plane from which the bodies of Hawks and Harris were recovered was piloted by Hallock Rouse. His body still is missing. In this ship in the ride to their death to film a parachute thriller were Hawks, Harris, George Eastman, chief cameraman on the picture, and Otto Jordan, his assistant. The latter two still are to be recovered.

The other plane was piloted by Ross Cooke, carrying as workmen on the ill-fated flight Max Gold, assistant director; Conrad Wells, cameraman; Ben Frankel, his assistant, and Henry Johannes, property man. The bodies of Cooke and Johannes have not been located. The first three were found floating on the sea a short time after the accident.

The salvage tugs and crews worked against odds in attempting to lift the sunken plane and succeeding in reaching the wreck only after dragging the mass to shallow water, about 100 yards off-shore.

TERRIBLE TASK

Two attempts were made to raise the wreckage, but each time the heavy ground swells tore at the lines and the connections, which were made to the wings, tore loose. After the plane had been hauled into sixty-foot water Smale, in his heavy diving suit, went down to look at the wreck and make another inspection.

Parts of the fuselage and wings had broken off in the drag through the water and he found that he was able to work his way through the cabin of the plane by starting from a hole torn near the tail.

Feeling his way through the inky dark waters, Smale made his way to the front part of the ship. Jammed against the instrument board, to the right of the pilot's seat, and crushed into a small space he found two bodies.

He worked with the lifeless mass for a short time and was able to wrap a line around one of the forms. It was guided back to an opening in the rear of the ship and then hoisted to the deck of the tug Salt. It immediately was identified as Harris.

MOTOR VANISHES

Back down into the fast-rising seas went Smale, after reporting his discovery. He crawled into the plane and carried the second body to a door, made his line fast and the windlass brought to the surface the lifeless form of Hawks.

The fabric is practically all off the body of the plane, Smale said.

BOARD DECIDES SITE PURCHASE

First and Spring-street Deal to be Closed

State Will Begin Building of Office Structure

Thirteen Own Four Parcels Bought for $725,824

The Board of Supervisors yesterday voted to conclude purchase of property at the corner of First and Spring streets for a site for the first wing of the $2,500,000 State office building, at a price of $725,824.

Thirteen persons own the four pieces of property involved, which, when added to the property on the site already owned by the county, will provide ample space for the first wing of the State building, which will be erected at once to house offices now in rented quarters at Sixth and Olive streets.

The owners of the property are Kenneth E. Preuss, Percival F. Caroline, P. F., John, Frank G., and Caroline Schumacher, Ella G. Crowell, Mildred Howell Lewis, and Eliza Scott and Robert Le Grand Howell, Anna Jenkins, Pearl Louise, Daniel Angus and Louise Ernsen McKinnon.

The purchase of the property follows the dismissal by Superior Judge Yankwich last week of an injunction suit, after County Counsel Mattoon and Assistant Counsel O'Connor had argued that the county had not proposed to buy another piece of property for the State building site. The injunction was brought by property owners interested in a site at First and Hill streets, which will be used as part of the site for a new Courthouse, proposed in the Civic Center across Broadway from the present Courthouse.

Imperial Valley Truck-Line Suit Being Pondered

Superior Judge Gates yesterday took under submission arguments by Attorney Phil Jackson for the Imperial Valley Express Company and Attorney Vernon Day for the Imperial Valley Merchants' Warehouse Association, on an injunction asked against the latter corporation to prevent it from operating as a common carrier with motor trucks between the Imperial Valley and Los Angeles.

The Imperial Valley Express Company in its injunction suit asked that the defendant corporation be restrained from operating, on the ground that it has not obtained a certificate of public convenience and necessity from the State Railroad Commission.

Attorney Day replied that the business handled by his client is not "public business" in that sense.

Street Hearing to be Conducted

The Board of City Planning Commissioners yesterday announced a public hearing Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in Room 360, City Hall, on Map No. 29 of the Major Traffic Street Plan. The area involved is East Hollywood, Highland Park and Boyle Heights.

A similar hearing on Map No. 28, the residential area west of Vermont avenue, will be conducted in Room 360 at 2:30 p.m. the 16th inst.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

ALL of us are, I dare say, quivering with excitement over the new confession that seems to be lurking around like a ghost in the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery.

It is high time that another confession was had in that case. Up to date only four different persons have confessed to the murder of Taylor.

One was a Texas bootlegger; another a hophead in Detroit; another a woman who said she was queen of a narcotic gang. One of the most enthusiastic confessors was a man who said he saw his wife murder Taylor. She did it with a grand gesture: "You will never deceive another loving heart," she said; "take that!"

MY ERROR

Just to show you how foolish it is to comment on matters of which you have no expert knowledge . . .

I shall have to confess that—until the West Point and Pittsburgh games—I thought that an all-American football player was one who had distinguished himself in the game; and so had been kind of picked out.

Imagine my embarrassment to discover that an all-American football player is merely one who is 100 per cent of American ancestry—as, for instance, Maguirski, Toby Uansa, Donchess, Chrirdeo, Schoonover.

A CHARMING IDEA

Just to take the thing in time, our musical critic, Isabel Morse Jones, has a very charming idea for next Christmas—to have an old-fashioned Spanish Christmas in the Avila house—which is to be our house of loving memories.

These old Spanish ceremonies were gay and lovely. I hope they do it and have a grand fandango with the castanets and the contest between the girls dancing with glasses of water on their heads . . . and the hats piled on top of each other on the heads of the belles, and all the rest of it.

WHO CARES?

All this space consumed in the newspapers over the wedding of an Italian Prince and Belgian Princess no doubt betokens a certain diplomatic suavity of intention between Italy and Belgium. But, on the spur of the moment, I can thing of nothing of less importance than the diplomatic relations between Italy and Belgium.

WHEN RAINS COME LATE

Father Ricard might better have stuck to his guns—and to his interview with me. When I say it is going to rain, why, it has just gotta rain.

The rain charts issued by the Security-First National Bank incidentally fill the heart with hope. One of the greatest rainfalls ever recorded in California was in the winter of 1915-16. Until January of that year there had been a total of only 3.87 inches. Yet before the year was out 19.32 inches had fallen.

In 1917-18 less than an inch fell before February. The rains of February and March brought the fall up to a respectable total of 13.86 inches.

COST MAP SUBMITTED

The City Engineer yesterday submitted to the City Council the assessment district map for the improvement of Burwood avenue at Highgate avenue. The map was referred to the Public Works Committee.

WATER STORAGE PROPOSED

Flood-Control Engineer Points Possibilities in Utilization of County Flow Now Wasted

Immediate attention of county officials to the problem of maintaining a water supply until the city aqueduct system can be enlarged by increasing the amounts held in underground storage is directed by E. C. Eaton, flood control engineer, in a letter filed with the County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

In his letter Engineer Eaton points out that millions of gallons of water go to waste yearly because adequate measures have not been taken to develop maximum percolation of water into underground reservoirs by means of spreading grounds and percolation channels.

In the basins of the Big Tujunga, San Gabriel and San Antonio rivers, Mr. Eaton points out, a comparatively slight outlay for spreading ditches, radiating from the main channel into comparatively useless land on alluvial fans, would cause the storage of immensely valuable supplies of water, which would not only increase the amount of water available for pumping but would raise the water table and thereby make irrigation more economical by decreasing the pumping head.

"On a small watershed on the San Antonio River in the eastern part of the county, spreading ditches constructed for test purposes gave percolation values of more than 2,500,000 gallons per acre of spreading grounds and ditches, and an area of less than 600 acres resulted in the absorption of 8000 acre-feet that would otherwise have run off and been wasted in the ocean.

"Many thousand acres in the county available for spreading purposes are not useful for much else. Cost of construction of the proper channels is not heavy and will bring large returns on a small investment. The development of spreading areas does not preclude their use for other purposes, such as gravel pit or rock plant operations. In other locations water reclamation areas could be treated as parks."

Engineer Eaton said he would recommend later that plans he would prepare for a complete system of flood control and water conservation for the entire county be submitted to consulting engineers

OUCH! PRICE OF SHAVE WILL JUMP TEN CENTS

The price of a shave will be 35 cents in barber shops operated by members of the Associated Master Barbers of America on and after next Monday. The present price is 25 cents. Other barbering prices, such as 50 cents for haircut, remain unchanged. Sixty per cent of the barber shops in Los Angeles are said to be operated by association members.

Announcement of the 10-cent price increase was made yesterday by Vice-President Belmont of the national association and President Guio of the State association. Both are Los Angeles men.

"Chicago, Denver, Seattle, San Francisco, Santa Barbara and just about the whole coast north of Los Angeles gets 35 cents for a shave and 65 cents for a haircut," Belmont said. "Riverside raised its shave price from 20 to 35 cents about four months ago. San Francisco has charged 35 cents for a shave and 65 cents for a haircut for three years.

"Master barbers are shop proprietors. They pay their average men $30 a week plus 60 per cent of work he does in excess of $42.50. It costs him 25 per cent to do business. He must have more money.

"Two years ago the association did a lot for the public in getting a law prohibiting any but licensed barbers working and providing for sanitary barber shops and practices and for barbers who are clean and not diseased.

"It has cost the barbers some money to give the public this sanitary service. Barbers are entitled to earn enough to live according to good American standards and so we are asking for more money. We hope the price increase will be received by patrons with understanding."

PILGRIMAGE PLAY GETS AID

Woman Makes Gift of $64,000 Provided Citizens Raise $100,000 for Rebuilding Theater

A gift of $64,000 to the Pilgrimage Play restoration campaign fund was announced yesterday by President George L. Eastman of the play association. The gift, however, is contingent on the committee raising at least another $100,000, the minimum amount necessary to assure the completion of the new concrete amphitheater.

President Eastman made it known last night that the donor of this gift is a woman who wants her name withheld for the present.

GEORGE L. EASTMAN.

The amount of the gift is enough to purchase acreage on which the play has been staged during the past ten years. Owners of the property have agreed to sell at this price, reported to be exceptionally low for twenty-five acres, provided the theater is built without being mortgaged.

"We must raise the additional $100,000 within the next three weeks," said Mr. Eastman last night. "If we don't obtain the funds by that time it is probable that the play will not be given this summer and that would mean the first interruption since the production was started by the late Christine Wetherill Stevenson."

The campaign committee has been at work soliciting funds for five weeks. There have been a number of both large and small gifts but not enough of either, according to the committee. Gifts are being received at Pilgrimage Play headquarters, 639 South Flower street.

The amphitheater, located at Cahuenga and Highland avenues, just across from Hollywood Bowl, was destroyed during a brush fire, October 24, last. The old structure was of wood. Architect William Lee Woollett's plans call for a new building of concrete, Palestinian in design, and to be of quality that will endure for centuries.

PANTAGES FILES APPEAL PAPERS

First Step Taken in Fight Against Conviction

Lengthy Transcript Sent to Higher Court

Briefs in Millionaire's Case Expected Soon

Counsel for Alexander Pantages yesterday took first steps in the appeal from the conviction of the millionaire theater owner, found guilty in Superior Court of a statutory offense against Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, when the lawyers filed in the Appellate Court a transcript of the trial record. The transcript totals 3470 pages, of which 3000 pages are records from the Superior Court clerk's office. These last include motions and transcripts of documents during the trial. The balance includes transcripts of reports of court reporters taken during the trial.

On just what feature of his trial Pantages will base his appeal was not indicated, since no briefs were filed. Under the rules of the Appellate Court, ten days are allowed for the filing of briefs after notice of appeal is made.

It is expected, therefore, that Attorneys W. I. Gilbert, Joseph Ford and Jerry Geisler, of Pantages counsel, will have briefs completed and filed within the ten days allowed. The usual procedure then is for the State through the District Attorney and the Attorney General to file an answering brief within an additional ten days.

The appeal was assigned to Division 1 of the Appellate Court, and will be handled by Presiding Justice Conrey and Associate Justices York and Houser.

BOLGER TO INVESTIGATE AID CLAIMS

Supervisor Shaw Granted Secretary to Check Up on Pension Applicants

James F. Bolger, former newspaper man, yesterday was appointed field secretary for Supervisor Shaw, with his duties specified as investigating cases of persons applying to the county for financial aid under the new State Pension Law.

According to Supervisor Shaw many grants of county and State aid by the Board of Supervisors have been followed in a few months by refusal of the State to pay its share of the grant, because investigation by State inspectors has disclosed relatives of the applicant able to support him.

To prevent the county being liable for the full amount, $30 a month for ordinary indigents, and $50 a month for blind, Supervisor Shaw yesterday suggested the appointment of a special investigator.

Bolger's appointment is only temporary, pending his civil-service examination. Two other Supervisors' secretaries, Frank H. Colville, of the First District, appointed by Supervisor Beaty, and Hugh Lawrence, Mayor of Inglewood, appointed by Supervisor McClellan, were given permanent appointments yesterday.

Both the secretaries passed satisfactorily civil-service examinations held last week. They had been filling the positions on temporary appointments for the past six months.

No field secretaries have yet been appointed for the Third and Fifth Supervisorial districts, represented by Supervisors Graves and Wright, respectively. Salary of field secretaries is $250 a month.

BIRD PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN SLAYING

Trial of Sportsman for Death of Friend in Home Set for 24th Inst.

Maj. Owen R. Bird, local sportsman, yesterday pleaded not guilty to the charge of manslaughter growing out of the slaying last November of his friend, Percival O. Watson. Date for his trial was set for for the 24th inst., in the court of Superior Judge Wood by Superior Judge Aggeler, before whom he appeared.

Bird is asserted to have shot and fatally wounded Watson on the night of November 25, last, at the Bird home at 3514 Dahlia avenue. Suffering from three bullet wounds, Watson died four days later.

Bird, according to a statement asserted to have been made to police at the time, said he had asked Watson to leave the house and when the request was refused he obtained a gun he believed to be loaded with blank cartridges and fired at the man, intending to frighten him.

A murder charge filed against Bird was ordered dismissed in Municipal Court at a preliminary hearing and he was bound over to Superior Court on the lesser charge of manslaughter.

LINDBERGHS TRY OUT THEIR NEW PLANE

Bride Flies With Famous Husband on Initial Test

She Also Took Controls First Time Up

Left to right—Jerry Vultee, chief engineer of Lockheed Aircraft Company, who personally supervised construction of the Lindbergh low-winged Sirius monoplane, giving Col. Lindbergh a few tips on gasoline tank control valves while the flyer fastens his parachute for first trip aloft. Mrs. Lindbergh has been boosted into her place in the rear control seat, and can be seen waiting for her husband to enter the cockpit.

COL. AND MRS. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH flew their new $30,000 airplane yesterday. The famous couple took off from the Burbank factory field of Lockheed Aircraft Company, climbed their Sirius monoplane at steep angles, swooped through graceful figure-eights, made a few practice landings at the adjacent United Airport and after an hour in the air called it a day.

"We both enjoyed the flight," Col. Lindbergh said as the black and orange plane was hangared for the night and he and his wife climbed out.

"Yes it came up to my expectations. It is very light on the controls and easy to handle."

Taciturn as usual, with her noted husband doing what little talking they deemed necessary, Mrs. Lindbergh's answer to whether she approved of the new ship was a series of delighted smiles.

"Mrs. Lindbergh also took the controls," her husband explained. "The motor was fine and we expect to do some more flying in the plane during our two-weeks' visit. There are two or three minor changes I want made, ideas I have had since ordering the ship, but nothing that will change the plane materially."

The group of official observers who witnessed the first flight were surprised when both Col. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh came on the field dressed in their cold-weather flying togs. The watchers, as well as Lockheed officials, had surmised that Col. Lindbergh would take the plane aloft alone for a trial spin.

But he assisted his bride into the rear open-control seat, climbed in the front seat, and after a few tips on the gasoline control valves from Jerry Vultee, Lockheed chief engineer, and Capt. B. Squier, general manager, he ordered the 425-horsepower Pratt-Whitney Wasp motor started.

As revealed exclusively in The Times when it was learned the plane was being constructed secretly for Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh, the plane has a gasoline capacity of 440 gallons—enough to carry the Lindberghs 3300 miles without stopping.

No nonstop transcontinental flights are in the immediate offing, Col. Lindbergh said, but he wants a plane that "will stay up all night."

Judge Crail Not in Federal Race

Superior Judge Charles S. Crail will not be a candidate for appointment to the place on the local Federal bench made vacant by the resignation of United States Judge Henning, he announced yesterday. One reason for his declination of Federal bench aspirations is because his twin brother, Joseph Crail, is representative in Congress from Los Angeles, and this fact might give Judge Crail an unfair advantage over other possible appointees.

Judge Crail resumed his place on the probate bench yesterday after a vacation in the Hawaiian islands.

'SEA HAWK' TOMLINSON WEDS SOON

Miss Virginia Sullivan to Become Bride of Flyer on the 16th Inst.

Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson, vice-president of the T.A.T.-Maddux Air Lines, and Miss Virginia Sullivan, who gave her occupation as a writer, yesterday appeared at the Courthouse and signified their intention of taking out a marriage license.

LIEUT. D. W. TOMLINSON

Tomlinson, formerly one of the three Sea Hawks, who performed so spectacularly at the national air meet here two years ago, gave his age as 32 years. Miss Sullivan is 26. She met Tomlinson first at an aviation ball in San Francisco in April, 1928.

Tomlinson lives at 5737 Franklin avenue, and Miss Sullivan at 2253 North Cahuenga avenue. The ceremoney will be performed at the home of C. M. Parker, 7621 Mulholland High Way, the 16th inst., it is announced.

ASSESSMENTS CONFIRMED

The City Council yesterday confirmed the assessments for the improvement of Huntington Drive, South, from Thelma avenue to Mission Road, and also confirmed the modified assessments for the improvement of Gower street between Hollywood Boulevard and Melrose avenue. Protests against the establishment of setback lines in Seventh avenue between Montclair street and Jefferson Boulevard were denied. The hearing of protests against the improvement of Western avenue from Manchester avenue to One Hundred Fourth street was continued until July 8.

SENTIMENTALISTS RAPPED

Davis Says Light Sentences and Public Sympathy for Criminals Handicap Police

Sentimentalists and would-be reformers who stand on the sidelines and criticise are among the greatest problems of the police department, declared Deputy Chief Davis in an informal talk last night before the Junior Open Forum of the City Club.

Another serious situation that faces the police in the protection of life and property is the attitude of the courts in assessing light punishment to criminals, Davis said.

The former Chief also placed great stress on the psychology of the public mind which has been so filled with propaganda against the policeman that juries place little credence in the testimony of the arresting officers and give great weight to their accusers.

"Politicians and reformers over the radio and through newspapers and publications have created a condition that is extremely serious," Davis declared, in pointing out the difficulties faced by conscientious officers in ferreting out the criminal. "The sympathies of the public, through misinformation supplied them, are all with the criminal and not the police," he said, "and the conscientious policeman, who has made enemies in the underworld, will not do his work when faced with the realization that he can be convicted on the testimony of the criminal."

The former chief made it plain that he was referring to some recent criminal actions in Superior Court, where officers have been convicted on bribery indictments. He was unsparing in his denunciation of the prosecuting witness in these cases and gave his listeners a graphic description of the past record of the men.

In the course of his talk he gave statistics on the crime situation here and declared it more under control in Los Angeles than any other city of like size in the country.

Discussing his present assignment as head of the Traffic Bureau, to where he was shifted following his demotion, Davis said:

"I have been assigned to the traffic bureau, and hope to be left there for the next two and a half years. I will then be in a position to retire on a pension. During that time I hope to build this part of the police department into the finest organization of its kind in the United States.

"In order to accomplish this I must have the co-operation of the public, and I believe I can do a good job," he said, in explaining that the death and accident rate here from motor mishaps is entirely too high."

Chief of Police Steckel will make an address tonight before the same club on the topic: "What You Can do to Help."

CONSULATE FOR DUTCH ANNOUNCED

Increases in Trade Cause Increased Rank for Local Envoy of Netherlands

By order of Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, the vice-consulate of the Netherlands in Los Angeles has been elevated to a consulate and the incumbent Vice-Consul, Adrian Hartog, has been promoted accordingly to the rank of consul for Southern California and Arizona. Announcement of the elevation was issued yesterday from the newly created consulate in the San Fernando Building.

ADRIAN HARTOG

The higher rank, according to Consul Hartog, is due to the increased population of this district and the resultant increase in trade between Los Angeles and the Netherlands and Los Angeles and the Dutch East Indies.

Stastistics on file in the consulate reveal that in 1921 total exports to the Netherlands amounted to $13,570, whereas during the year just ended they totaled $3,000,000. Total exports to the Dutch East Indies in 1921 amounted to $35,000, which increased to more than $3,500,000 during 1929. Imports from the Dutch East Indies increased during the same period from several hundred thousand to $3,500,000.

Consul Hartog pointed out that since the improvement of Los Angeles Harbor three Dutch steamship lines and many Dutch tankers call at this port at regular intervals.

Coroner Bundesen charging a Chinese with the murder.

The information is said to have been given the Coroner through a prominent Chicago business man who has an employee who once was a cellmate with the Chinese. This man's statement follows:

"The Chinese was called out for questioning and when he returned he was relieved. He said he thought the police were going to question him about the Taylor murder, but they only asked him about being caught carrying a revolver. He told me he had been planted in Taylor's home to kill him because Taylor had had difficulties with the narcotic interests. The Chinese said he was connected with the opium traffic and he was paid $1000 to kill Taylor."

The employee was held on a liquor charge at the time and he believes the name of the Chinese was Harry Lee, alias Harry Young, and he has heard that Lee now is in San Quentin penitentiary.

STATE PAROLE OFFICER QUIZZES HEFNER

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—Otis Hefner, former Folsom convict credited with supplying ex-Gov. Richardson with the "solution" of the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery, was subjected to questioning tonight by State Parole Office Whyte in an effort to determine just how accurately Hefner's information corresponds with known facts in the case.

Hefner's present whereabouts, long a mystery to officials, were learned by the State parole officer today and steps taken at once to prove or disprove the value of his information.

Hefner has been living "in the vicinity" of San Francisco under an assumed name with his wife and child, it was learned.

Clarence Morrill today reiterated the assertion Hefner is a parole violator and sought as such. Whyte says that is only technically true.

"He was supposed to report to me once a month," Whyte explained. "He did so for a while, but Morrill told him to quit driving a truck and get himself another job somewhere and I presume he thought this released him from his obligation to report to me, as I have not seen or heard from him since, until today. On March 19, 1927, the parole board suspended his parole at my request, pending investigation of his whereabouts. Paroles are often suspended in this fashion when a man fails to report, but there is no indication Hefner has committed a new crime."

Harry Young, alias Harry Lee, Chinese, reported by a Chicago Chinese to have confessed murdering Taylor for $1000, was found in Folsom. He denied ever having seen Taylor or of having confessed the slaying.

HEARING ON GAS RATES TO RESUME

Utility Experts Will Give Testimony Against Charges by State

The State Railroad Commission is scheduled at 10 a.m. today to resume its investigation into the rates and practices of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation when an adjourned hearing is called before Commissioner Carr in the commission's courtroom, 811 Associated Realty Building.

Today's hearing is one of a number designed to bring out the testimony of commission engineers as to the result of their investigations of the corporation's rates for gas. The investigation into the electric department of the utility was dropped by the commission when the corporation's attorneys offered a $737,000 reduction in electric rates for 1930.

Paul Overton, chief, and Herman Phleger, special counsel for the utility company, are scheduled to present today schedules and other evidence to refute charges of commission engineers that the company's gas earnings are excessive.

BELT LINE FUND STILL PUZZLING

Commission Will Save Large Sum Each Year

Improvement Account Not Allowed by Agreement

Board of Control Fails to Find Answer to Question

Whether the Belt Line Railway should have a capital account to pay for improvements necessary for economic operation and relief of the rail congestion at the harbor was a moot question before the members of the board of control of the line at its meeting in the City Hall yesterday.

Under the agreement between the city and the four railroads for unification of rail facilities at the harbor the Interstate Commerce Commission's permit for the operation prohibits any capital account. The agreement provides that the improvements put in must be paid for by the owner of the property on which it is placed, even though the improvement benefits each railroad in the agreement. The Belt line may spend money only for operation and maintenance.

The reason for this provision is obvious should the unified agreement be terminated at any time there would be no question of ownership of improvements.

LARGE SAVING POSSIBLE

However, it has been found that a track connection between the Southern Pacific line and the city-owned main lead tracks into Wilmington Pier A yard at the foot of Fries avenue, Wilmington, with a crossover in Water street to permit direct entry of Belt Line and Santa Fe trains into the consolidated Wilmington Pier A yard, would save considerable money at a cost of $11,000 for the connection.

The city, which would receive the benefits from the saving, because its revenue under the agreement is based solely on the number of cars operated, is not disposed to pay for the improvement on its land. Neither is the Southern Pacific disposed to spend funds on the connection over its portion of the right of way for the benefit of the others, and then have the trackage as a useless unit on its hands after the unified agreement may be dissolved or has expired.

The other lines are not disposed to put money in a connecting track on city-owned or Southern Pacific land to whic hthey would have no title.

DONATION OPPOSED

Apparently the only way such improvements may be obtained is by a donation by one line or all of them for the benefit of the Belt Line unified operation, and it is contended that railroad business is not conducted in such a manner. The unified operation itself is regarded as a somewhat Utopian move by the railroads for the benefit of the port, and hence later benefiting the carriers by attracting more freight to the harbor.

Yesterday was not the first time the Belt Line situation on improvements became a puzzle. It has been brought up when new freight depots and other facilities were required and the members admit that unless some arrangement is reached on the payments for required improvements, the Belt Line cannot be operated at the highest notch of efficiency.

The members under the unified operation agreement of the Belt Line yesterday signed an additional agreement between the Southern Pacific and the Belt Line covering joint use by the latter of certain tracks of the Southern Pacific located outside the zone of unified operation, which use is necessary to perform switching services at the industry of the Consolidated Lumber Company.

The tracks are located between Grand street and southerly border of Anaheim Boulevard, Wilmington.

George F. Squires, general manager of the Belt Line, reported that 11,659 cars were handled in the unified zone during December, last. The number of miles of track operated was 128,688 and aggregate man hours worked for the month was 26,501 hours, by engineers, firemen and yardmen.

The revenue to Los Angeles was $11,659, at $1 a car of freight handled. The total volume of freight checked into Belt Line cars was 117,975 tons.

Under operation maintenance nine track crossings were resurfaced, one crossing renewed, track work completed at street crossing of Pacific Dock stop, tie renewals and zone operation limit signs installed.

CLARA AND LON ARE "IT" WITH THEATER OWNERS

Clara Bow and Lon Chaney were the leading box-office money-makers for 1929, according to the results of the annual poll of theater owners by the Exhibitors' Herald-World, released yesterday. Miss Bow led all feminine stars by a wide margin, receiving a total of 122 votes, both silent and sound, as against fifty-eight for Colleen Moore.

The actresses who followed Miss Bow and Miss Moore include in order, Nancy Carroll, Joan Crawford, Greta Garbo, Bebe Daniels, Alice White, Laura La Plante, Norma Shearer, Billie Dove, Dolores Del Rio, Mary Pickford, Marion Davies, Betty Compson and Janet Gaynor.

With a total of eighty-five votes Chaney led the male stars, followed in order by William Haines, Hoot Gibson, "Buddy" Rogers, Richard Barthelmess, Ken Maynard, Tom Mix, Richard Dix, Ramon Novarro, Al Jolson, George Bancroft, Jack Holt, Gary Cooper, Milton Sills, John Gilbert, William Boyd, Douglas Fairbanks and Harold Lloyd.

The winners of the poll in the past were Colleen Moore and Tom Mix, 1926 and 1927, with Clara Bow and Lon Chaney heading the list in 1928 and 1929.

The Dane-Arthur combination headed the list of so-called film teams, Gaynor and Farrell ranking second with Hatton and Beery and Laurel and Hardy third and fourth, respectively. Rin-Tin-Tin is still the most popular box-office attraction among animal actors.

ANGELENOS HEAR BRITISH NOTABLE

VIEWS GIVEN BY FITTS ON CRIME CURB

Advocates Institutions for First Offenders in Bible Institute Address

Mercy for the man who, through weakness, is guilty of wrongdoing, special institutions, education and kindly, scientific treatment of young criminals, but no quarter for the professional criminal, whom he termed incurable, were advocated by Dist.-Atty. Fitts in his address yesterday before the Presbyterian Ministers' Association at the Bible Institute.

"The crime problem must be faced squarely and dealt with definitely and fearlessly," said Mr. Fitts. "Those who say that talking about crime hurts business and who would play the part of the ostrich instead of coming out in the open and trying to clean things up are the best allies of the underworld. At least that is my idea of handling crime and criminals, and if the people of this county don't like my method they have the recall. I am trying to do my duty toward my fellow-citizens, now that I am in office, an office, by the way, which I did not seek."

Declaring that in the majority of cases the person sent to prison will emerge a criminal, even if not a criminal when he enters the penal institution, Mr. Fitts said that every means possible should be used to keep men and women from having to serve prison sentences. When it is necessary to send young boys to penal institutions they never should be placed in the company of hardened criminals, the speaker said.

BODY OF MAN FOUND IN CANYON IDENTIFIED

A body found yesterday in Topango Canyon was identified late last night as that of Robert A. Watt of 1338 West Fiftieth street. While no marks of violence were found on the body, an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death was ordered by the Sheriff. Mrs. M. B. Gere of Fernwood street, Topango Canyon, found the dead man lying in the road at Fernwood and Grandview streets. Deputy Fire Warden Butler, who was notified, called the Sheriff's homicide squad. The deputies learned that Watt had left home to go to Santa Monica. The body was taken to the Todd & Leslie mortuary.

PIONEERS MEET TONIGHT

ENGLISH UNION HEARS FOUNDER

Hon. Mrs. Alfred Lyttleton Addresses Session

Enthusiastic Banquet Given Her at Town Hall

Visitor and Daughter Here on Coast Sojourn

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Dame Edith of the British Empire, otherwise known as the Hon. Mrs. Alfred Lyttleton, together with her daughter, Lady Craik, were the occasion of a large and enthusiastic banquet at the Town House last night.

The visitors arrived from Santa Barbara yesterday, having sojourned there on their way back from the Orient, where Mrs. Lyttleton was official British delegate to the conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations in Tokio. They will reside at the Woman's Athletic Club whilst here.

The banquet was under the auspices of the English-Speaking Union, which functions under the guidance of Mrs. John C. MacFarland, with the blessing of Rt. Rev. Bertrand Stevens, who presided on this occasion.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS TOLD

In introducing Mrs. Lyttleton, he told of her manifold interests and services, not alone to Britain but to international affairs in general. The title of Dame of the British Empire, the highest accorded to women as individuals, was conferred upon her for signal war service . . . specifically in connection with Belgian relief and as assistant minister of agriculture. Mrs. Lyttleton was also one of the founders of the English-Speaking Union, which now has branches in every English-speaking country in the world.

Mrs. Lyttleton was dressed in black lace and pearls, and has pretty snow-white hair which lends her great distinction. She gave her address in an easy, conversational manner, adorned here and there with a sparkle of humor . . . not forgetting to mention the specific charms of our climate and the ten days of glorious sunshine she was allowed to enjoy before our ardent desire for rain was gratified.

ENGLISH-SPEAKING UNION

Thereafter her talk was of the English Speaking Union . . . of what it is, what it might and will become. The English-speaking races, she said, have three great virtues in common . . . their love of freedom, their tolerance for the ideas of others and their sense of justice.

The speaker felt that the United States indeed is becoming one of the greatest nations in the world . . . but they should not feel that world dominance is being bestowed upon them, but rather upon the English-speaking peoples of the world. In a remote future, she felt, some of the great English-speaking dominions will become as powerful as America is today.

Then Mrs. Lyttleton offered the English-speaking Union a sly admonition. In bringing such a gathering together as that she was addressing, they were only encompassing people who already like and understand each other. She wanted to see "the stenographers, the teachers and the sort of people who read the Hearst newspapers" brought into the fold. To this end scholarships should be formed, as is done by the London branch, for providing the wherewithal for ordinary people, preferably those dealing with children, to visit each others' countries. England had sent numerous school-teachers to America, who returned to boost and praise. These English teachers brought back a vast respect for American systems of education, just as American visitors to England bring back here.

Lady Craik, Mrs. Lyttleton's daughter, preferred not to speak, having recently been bereaved, Sir George having died suddenly just before they left England four months ago.

Today the visitors will see Hollywood's studios, in which they are frankly interested. During the banquet telegrams galore arrived inviting Mrs. Lyttleton to speak before various organizations.

UNEMPLOYED WILL ELECT

Albert S. Falk, secretary of the International Unemployed Conference, yesterday announced that election of executive committees of that organization will be conducted Thursday evening at the new headquarters, 530 Stanford avenue. An entertainment will be given and refreshments will be served. Membership in the organization is open to union and non-union men.

PREACHERS PRAISE HOOVER

Methodists Laud Efforts for Law Enforcement; World Court Proposition Favored

Resolutions praising President Hoover for his intense interest in law enforcement and his efforts in behalf of world peace were adopted yesterday at First Methodist Episcopal Church by the Methodist preachers' meeting and ordered sent to the President and to California's representatives at Washington.

Another resolution passed by the ministers urged California's Senators to give favorable consideration to the proposition that America enter the World Court.

Dean B. M. Woods of the University of California, in an address on "State Education," commended the educational trend which stresses the value of self-reliance on the part of students and which also emphasizes the need for a scientific attitude toward life.

SCIENCE AND RELIGION

"Science, however, is not a substitute for character and religion," said Dr. Woods. "Science is a method and religion is a fact and there is no antagonism between them. Adoption of courses in ethics and the study of comparative religions is good, yet it must be remembered that religion is something to be lived, not merely talked about."

Speaking on "World Peace," Dr. H. A. Atkinson, secretary of the World Conference for International Peace Through Religion, said that never before in history has there been such a concerted move on the part of adherents of various faiths to co-operate for world brotherhood.

Discussing a conference of delegates of many religions which it is planned to conduct at Geneva in 1931, Dr. Atkinson said that such a conclave will make for general understanding and tolerance in religious matters and will help to unite devotees of all faiths in a program for humanity's advancement.

CO-OPERATION SIGHTED

Describing an interview with Mahatma Gandhi, to whom he referred as one of the greatest spiritual leaders of history, and telling of his meeting with other leaders in the realm of religion, Dr. Atkinson said that all churches and sects of the world are preparing to work together in combating the antireligious element of society in all countries, especially in Russia.

Another speaker was Mrs. David Covell, superintendent of the Midnight Mission, who told of the work being done at that institution in feeding, clothing and providing lodging for unemployed men and in obtaining employment for them.

It was announced that Dr. Atkinson will speak at Occidental College chapel at 11 a.m. tomorrow, and that at noon he will address the Kiwanis Club at the Biltmore.

BELIEVE IN SIGNS?

Hollywood Theater sports an electric sign seven stories high and a block long. Declared to be the biggest illuminated advertisement in the world. No, it isn't in Los Angeles. It is on the rugged face of the new Hollywood Theater in New York. It is the star production on the Great White Way.

THE PEACE PRIZE

The Woodrow Wilson peace prize of $25,000 for 1929 was awarded to the League of Nations for its ten years of consistent labor for world peace. Woodrow Wilson was largely responsible for the League and now that organization will spend this prize money for a Wilson memorial in its new home. To the uninitiated this might seem like a mutual scratching of backs, but it is perfectly all right.

AFTER MANY YEARS

At considerable cost officers have trailed and arrested a miscreant who is suspected of having violated the Mann Act some seven years ago. He is thought to have journeyed to Washington with a woman who was not his real wife. Of course the authorities may have overlooked a few bandits and bootleggers while hunting down this malefactor, but it is a fine thing to realize that the sinner cannot get away with his sin. It may take years to find him out, but the pursuit is relentless—at least in some cases.

THE MAT GAME

The Illinois Athletic Commission has gravely assumed the task of settling the heavyweight wrestling championship, which is being struggled over on local mats every few weeks. The commission serves notice that an elimination contest should be staged for the purpose of selecting the logical contenders and then determining the big boss. If the behemoths refuse to wrestle in Illinois under these terms the commissioners may get huffy and name Bull Montana champion. The New York commission assumes to control the boxers and now the Illinois group takes over the wrestlers.

LADY LUCK

Lady Luck may have gotten the breaks the past year and she may be the goddess of many in 1930. However, Mark Sullivan quotes Will Hays as saying: "Things don't happen—they are brought about." And then he goes on to tell about this "little bringer-about" who hardly weighs a hundred pounds.

Will Hays brought about the big majority for Harding in 1920. He brought about some things in the mail service immediately after. He had something to do with raising $75,000,000 for the worn-out preachers of the Presbyterian church. But the largest thing he brought about as president of the Motion Pictures Producers and Distributors of America was the "exclusion of crime scandals from news reels, the 'formula' by which undesirable books and plays are kept off the screen and the adoption of eleven 'don'ts' for the twenty-six 'be-careful's.'"

He has drawn considerable criticism for not having done more. And there is much to be done, or he would be without a job. However, it is patent that things do not just happen.

Lady Luck may be courted by the haters; but she will never become the mistress of the dead in earnest. The great business concerns will yet continue to succeed by intelligence and consistent toil.

Lady Luck may be the goddess of the stock market; but good business for 1930 will depend on toil. Cleaning up civic life will not be a happen so, nor a spuradic snort of the sensationalist; but the result of kindly, faithful devotion. Enforcing prohibition will be the product of Hooverizing and not of Borah boorishness.

The criminal are ever superstitious. Idlers and vicious are the pawns of fate. They are shoved about by folks who are playing the game. Lady Luck never makes a good wife—not even a good stenographer. As a homebody, she leaves nothing but vanishing Americans.

A QUESTION OF HONESTY

When the City Council starts its hearing Thursday on the application of the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company to build and operate a slurry mill and quarry in Santa Ynez Canyon, it will have before it the question of whether the zoning ordinances of the city mean what they say, or whether they can be overridden every time an influential commercial interest decides it is worth while.

If the Council permits the intrusion of heavy industry into an area set aside for single-family residences exclusively and developed for seven years as a fine home section, then the zoning ordinances give no protection whatever and might as well be repealed. The repeal will serve honest notice on the world that Los Angeles does not care how it grows. Granting the permit serves the same sort of notice, but does it in an underhand, hypocritical way. It is better for property owners to understand outright that they have no protection, that the city will not aid them in preserving the kind of neighborhood they want and have paid high prices to live in, and that, so far as the city is concerned, heavy industry may locate anywhere that it is not barred by private restriction, than that the city should appear to extend protection with one hand and withdraw it with the other.

There is no question that the Bell cement plant scheme is not wanted by the majority of the property owners within a few miles of its proposed location; they are virtually a unit in protesting against it. These people know that no matter how this heavy industrial plant is camouflaged, no matter what pains are taken to prevent it from becoming a nuisance, it will always be a nuisance, actual or potential, and that its very presence depreciates the value of their property and makes it less desirable. They do not care to take any chances. The city cannot let anybody take a chance without breaking faith.

In fact, if this scheme is approved by the Council there will be two breaches of faith—one by the city and one by the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company, which, in every land deed and contract, placed a stipulation forbidding industrial development, and by inference at least bound itself not to make any industrial development.

Since the faith of Alphonzo Bell (who for all practical purposes is the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company) was pledged only inferentially, it may be technically legal for him to betray it, but the repudiation reflects no credit upon him and certainly should not be sanctioned by the city. Any City Councilman who votes for this permit votes his approval of sharp practice that verges upon moral dishonesty.

The question of whether Bell has made investments in the Santa Ynez Canyon area from which he will be unable to make the largest possible return if the present zoning is retained, is beside the point, as was shown by United States Judge James in a recent case involving the right of the Standard Oil Company to drill near the Hillcrest Country Club. Drilling was not permitted.

"A man might make a very large investment in city lots which were at the time clear of restrictions and with the intent to erect a large business thereon," said Judge James, "and the next day the city might adopt an ordinance of legal effect upon him, which would so zone his property as to prevent his making the most productive use of it possible. The loss he would suffer he would have to endure for the general good."

The case for retaining the present zoning is even stronger than the illustration given by Judge James, since the Zone A blanket was spread in large part at the request of the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company, which now seeks to have it removed, and that company obtained large profits through the sale of residence lots at prices substantially higher than would have been the case but for the zoning.

If the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company suffers a loss—it could, at most, be only a theoretical loss since there is no certainty the Bell scheme is commercially feasible—it is one it should endure for the general good.

A quarry and slurry mill in that particular locality is most decidedly out of place, and so is a pipe line carrying limestone dust into a pleasure bay, even if either could be operated so as not to be objectionable from the standpoint of dust, noise and pollution of air and water. But the question of whether the city zoning ordinances shall be changed for purely commercial reasons is a much bigger question, and the Council's decision on it is one which will have far-reaching effect on the city's future.

The city could better afford to give Bell $1,000,000 out of the city treasury outright than to grant him this permit. It would quickly recoup the gift from the increase in taxable values that would ensue if the honesty and good faith of the zoning ordinance is upheld in letter and spirit.

OUR CONGRATULATIONS

Our congratulations for an excellent start go to Col. Hersey, the suave and able government meteorologist for this district, who succeeded where Padre Ricard failed and personally escorted the first real precipitation of the season. It is, as we said, an excellent start, needing but to be followed up with some more of the same. By the time Col. Hersey has responded to about forty encores Southern California will be pretty well taken care of for another year.

Too much enthusiasm on Col. Hersey's part, of course, is not desirable; in rainfall there is great virtue in moderation, though we think the colonel so far has rather erred on the side of restraint. But a nice half-inch or even inch or two-inch drizzle, repeated at frequent intervals, hurts the feelings of very few and by most is thoroughly enjoyed. We hope the colonel will note these remarks and be guided by them in h' future conduct. We would not seem to criticise and trust the advice will be taken in good part.

It is an agreeable disappointment not to have Padre Ricard's forecast of a wholly dry January fulfilled. We are sure the Padre meant well—he is reported to be the kindliest of men—but at the same time we are glad he was wrong and hope that the succeeding days will prove him wronger than he ever was in his life. Between the good padre, the presently quiescent Mr. Hatfield, once known as the rain-maker, and Col. Hersey, our money is on the colonel.

He produces the results!

KEEP IT IN THE BOX

A six-pound icicle fell on the head of an Illinois man and instantly killed him. Anyhow, this is something that cannot happen in Southern California.

TO A VERY YOUNG BABY
By James J. Montague

Wake up at night just as much as you please
And cry till your small face is blue.
Pray why should your parents recline at their ease
When they should be attending to you?
When they were just babies they did as they chose,
Kicking up the old deuce of a row,
When their fathers and mothers were seeking repose,
Why shouldn't you do the same now?

Thrust into your mouth anything you may find
On the bed or the chair or the floor.
There will not be a doubt in your infantile mind
That that is what fingers are for.
Chew the edge of the rug with your first little tooth
Till somebody plucks you away.
That is merely the instinct of primitive youth,
Whatever your parents may say.

When visitors come, writhe and struggle and kick
And refuse to be coaxed or beguiled.
They will say: "Poor o'l fellow, perhaps he is sick."
But they'll mean: "What a terrible child!"
But strangers are nothing whatever to you,
They are merely queer people who blink
And peer in your little dim eyes and say "Goo!"
So why should you care what they think?

You well can afford to be surly or cross
And scowl at whomever you see;
At present you sit in the seat of a boss
But your rule will be short—believe me.
Once out of the cradle your years will be spent
On a totally different plan,
So use the brief power that fortune has sent
And do what you please while you can!

LEE SIDE O' LA
By Lee Shippey

AN ALHAMBRA woman is thinking of suing for divorce—all because of a Christmas tie.

When her husband unwrapped it Christmas morning he took one long, overpowered look at it and then exclaimed:

"Darling, it's just what I needed! And what exquisite taste! I never could have picked out such a lovely tie for myself. I never knew a tie could be so beautiful."

"You really like it?"

"I love it!"

(Two hours elapse.)

She (teasingly:) I don't believe you really like my present one bit.

He: But I assure you I do.

(Next morning at breakfast.)

She: I'm sorry you don't really like my present.

He (deep in paper;) What say?

She: I say I'm sorry you don't really like my present.

He: But I've told you I do.

(Morning following, at breakfast.)

She: Oh, dear me! It's no use. I was so hoping you'd like my present, but I know you don't, one bit.

He (engrossed in paper:) Huh?

She: I s-s-s-say I'm s-s-s-sorry—oh, boo-hoo-hoo!

And so she's thinking of alleging mental cruelty, on the ground that he's cold, unresponsive and inclined to sneer at her efforts to make home happy. Because, the brute, he's only grown ecstatic about the tie four times!

Shows Up California Hokum

I went out to the Lion Farm
And saw the lions prance,
I journeyed to the Ostrich Farm
And saw an ostrich dance,
I visited the Monkey Farm
And had a pack of fun,
And at the Alligator Farm
Saw saurians bathe in sun.
And so I thought: "There is no lurk
In California farms.
I'll visit all the others,
Assured of finding charms.
Alas! My trustful nature
Soon got a painful scrape—
I sought an apiary nest,
And never found an ape!

Hollywood Dreams

Mr. Leeside: Though I am a recent arrival from New York, I already can compliment you Southern Californins on truthful advertising. Last evening while my wife and I were seeing a show, our 6-year-old got into a box of candy we'd carelessly failed to hide, and ate all of it. The candy was labeled "Dreams of Hollywood"—and, gosh! what nightmares she had!—C. H.

The name of Agua Caliente, the gambling resort on the border, means "hot water." And that's just what a lot of the people who go there get into.

We Discover a Poet

Next time the Wisconsin Society of Southern California holds a meeting or picnic it should ask Mrs. Clara Ira von Ravn, 1718 North Vine street, to read the beautiful and stirring poem, "A Song of Wisconsin Waters," recently featured Journal. As an Indian legend, it would interest anyone, and we wish to compliment the Journal for giving it a four-column spread, with art.

Practically Over

Four richly dressed women who looked as if they had all the luck there was were taking the short cut across the entrance to Warner Brothers' Downtown yesterday when one of them stopped abruptly in the middle of a sentence.

"Oh, there's a penny!" she cried. "I'm going to get it, for luck!"

She almost bowled over a newsboy and scuffed a $15 shoe in her eagerness. But she got the penny and came up beaming.

"As I was saying," she said, evidently taking up her conversation where she had dropped it like a hot potato, "the age of superstition is practically over. That's why religion has such a hard time nowadays."

The Lanes of Dream

The Lanes of Dream—they lead me out
Along the blossomed ways,
Where little children romp and shout,
And belong are the days.
The Lanes of Dream are flower-lined,
And restful are the nooks,
And down its shady paths I find
Sweet songs in flowing brooks.

The Lanes of Dream, for weary feet,
Are paths of peace and love;
There dozy clover blossoms greet
The sun, which smiles above.
The Lanes of Dream are lanes of light,
Where little toddlers run,
When Day puts on her cap of Night,
And playtime hours are done.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

SENATOR NORRIS
(Chicago Tribune)

Senator Norris, persuaded that there is a conspiracy to weaken what he calls the progressive principles of government, has reconsidered his intention to retire and will run again for the Senatorship. He will run, of course, as a Republican, although his principles, so far as we have been able to make them out, are contrary to those of the Republican party, and his activities as Senator have been pretty generally in opposition to the party organization. Senator Norris is not much more of a Republican than Mr. Thomas, the former Socialist candidate for the Presidency, but he finds it advantageous to run in a Republican primary and get the benefit of Republican partisanship at elections.

If progressivism means the progressive aggrandizement of the political State, the progressive increase of the functions of political government, the progressive extension of government regulation of private affairs, the persistent growth of bureaucracy and government expenditures, the progressive taking over by politicians and government officials of American business and the discipline of private conscience and conduct, then progressivism is no longer Republican and its representatives should not be accepted as Republicans.

Senator Norris, we have no doubt, is a sincere progressive in this sense. He has a right to his opinion, but if he is as high minded as he would have othe. politicians be he would not borrow the prestige and aid of a party whose principles are at variance with his own.

VICTORY OVER CALIFORNIA
[New York Times]

In Florida the name of Prof. Herman Kurz of the State College for Women at Tallahassee should be called blessed. For he has found a giant cypress, with a trunk over fifteen feet in diameter, which he believes is 2800 years old and therefore the senior of the California redwoods. Every one who knows anything knows about the annual winter war between the two American resort commonwealths. And a discovery like this of Prof. Kurz, while but a skirmish in the war, is expected by Floridians to scatter terror among California hotel-keepers.

There has been dispute as to the climatic advantages of the two States. Florida's fruit has contended against California's fruit. California's rugged coast line has been paralleled with the golden sands on which Florida enters the seas. But up to this time there had been no contest of the statement that in trees of very old family California was paramount. Yet this cypress of Prof. Kurz's, he says, "some time before Christ, had attained a diameter of several feet; fungus gnawed into its heartwood when Cicero orated for the cause of Rome; a violent storm tore off some limbs perhaps when Caesar was in Gaul." It will take a lot of thinking out West to match that.

THE ONE-DAY WEEK
[Philadelphia Public Ledger]

Having assured himself of four more years in office, Mayor Walker of New York City has made considerable improvement in his working schedule. He visited City Hall on Thursday for the first time in a week and left Friday for Chicago on another outing. Much has been said and written about the five-day week. It has even been predicted that in some future utopia the four-day week would prevail. But this is the first time, so far as the records show, that a one-day week has been put into effect.

LETTERS TO The Times

Canadian Newspaper Enterprise

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] At Liverpool, Nova Scotia, Can., there was recently opened a $14,000,000 paper mill. Last year there was invested in Canadian mills the sum of $400,000,000 and $47,000,000 was paid out in wages. The process of making paper from pulp was discovered by Charles Feverty of Halifax and given to the world, though for a time the Germans claimed the credit of it. Most of the paper used in the States comes from Canada, that country being the world's largest exporter.

To celebrate the mill opening the Halifax Daily Herald issued a special edition of sixty pages, the paper being the product of the mill—containing a complete description of the enterprise and on the opening day the manager, W. H. Dennis, and his associates went down to the works, 100 miles distant, installed a linotype, printing press and a complete photo-engraving plant and issued the first and only edition of the Mersey Times before the assembled spectators. Photos were taken after the arrival of the train and the plates made and printed.

In view of such unparalleled enterprise it is not much wonder that the Halifax Herald staff has been credited with being "about the livest bunch of newspaper men in the world."

Spanish Lighthouses

OLIVE VIEW, Jan. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As part of a feature written by Harry Carr treating of early Spanish architecture and recently published in The Times, a caption over the artistic conception of Charles Owens referred to the lighthouse on Point Loma as "old Spanish." That such designation is erroneous is indicated by a letter to the writer from G. R. Putnam, Commissioner of Lighthouses, Department of Commerce, who says therein:

"Regarding the history of the lighthouse erected on Point Loma headland between 1853 and 1855 this is not a Spanish lighthouse. On the contrary, it was established in 1855 under acts of Congress approved September 28, 1850, and August 4, 1854. The station was established on its present site in 1891, because prior to that time it was the highest light in the United States, its focal plane being 462 feet above the sea. It seems that when the station was built an old Mexican fort existed in the neighborhood and tile taken from the fort was used for the floor and cellar. There may have been a lighthouse on the ramparts of this fort, but it is only a matter of conjecture—but the fact that the old tower is referred to so often as the 'old Spanish lighthouse' is connected in some way with the old Mexican fort."

Mr. Putnam also said that "in so far as this bureau is aware, there were never any Spanish lighthouses on what is now the Pacific Coast of the United States."

Save What We Have

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] One hears much discussion of the need for an assured sufficient water supply for Los Angeles. It is not only possible but highly practicable, to purify and redeposit our waste water in the natural underground reservoirs. By systems in use in many places in the world and well known to sanitary engineers, solids could be removed and either treated for fertilizer or incinerated. The water could be pumped to high ground surrounding our valley and after proper treatment could be stored in large settling basins and allowed to percolate slowly back into the earth where it would be again available. The treatment used upon the water and the long process of percolation would purify the water and render it safe for irrigation and human consumption.

Any valley is limited in its population to the available water supply. True, we have projects under way to bring more water to Los Angeles, but why continue to waste our local supply?

ONLY A ROSE?

A rose is but a rose. It holds its place
For sunny day or two beneath the sky,
A pink or golden bit of Nature's grace.

Each silken petal on the earth will lie
When vagrant breezes loose its tenuous hold.
A rose is but a rose—to bloom and die.

But more! That flower springing from the mold
Exemplifies a great Creator's thought.
A secret lies within the velvet fold.

The wisest of the earth are thereby brought
To seek the light transmitted through a clod
And find he is successful who has caught
The fragrance that the rose derives from God.

THE SITUATION AT APIA

BY E. NOBLE CALDWELL

The regrettable incident at Apia, Western Samoa, which resulted in the killing of one white man and eight Samoans, including Chief Tamasese, is one of the several clashes between the Mau and the administration which might give, to those unfamiliar with the circumstances, the impression that New Zealand was making a poor job of administering the mandate intrusted to her by the League of Nations. But it was not a mere matter of geography which brought this high obligation to the little South Sea dominion. It was her remarkable sagacity and proven success in administering the affairs of the Rarotongans and Niueans. And the Samoan mandate strictly stipulated that the policy of government should "promote the moral and material well-being and the social progress of the Samoans."

The Mau, a minority organization in the beginning and still remaining decidedly such, was not a voice against oppression, but the outcome of the headiness of ten years of sudden prosperity, coupled possibly with an unconscious hold-over sentiment against an undeniably harsh rule of the previous twenty-five years. Young Tamasese, handsome giant, with a flair for leadership among his people, yet with a mind wholly untutored in intrigue, lent himself to this movement, serving fancied martyrdom in "gaol," and even exile, when the patience of the administration became exhausted with his persistent seditious activities.

The first open demonstration of the Mau was at the three-day celebration of the King's birthday in June of 1927, when they declined to participate with the thousands of loyal Samoans who had gathered on the historic Mulinu'u to pay tribute to the Governor. Upon this occasion they formally displayed purple as their insurgent badge and since this time members of the organization have been identified by the color of their lava lavas, or loin cloths. Like rowdy schoolboys they taunted the loyal men and at the close of the fa'alolo, the ceremonial presentation of food to the Governor and his staff and the competitive tribal dances, there was a mild riot with throwing of stones, resulting in a few cuts and bruises and a half-dozen arrests by the dignified and quiet native police. Even then the Governor, Sir George Richardson, who was soon to close his second three-year term, hoped it was only a temperamental flurry which would subside if let alone. Subsequent developments soon proved its origin in trade influences which were opposing New Zealand's altruistic methods of promoting native resources.

The average Samoan, like other carefree Polynesians, has had little need of business acumen, and the instilling of the right principle of trade discernment has been one of the difficult problems. But now he sees his copra crop doubling and trebling and 20,000 acres of additional cocoanut area planted; sees improved living conditions with luxuries such as good roads and an automobile to bowl along in instead of a weary trot on a sweating pony stumbling and slipping on a muddy trail; adequate schools and postal savings accounts which initiate him into the mysteries of accumulative interests. In addition, he has his own native Parliament, his own councils and committees and levies his own taxes with specific amounts for various types of schools, including manual arts and agricultural, for roads and bridges, for water supply and electrical developments. All executive positions of island affairs are held by Samoans, the administration holding only those responsible to the New Zealand government.

That the agitations of the Mau can but scratch the surface of this stable advancement is the conviction of the League of Nations, which in 1928 heard the entire matter through at Geneva from both sides and issued a formal commendation and indorsement of the mandated government, at the same time denouncing emphatically the insurgent activities of the Mau.

The rumpus about taxes and the cutting down of cocoanut trees—if this were done it would be to thin the grove and increase productivity—are trumped-up excuses for annoying the administration. The serious phase is their trying to force their members, as well as loyal Samoans, to sell copra exclusively to designated traders, imposing fines and perpetrating raids upon planters who sell to any other. Native police are being ambushed and attacked when off duty and resisted when on duty. That the Fijians on one hand have a British colonial government and the Tongans on the other are an independent principality with only a British protectorate has been held an issue, but even this is repudiated by those who think the thing through and appreciate the advantages of economic affiliance with New Zealand as well as the educational and social progress resulting from her many initiative measures to that end.

Unique Bequest to Brides

Curious terms of an old bequest to St. Cyprus are recalled by a question of administration raised by the newly constituted Brechin and Fordoun Presbytery in Scotland. It is known as the Straton fund, and the interest from £300, divided annually in four equal parts, is given to the youngest, oldest, tallest and shortest brides married in the Established Church. Each of the brides receives $35. The fund has been administered since its inception, only forty years ago, by Rev. R. Davidson, pastor of the church for fifty-one years.

THE PREACHERS

On Sunday morning countless preachers expound the sacred Word, and by a multitude of creatures their message is heard. One preacher in a gorgeous building hands out his helpful hints; the edifice is grand with gilding and glass of noble tints. And when the pastor's not expounding, when, resting, he is still, we hear the priceless organ sounding, and feel an inward thrill. Another church is old and shaking, a shack all out of style; but there some clergyman is making an effort worth the while. One preacher makes the welkin tremble for half a dozen souls; another sees the crowds assemble when his high language rolls. On Sunday countless men are preaching, and they have divers creeds; but one great lesson they are teaching, to answer human needs. They all point out the fact that sinning brings punishment in train, that grief's the only prize we're winning for our various lives in vain. One preacher may be gravely doubting me or you or treasured tale, and in his heart he may be flouting both Jonah and the whale. Another may believe in roasting our modern work and way, insisting that we'll all be toasting upon some dreadful day. But all the time they are insisting on virtue's worth and charm; they're always wotting, always wishing, that sin's a false alarm. And no, however much they differ on ways of reaching bliss, they make our moral backbones stiffer by preaching truths like this: that sin can only gall and fret us, defeat us and annoy; that wickedness will never get us a prize we can enjoy.

BAUMGARTEKER HUNT REVIVED

Missing Vineyardist Seen in Auto by Couple

Vanished at 2:30 p.m. on Day He Disappeared

New Police Theory Upset by New Evidence

Efforts were again stirred up in the frantic search for Frank Baumgarteker, wealthy vineyardist missing since November 25, last, when John Van Fleet, manager of the Commerce Building and Loan Association and friend of the missing man, reported to police yesterday that he and his wife saw Baumgarteker with two men at Sixth and Los Angeles streets at 2:30 p.m. on the day he disappeared, according to Captain of Detectives Cato.

Efforts, according to the records of the investigation, Baumgarteker was last seen at 1:15 p.m. that day by his business partner, Robert Demetris, and an attorney, when he left them after lunching at a Spring-street cafe on Main and Spring streets. The first discovery of the missing man's automobile in a San Diego garage several days after the disappearance it was learned the car had been driven there about 10 p.m. the same day by a man in a brown coat.

STATE WHEEL OF CAR

The information given by Mr. Van Fleet, according to Capt. Cato, was that the missing wine merchant apparently kept a rendezvous with some one in this city lasting an hour and fifteen minutes before he started to drive to San Diego as the original theory of police suggested. Though admitting that this information is highly significant, Capt. Cato declared he doubted if ever being able to ascertain what occurred during that hour and fifteen minutes or the identity of the two men seen with Baumgarteker because of the meager clues to work on.

Van Fleet observed by Mr. and Mrs. Van Fleet, Baumgarteker was sitting alone in the front seat of his automobile purple touring car driven by one of the two men were seated in the rear compartment. The only description Mr. Van Fleet could give, Cato said, was that one of the men was tall and well dressed in a dark overcoat, while his companion was short of stature.

CERTAIN OF TIME

Mr. Van Fleet was certain of the time, Cato said, as he had just glanced at his watch to estimate the hour when he and his wife would reach their home at 909 East H street, Ontario.

"We had just obtained our car from an auto park at Sixth and Los Angeles streets," Van Fleet said, according to Cato, "and were waiting for a lull in the cross-town traffic when we saw Mr. Baumgarteker go by. His purple car was easily identifiable and I remarked to my wife: 'There goes Baumy,' as we often called him."

Mr. Van Fleet declared that he was making man's partner, Mr. Demetris, about the occurrence only after he read of the mysterious disappearance, according to Cato.

FEDERAL AGENTS SEIZE BAUMGARTEKER WINERY

Jack Demond, a truck driver, was arrested yesterday by Federal dry agents as he left the plant of the Italian Grape Products Company at Main Avenue 19, according to a report of Dry Administrator Woods.

Frank Baumgarteker, missing winery man, is reported to be a part owner of this place.

It is charged in a complaint issued by United States Commissioner Head, that Demond was transporting 150 gallons of brandy. Federal agents took charge of the winery in order to make an inventory.

JAPANESE TO PRESENT PROGRAM

Students Will Give Dances and Drama

They Will Serve Tea at Social Affair

JAPANESE students of the University of Southern California, under the joint auspices of the Academy of Japanese Culture of the University of International Relations and the Japanese Trojan Students' Club, will present a program of musical numbers, dances and drama at 8 o'clock tonight in Bovard Auditorium, 2551 University avenue.

The program has been arranged by Dr. H. Von Korber and Ken Kazawa of the department of oriental studies. President R. B. Von KleinSmid will open the entertainment with an address of welcome. At the close of the program a reception will be held in the president's parlors, at which Japanese co-eds in native costumes will serve tea.

Two forms of Japanese drama will be presented, the Noh drama, having its origin in the Buddhist religion and used only in the courts of emperors and feudal lords, and the Kabuki drama, originating among the common people and dealing with the human soul.

Students assisting in the arrangements are Kaketiro Ohno, vice-president of the Japanese Trojan Students' Club, and a graduate of Kelo University, Japan. He is being assisted by Shigeru Hashii, president of the club.

DEAN OF COLUMNISTS HERE "TO WARM FEET"

With the same merry twinkle in his eye and the same measure of drollery to his utterances, A. L. Bixby, venerable journalist and intimate of many of the great in journalism, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday again to spend a winter here in order, as he puts it, that he will find it possible to keep his feet warm. Mr. Bixby, 73-year-old columnist of the Nebraska State Journal of Lincoln, comes here every year to escape the fury of the midwestern Storm King, and declares he likes it better every time.

A. L. Bixby

The trip, however, is not entirely in the nature of a vacation, for Mr. Bixby writes his daily column even during his absence from his desk. It takes form on his typewriter during the morning hours, and a few minutes later is on its way to the paper. He has written the column, under the title of "Daily Drift," for thirty-eight years, and is regarded as the dean of American columnists.

Recalling events of the past year, Mr. Bixby told how he had silenced one menace to his life, liberty and pursuit of happiness. Near his home in Lincoln, he explained, lives a rather elderly woman who each morning accosted him and begged a ride to town. For weeks he sought in vain for some means of escaping her request without having to refuse her the lift. One day he asked her why she was so anxious, feeble and infirm as she was, to make the trip to the heart of the city.

"Well, there's a plastic surgeon there," she said, "and I want to have my face lifted."

"Madame—why don't you have it removed?" inquired the columnist.

The woman moved out of the neighborhood.

JAPANESE CLUB DOOR KEPT OPEN

Little Tokio Organization Loses Contention

Injunction Against Entry of Officers Dissolved

Members Frightened Away, Secretary Complains

A court injunction should not issue against police officers to restrain them from entering the premises of a club, unless it be shown that their entry results in irreparable injury which threatens to be continuous.

Basing his decision upon the above principles, Superior Judge Yankwich yesterday refused to issue a permanent injunction against former Chief of Police Davis and officers of the city's vice squad to prevent their entering the premises of the Little Tokio Social Club on East Jackson street.

OFFICERS' VISITS IRK

In its complaint the club asserted that repeatedly officers of the police department had entered the club without a warrant. On the filing of the complaint a temporary restraining order was issued enjoining the Chief of Police and his men from entering the premises of the club without a warrant.

Whether a permanent injunction should be issued came up before Judge Yankwich last week, after which he took his decision under submission until yesterday.

The testimony at the hearing showed that during the past two years the doors of the club had been opened whenever the officers called, except on three occasions, when the officers had to wait a few minutes before gaining admission.

One of the officers testified that he had gone into the club on the average of three or four times a week.

JUST LOOKED AROUND

"I went in," the officer testified, "walked about the club room and went out. I did not disturb anybody nor did I use any force on anyone. No one left on seeing me. Only on two occasions in the last two years were arrests made at the place for violations of the look-out gambling ordinance. Two persons arrested were convicted and a third was acquitted."

The secretary of the club testified that the sight of the police officers frightened the members. However, he admitted that no force had been used by the officers, nor had they interfered with or disturbed any of the members.

TIMID MEMBERS

"I think," he said, "some members are staying away, but I cannot say how much the falling off has been."

George E. Dockweiler, deputy City Attorney, representing the police department, argued that the court should not place obstacles in the way of the department in their effort to discover violations of the law.

Judgment was given the defendant by Judge Yankwich, who dissolved the temporary restraining order issued against the police.

NEWS REEL SHOWS RACE THRILLERS

Scot's Grey winning the opening race at the new $2,000,000 Agua Caliente race track is shown graphically in the latest issue of The Times-Universal News Reel, to be released at a group of Southern California theaters. Other fast action sporting scenes in this release show Yale's hockey team crushing Michigan at the Lake Placid Club and a skating contest at Newburgh, N. Y.

Philadelphia's annual New Year's parade of mummers, with 10,000 clowns in fancy garb competing for $30,000 in prizes, viewed by 500,000 spectators, also is shown. Other news reel subjects show blue-ribbon winners at a Boston poultry show, King Victor Emanuel reviewing dare-devil riding by Italian cavalrymen, and the world's biggest dog.

Thrills are furnished in this issue of The Times-Universal News Reel by scenes of a railroad wreck in New Jersey which spilled cars for New Year's Day reception, President Hoover shaking hands with 6300 visitors at the Doumergue of France playing Santa Claus to a party of poor children, and Gen. Jan Smuts of South Africa are notables in the news, all described interestingly by the talking reporter of the Times-Universal News Reel.

Family Relief Funds Sought

Municipal Judge Bullock yesterday asked the Board of Supervisors for $6000 from the failure-to-provide fund for the relief of the families of convicted men working at the county road camp.

When a man is sentenced to the county road camp for failing to provide for his family, the family is paid $1.50 a day for each day that the defendant works on the county roads. Sheriff Traeger operates the camps on the "honor system" as part of the penal facilities of the county.

Lyceum Theater Not Being Razed

The old Lyceum Hall, 231 South Spring street, and not Lyceum Theater, 227 South Spring street, was the scene of the scaffold collapse which injured Contractor J. C. Boggs, 7534 Whitsett street, Saturday. Theater Manager Jacob Gore pointed out yesterday. The hall is being demolished, but the theater, Gore explained, is "going strong and doing a good business and not being torn down." Boggs is at General Hospital, where he was said to be still in a critical condition.

BETTER HOMES PLANS ADMIRED

Santa Barbara Elite View Prize-Winning Designs

Opening of Exhibition Has Flattering Reception

Los Angeles "Times" Lauded for Outstanding Work

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 6.—The arts, the profession, business and society were present at the opening of the exhibition of prize-winning designs of the National Better Homes Competition, at the Builders' Exchange. The exhibition is sponsored by the plans committee of the local Community Arts' Association, the Santa Barbara Chapter of the American Institute of Architects and the Builders' Exchange.

Great interest was shown by professional and layman, alike.

"This is the most interesting and instructive exhibit of house plans we have ever seen in Santa Barbara," exclaimed L. Deming Tilton, director of planning of Santa Barbara county. "The Los Angeles Times is doing a splendid work for Southern California in enabling the various communities to view these designs," said Grover Drake, president of the Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce.

"The public in general was especially interested in the plans of Roy Kelly, which were considered most appropriate for California. Kelly of Los Angeles, it will be recalled, won the $5000 first prize in the national contest.

"We are greatly indebted to The Times," said Miss Pearl Chase, chairman of the plans committee of the Community Arts' Association. "In this exhibition lies in with our plans for beautifying our community. It would be most beneficial if these designs could be shown all over California. Everybody interested in home building and who in California is not, will want to see these designs."

Russell Ray, president of the local chapter of the American Institute of Architects, was one of the first to arrive at the exhibition and he spent considerable time studying the various designs.

"Good, good," he smiled. "Fine work! I certainly am delighted to hear that our people received such high recognition in the East. There was a time when they looked upon California architecture with more or less raised eyebrows, but when two of our California architects wask away with the first and second prize before a committee of New York experts, I think we may say that California architecture has arrived."

Among those who attended the exhibit were: Grover C. Drake, president, and W. L. Cochran, secretary, of the Chamber of Commerce; George W. Smith, president of the Rotary Club, and manager of the Southern Counties Gas Company; L. Deming Tilton, director of county planning; T. Wilson Dibblee, estate manager; William G. Poulton, president of the Santa Barbara Realty Board; Russell Ray, president Santa Barbara Chapter, American Institute of Architects; John Frederic Murphy, secretary, Santa Barbara Chapter, American Institute of Architects; Keith Lockard, Henry Howell, Wilbur Sandford, architects; Carl Peterson, president, Builders' Exchange; Jay Smedley, secretary, Builders' Trade Council; Miss Pearl Chase, chairman, and Mrs. John Frederic Murphy and Mrs. C. D. Wilcox of the plans committee of the Community Arts Association, and I. N. Beaufort, Los Angeles Times.

Old Santa Ana Mansion to be Destroyed Soon

SANTA ANA, Jan. 6.—The impressive three-story mansion known as the Roper House, at the corner of First and Orange avenue, one-time show place of Southern California and upon whose balcony a Governor of the State once delivered an address, is doomed to fall before the wrecker's crowbar.

Standley Goode, agent for the property, announced that the house was to be razed. Dr. Ralph Roper of Prescott, Ariz., has authorized Goode to obtain bids for the tearing down of the building.

The residence which in the late eighties and early nineties attracted visitors from far and near, was in those days regarded as one of the finest in Southern California.

It was built during a boom here in 1887 by P. H. Look, an English promoter, and was first situated in the middle of the block in the center of an orange grove. Later it was moved to its present location.

Stephen Huff, father of the late W. A. Huff, purchased the elaborate home from Look and later sold it to the Roper family, in whose possession it has been for thirty years.

COUPLE ARRESTED ON BAD-CHECK CHARGES

REDLANDS, Jan. 6. — Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smith, suspected by the officers here of having passed worthless checks in many Southern California cities, were arraigned in Judge C. G. Potter's court today on a bad-check charge, preferred by J. A. Levine. They are to have a preliminary hearing on the 9th inst. The couple are accused of passing a $90 check drawn against the First National Bank of Highlands at the local business place on December 10, last. They had no funds or credit at that bank. When arrested yesterday by San Bernardino county deputy sheriffs on the crest of Cajon Pass, the officers stated that a long trail of fraud and "plastering" with worthless paper had been ended. Officers claim that bad checks bearing the signatures of the couple had been found in many Southern California cities.

MADDUX LINES PLAN STOP

Santa Barbara to be Regular Port of Call in Coastal Service, Following Equipment of Field

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 6.—An air transport line operated by the Maddux Air Lines, will make this city a port of call on its regular coastal service within the next three months, using Casa Loma Field, within the city limits. Assurance of this was given Earle Ovington, owner of the field, by Jack Maddux, president of the company. The air transport service will begin as soon as Casa Loma Field can be put in condition.

More than 75,000 cubic feet of dirt will have to be moved. Ovington said he has made financial arrangements for the removal of the dirt and the improvement of the field. The Maddux lines were ready to come into this city immediately, but he desires to have his field placed in A-1 condition to provide the best possible landing conditions, he declared.

Ovington is to go to Los Angeles the first of next week to confer with Maddux engineers to complete details of the proposed improvement of the field. It is planned to build a Spanish-type administration building, ticket office, and lounge for patrons, in addition to hangars.

In order to protect property owners in the vicinity, no miscellaneous flying is to be permitted from the field, Ovington said. A sign, "Air Transports Only," is to be placed on the hangars, and transient and student flyers are to be prohibited from landing there. The runways are to be so arranged as to prevent the airplanes from coming into the port over the residential sections, Ovington said.

Six More Suits on File Against Edison Company

VENTURA, Jan. 6.—Six more actions for damages against the Southern California Edison Company, resulting from the Sulphur Mountain fire of September 16, 1929, were filed in Superior Court today.

The plaintiffs are: Dennison Ranch Company, A. L. Drown, Thomas McGuire, John Euslin, Albert Hofmeister, and T. R. Taber. The total amount sued for in today's actions is $151,480, which, together with suits heretofore commenced, make claims sued upon exceed $300,000.

T. R. Taber, one of the plaintiffs, lost his home, furniture, car and personal belongings. His place was entirely wiped out by the fire. His damage is placed at $4140.

The Edison company last fall paid the county and Federal authorities approximately $6000, the cost of fighting the fire.

The insurance company has denied liability, however, and no offers of any kind have been made to those who suffered by the fire, it is asserted, except the payments made to the county and national government.

Students Would Alter Unwieldy Name of School

MONROVIA, Jan. 6.—That the name Monrovia-Arcadia-Duarte High School is not practical, and actually places the school in a position of ridicule from other student bodies, is the opinion of students of the school, and Bob Crossley, editor of the Wildcat, the school publication.

"One can learn to love 'Fair Harvard,' but who becomes sentimental over 'Dear Old M.A.D.T.'" asks young Crossley. "If Monrovia High School is undesirable because of the name, 'Monrovia-Arcadia-Duarte' is entirely obnoxious. The former is the lesser of the two evils, according to Crossley.

According to the students' opinions, the official name as it now exists is far too long and unwieldy, and practically impossible to sing, yell or print. It was cited today that sentiment to change the name has prevailed among the students for nearly a year. Of the many names proposed as improvements on the present title, that of "Foothill Union High School has received the most support. Such a name would be wholly distinctive, and wholly practical for any purpose, as the students see it.

Contract Let to Build Home for Hospital Nurses

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 6.—Contract for a nurses' home at the Riverside County Hospital was let this afternoon by the Supervisors to Pinkerton & Jameson of Corona for $26,470. The project is the first unit of a comprehensive construction program the board has planned for the coming year.

Plans for a $200,000 annex to the Courthouse also were approved by the Supervisors this afternoon. The structure will provide space for offices, courtrooms and a new jail, virtually doubling the area of the present county building.

The annex will be situated at the rear of the Courthouse. An L-shaped structure, it will be three stories in height and will be joined by inclosed corridors with the Courthouse. The jail will be separated from the rest of the annex by solid interior walls.

South Pasadena Pioneer Passes

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 6.—Funeral services for John H. Jacobs, pioneer resident and real estate operator who died yesterday at his home, 1421 El Centro street, will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the First Methodist Episcopal Church. Rev. Thomas Grice will conduct the service and burial will follow in Mountain View Cemetery. Jacobs was 86 years of age, and had been a resident here for forty-six years.

He built the old hotel at Linden street, the first hostelry to be erected in this city, and served as a member of the City Council from 1901 to 1902.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Adelaide B. Jacobs, he leaves a son, John C. Jacobs, and a daughter, Miss Mary B. Jacobs, all of this city.

John C. Jacobs is a member of the City Council at the present time.

ARCADIA FIRE LOSS DURING YEAR SLIGHT

ARCADIA, Jan. 6.—The city of Arcadia suffered only the small loss of $805 out of property involved amounting to $22,000 during 1929, it is set forth in the annual fire report compiled by Fire Chief A. N. Coberly. Firemen were absent from the station on fire calls only nine and three-quarter hours and 108 volunteer firemen responded to the alarms, Coberly stated. The report marks an unprecedented record for the department.

Redlands Will Have Intensive Debate Program

REDLANDS, Jan. 6.—An intensive debate program is scheduled for the near future at the University of Redlands. Seventeen debates have been arranged, several with colleges from out of the State. The University of Hawaii is sending a team of three and a coach to the Pacific Coast, and of the three debates they have scheduled, one is with Redlands. Others schools the Hawaiian team meets are U.S.C. and U.C.L.A. The local debate is scheduled for February 17.

First of the conference debates of the year comes the 22nd inst. at Redlands with Loyola University of Los Angeles. Next debate is with the Pacific University of Oregon, scheduled during the first week of February. Weber College of Utah also sends a team during February. One of the stiffest conference debates will be the annual clash with U.S.C., which comes February 24 at Redlands.

Prof. E. R. Nichols, debate coach of Redlands, has splendid material this year for his forensic squads. During the spring vacation the men's team will make the usual eastern trip and aspirants for this honor are concentrating efforts now on the preliminary debates, which will largely influence selection of the team.

No Proof of Charge Against County Officer

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 6.—Charges that Sheriff Sweeters had not arrested "a certain Supervisor" assertedly in possession of liquor are entirely lacking in proof, Victor C. Stumpf of Banning informed the Supervisors today. Stumpf was chairman of the Sheriff's office committee of last year's grand jury.

In its report, filed several weeks ago, the committee said charges had been placed before it that Sheriff Sweeters had failed to act when he discovered a supervisor with contraband liquor. Whether the Supervisor was an official of this or some other county never was stated.

Sweeters immediately issued a heated denial of the assertions and demanded a complete investigation. Supervisor Moore also urged the fullest inquiry into the committee's statement.

Following several days in which Courthouse circles were a hotbed of gossip and surmises, the board requested members of the committee to appear before them, although admitting they lacked legal authority to compel the former grand jurymen to answer questions.

Following Stumpf's denial of any proof at today's session, the board dismissed him without comment.

WISEBURN SOON WILL BE LAIRPORT STATION

HAWTHORNE, Jan. 6. — After an existence of almost half a century, Wiseburn Station on the Santa Fe Railway Harbor Line just west of this place, has given way to the progress of aviation, and now is to appear as Lairport, a contraction of Los Angeles Airport, effective on the 15th inst. An isolated settlement many years ago, it became a side track and a considerable shipping point for hay and grain in 1888. It is now identified with the new airport at Mines Field and is the shipping center for the region's industries, including the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service and Nicholas Beasly Company, the Pacific Aeromotive Corporation, California Aerial Transport Company, Pickwick Corporation, and the Moreland Aircraft Company.

INCENDIARY BAGGAGE LEADS TO HIS ARREST

UPLAND, Jan. 6.—C. W. Wright, 33 years of age, "from most anywhere," could not give police a logical reason why he should carry his pockets full of partly used candles and a box of matches when halted at 3 a.m. today and consequently was lodged in jail for investigation. Wright made a valiant effort to gain his liberty by oratory, which added to the police determination to look up his record.

HIT-RUNNER VICTIM DIES

Altadena Musician, Struck Down on New Year's Eve, Succumbs in Hospital at Pasadena

ALTADENA, Jan. 6.—Knocked down and left bleeding at the intersection of Washington street and Allen avenue by a hit-and-run driver New Year's Eve, Fred Lindstrom, 53-year-old musician, died last night at the Pasadena Hospital. Lindstrom, a former member of the Russian Czar's Orchestra, resided at 2170 Pepper Drive. Mrs. George Thimgan of Glendale, a step-daughter, asserted that after regaining consciousness, Lindstrom charged he was struck by a Pacific Electric bus and that the last thing he remembered at the time of the accident was holding to the bus fender to keep from being dragged under the wheels.

The local sheriff's office reported this afternoon that manslaughter charges will be filed against the driver of the vehicle as soon as he can be apprehended.

Lindstrom's body was taken to the Pillbach Mortuary in Burbank. Funeral arrangements will be announced following a Coroner's inquest which will be held tomorrow or Wednesday.

Company to Pack Fruit for Market Formed

COVINA, Jan. 6.—Forming a new packing company, three orange growers and business men, Dr. J. D. Reed, Thomas E. Foster and James G. Hodges, have purchased the El Bar Dor packing plant at Citrus avenue and the Southern Pacific tracks, it was made known today. The consideration was not announced.

The El Bar Dor packing-house has an affiliation of about 300 acres of oranges with a predicted output of approximately 200 cars of fruit during the ensuing year. R. L. Hendrix and M. C. Hutchinson are the retiring owners.

The new packing company will market its fruit through the Azusa, Covina, Glendora Exchange of Azusa, which is affiliated with the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

El Bar Dor plant packed 150 cars last year. All of the stock of the El Bar Dor Association was taken over by the new owners. Dr. Reed will be president of the new company, with Foster as vice-president and Hodges, manager and secretary. The latter since 1922 has been manager of the Golden Orange Groves Company.

VALLEY CHAMBERS IN SESSION TONIGHT

SIERRA MADRE, Jan. 6.—Sierra Madre will be host to more than 200 leading business men of the San Gabriel Valley tomorrow at the January session of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel Valley, to be held at the local Woman's Club at 6:30 p.m. The program, precided by a banquet, will feature local talent, and Lee Shippey, Times columnist, will deliver the address of welcome. The speaker of the evening will be Dr. Joseph Jasin of Pasadena, well-known psychologist, who will lecture on "Psychology as it Affects Modern Business." Twenty-two cities within the valley will be represented at the banquet.

IOWA STUDENT DYING OF TRAFFIC INJURY

POMONA, Jan. 6. (AP)—Theodore Weekly, 25-year-old Ames (Iowa) University of Iowa student, was reported to be dying today at the Pomona Valley Hospital of a fractured skull suffered when he stodd up in an automobile speeding down Valley Boulevard. He was struck in the head by an overhanging branch of a tree as the car went off the road. Herbert Swain of Pasadena, whom Weekly was visiting, was said to be driving the car. He was unhurt.

SPECIAL ELECTION SET

GARDENA, Jan. 6.—A special election to determine whether or not a county water district shall be formed here replacing a privately owned concern has been set for the 31st inst. Both territory lying in Los Angeles county and in the city of Los Angeles shoestring strip is included in the proposed district.

GOPHERS PREDICT RAINFALL

Ventura Contractor Makes Good on Weather Forecast by Observing Habits of Burrowing Rodents in Creating Air Pockets Against Flood

VENTURA, Jan. 6.—The gophers foretold H. G. H. Jordan, local contractor, came into a legal newspaper office three or four days ago and assured the editor that within a week the city would have a rain.

"Yeh, and why?" he was asked.

"Because the gophers are throwing dirt up in piles. That's in order to create air pockets for themselves against the flood that is coming," he explained.

"Aw, pshaw," was the scoffing reply, "the gophers in my yard have been doing that all fall and summer."

"Came Sunday," as the title writers used to say, and a soaking rain.

"You see," explained Jordan, "you had been sprinkling in your yard, and that had caused the gophers to act differently there. But I was watching the ones in a dry field. They knew. You can't fool 'em."

FLIGHT BY GLIDER SETS NEW RECORD

Longest Recorded Cruise in This Country Made at San Diego by W. H. Bowlus

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 6.—Making the longest glider flight ever recorde in the United States, W. H. Bowlus, champion glider pilot of the country, today stayed aloft for five hours, twenty-seven minutes and thirteen-fifteenth seconds, in a sail plane designed and constructed here.

The flight was made over Point Loma and brought an innovation in sail-plane flying, when for the first time in glider piloting, a sister ship raced the flyer. Jack Barstow of Michigan, first-class glider pilot who was trained here by Bowlus, went aloft in a sail plane identical in design with that flown by Bowlus. Barstow stayed up about an hour and a half.

The record made by Bowlus will stand as unofficial. Regulations require that a barograph be carried, but as none was available here, Bowlus went aloft without the instrument. Another reason for not letting the new time stand as an official record is the fact that Bowlus set his ship down below the point of take-off, thus vilating another regulation.

Despite his failure to conform to rules, Bowlus was greatly pleased with his flight, as it was the longest glider hop yet made in this country.

SCHOOL TO START TO TRAIN SCOUT LEADERS

VAN NUYS, Jan. 6.—The new committee on training for the San Fernando Valley Council of Boy Scouts today announces a standard training course which is to start soon and continue for twelve consecutive weeks at the Van Nuys High School under the leadership of J. P. Inglis, principal of the high school, and a staff of instructors.

Men more than 18 years of age are invited to take the course with the purpose of becoming leaders in the general Boy Scout movement. Because of the need more or less at all times for Scoutmasters to look after the 600 boys in the valley council, it is stated that several score of young men may take the course offered.

NUMBERING ON CURB BEING DONE BY CITY

INGLEWOOD, Jan. 6.—Work was begun today in the Belle Meade district on the numbering of curbs to correspond with the numbering on the houses, according to instructions given to Assistant Street Superintendent Louis B. Hardin, Sr., by the City Council at the meeting of December 1. Lyle Dale has been assigned by Hardin to do the work. The project was first considered when during October an application was filed with the Council by a private company for a contract to do the work, but the Council on investigation found that it could be done more cheaply by the city.

RITES AT MOORPARK FOR JUDGE COLSTON

MOORPARK, Jan. 6.—Funeral services were conducted for Judge Charles E. Colston, 80 years of age, following his death at his home here. He served for fifteen years as justice of the peace of this township. Interment was in Oakwood Cemetery at Chatsworth, east of here.

In his early life Judge Colston was a minister of the gospel, but gave it up to become a lawyer. He was a Past Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias order. O. F. Colston of Palms is a son. Several grandchildren and great-grandchildren also survive.

BANK SENDS OUT ITS INITIAL DIVIDENDS

SOUTH GATE, Jan. 6. — The South Gate National Bank, formed here a few years ago, has just finished sending out to all stockholders its first dividend, declared at a recent meeting of the officers and directors of the bank. The checks are for a six months' dividend period, ending December 31, last year, and are for 4 per cent on each share of stock. The officers of the bank are O. E. McCartney, president; Otis Fry, vice-president; A. F. Ullrich, cashier, and J. Jay Smith, assistant cashier.

"UNLOADED GUN" GOES OFF AND BOY SHOT

BLYTHE, Jan. 6.—Another "unloaded gun" almost caused the death of Richard Gruell, 14 years of age, when his brother Clifford, 15, pulled the trigger of a .32-caliber revolver in play. The bullet entered the boy's right breast, apparently hit a rib and glanced. The bullet narrowly missed the spinal column. The boy was rushed from his home near Ripley to the Frank Luke Hospital here, where physicians say he will recover. The youths had been playing cowboy and Indian with two old revolvers. The gun was the property of the boy's mother, Mrs. B. V. Linehart. The family moved to Ripley five weeks ago from San Francisco.

CHURCH HAS ANNIVERSARY

HUNTINGTON PARK, Jan. 6.—Members of the First Baptist Church of this city are making arrangements to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the church here on the last Sunday of the month.

Janitor Suicide Not Out of Job

PASADENA, Jan. 6.—Despondency over failing health, instead of loss of his job as reported yesterday, caused William S. O'Brien of 303 West Walnut street, to take his life by slashing his throat with a razor, it was revealed today by O'Brien's employers.

John D. Mackerras, vice-president of the First Trust and Savings Bank, where O'Brien had been employed as janitor, declared today that O'Brien was a first-class workman and that there was no intention of dismissing him.

The report that he became despondent after losing his job resulted from the fact that the head janitor took O'Brien home Saturday and suggested that he remain there until he recovered from an illness.

MONTROSE KIWANIS INSTALLS OFFICERS

MONTROSE, Jan. 6.—Dr. R. L. Wemple was inducted into office tonight as president of the Montrose-La Crescenta Kiwanis Club, the installation ceremony being conducted by Walt Collins of San Fernando, immediate past lieutenant-governor of Division No. 3 of the California-Nevada district. Other officers installed were Theo Belanger, vice-president; Joe M. Silver, vice-president; Lee H. Merritt, district trustee, and Guy Carleton, secretary. Directors are Bernard Anawalt, Harry Bruce, Mark Collins, George Brooks, Arthur Duncan, Dr. Robert Longman, Charles G. Weaver and the outgoing president, Guy A. Weakley.

RUBIO WILL VISIT TAPIA ON HIS WAY

Mexican President-elect to Greet Lower California Governor En Route Home

MEXICALI, Jan. 6.—President-elect Pascual Ortiz Rubio of Mexico plans to include a visit to Gov. Jose Maria Tapia of Lower California in his western itinerary, according to information received by Federal officials here.

According to Gov. Tapia, the President-elect is interested in the colonization program inaugurated here under the administration of Gov. Rodriguez. Rubio's program includes similar projects in other parts of Mexico, it was stated.

Several hundred members of the local labor organizations paraded to the Territorial Palace yesterday and held a friendly demonstration in front of the building in honor of the appointment of Gen. Tapia to the local governorship.

Lemon Shipment of Irvine Ranch Breaks Records

SANTA ANA, Jan. 6.—Lemon groves on the Irvine ranch broke records of all time during the past year when they produced 83,380 boxes of fruit and brought returns to the growers of $400,158.77, it was revealed today at the annual meeting of the lemon growers of the Irvine Citrus Association.

Orange growers of the association meet next month. Report of the year's activities of the association was presented by J. H. Bray, secretary-manager.

A total of 249 cars of lemons, twenty carloads more than last year, was shipped from the Irvine district this year, Bray reported. Returns during the past season were $35,000 greater than during the 1928 season.

C. V. Newman was re-elected president of the association. Other officers elected were: A. L. Trickey, vice-president; Bray, secretary-manager; James Irvine, Jr., George Jeffrey and C. E. Utt, directors.

Aged Man Leaps to Death From Cabrillo Bridge

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 6.—Leaping from the top of Cabrillo bridge in Balboa Park shortly before 7 a.m. today, Edward R. Lockhart, 70 years of age, believed to have been a wealthy resident of the Theosophical Institute on Point Loma, was found dead in the road below by passersby.

Lockhart's body was found in the road underneath the bridge a short time after he leaped off, police said. A watch on the victim had stopped at 6:45 a.m. Coroner Kelly took charge of the body and began an investigation into the death. The body was removed to the Bradley & Woolman funeral establishment.

Death of Lockhart by leaping from the famous bridge marks the ninth person who leaped into eternity from the span. At the center of the bridge, it is about 155 feet from the top to the road below, Kelly said.

Two Women and One Man Hurt

OCEANSIDE, Jan. 6.—Miss Ramona Kulger of Palos Verdes was taken to a San Clemente hospital and Mrs. L. R. Wells of 235 East Ninety-seventh street, Los Angeles, was brought here last night, following a head-on crash on the Coast Highway about three miles north of this city.

Miss Kulger was reported to have suffered internal injuries while Mrs. Wells was badly cut by flying glass, one of the fragments narrowly missing her jugular vein. Wells, who was driving one of the cars, also was treated for cuts and contusions.

NEW DATE SET TO GREET ORTIZ RUBIO

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 6.—Saturday, the 11th inst. is the new date set for arrival in San Diego of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, President-elect of Mexico, Enrique Ferrera, local Mexican Consul, has informed the Chamber of Commerce. This is one day later than originally planned. Ortiz Rubio desires to spend a quiet day here, according to Ferrera, who said he had been told to eliminate any elaborate plans for entertainment. Therefore plans for a luncheon staged by the army and navy committee of the chamber are not being developed until receipt of word as to whether or not the President-elect wishes to attend such an affair. In any event, however, he will meet Mayor Clark, chamber officials, and ranking Army, Navy and Marine Corps officers.

VALLEY CITY MAY GET NEW BUS LINE

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6.—Another motor-bus service is likely to be established here to connect with the San Fernando Motor Coach line at the intersection of Lankershim Boulevard and San Fernando Road. If the plan works out the busses will run from here to Hollywood via Cahuenga Pass and Highland avenue or Cahuenga avenue.

It is understood that a Los Angeles bus company is behind the project. Such a line has been wanted here for several years as there is no regular commercial bus line into the city from here.

TWO SISTERS TO BE BRIDES

Dual Betrothal Announcement Made

(Dick Whittington studios)

Misses Mildred and Rose Tieffer

AT A reception Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Rappaport, 534 North Rossmore avenue, honoring their two nieces, the double engagement was announced of Misses Mildred and Rose Tieffer, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tieffer of 4275 Van Ness avenue. More than 150 guests were bidden, bridge and dancing featuring the evening, and at midnight a buffet supper was served.

Miss Mildred is the fiancee of William Rosenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Rosenberg of 2827 Victoria Drive, while Miss Rose is the betrothed of Edward Gelsman, son of Mrs. S. Harrison of 6000 Estrella avenue.

The wedding of the latter pair is scheduled for June, while Miss Mildred Tieffer and Mr. Rosenberg have not yet announced the date for their nuptials.

Mrs. Harold W. Landreth, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bixby, Mr. and Mrs. James Rolph III, of San Francisco, William F. Knight, James S. MacDonald, Frederick W. Kellogg and the honor guests.

For Bride-Elect

Mrs. Louis McKenzie of 141 South Plymouth Boulevard entertained with a luncheon and bridge, honoring Miss Martha Alice Tedford, whose engagement to James L. Conley was announced recently. A kitchen shower featured the afternoon, and the decorations carried out a yuletide motif.

Those included were Miss Esther Holmes, Mrs. George Tedford, Mrs. Leo Tilley, Mrs. Phillip Newberg, Mrs. Frank Stokes, Mrs. T. Hamilton Hassinger, Mrs. Frank Rickert, Mrs. Lester Brown, Mrs. Isador Wholmes, Mrs. Austin M. Hill, Mrs. Carl Hood, Mrs. Arthur Binquist, Mrs. Charles Willson, Mrs. Leonard Anderson, Mrs. Marshall Seymour, Mrs. Ralph Boynton, Mrs. Fred Schillinger, Mrs. Arthur Keener, Mrs. Duane Davis and Mrs. Harley Burt.

Interesting Affair

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lockhart, who are visiting here from New York, were honor guests at an interesting dinner party given at the Chapman Park Hotel last Monday by a group of their friends. The tables were attractively decorated, poinsettias and streamers of red ribbons entwined about the tall decorated candles. Among those included were Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Osler, Mr. and Mrs. William Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hook, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKelvey, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Lockhart, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Parrett, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mullin.

Buffet Supper

A holiday atmosphere pervaded the home of Mrs. Louis Olson on South Occidental Boulevard when she entertained members of the Kappa Delta Rho Sorority at a buffet supper Monday evening, December 23. The affair was the annual Christmas party of the sorority and during the evening charming gifts were distributed to everyone present.

Among the guests were Mmes. Mark Barth, Bud Colf, Roy Garner, Al Gilbert, Kenneth Cox, Henry Gutsch, Fred Winter, William Wallack, Paul Anderson, Harold Granrud, Earl Cecil, Herman Mickler, Billie Hall, D. Ellis, Ira Brander and Misses Marjorie Bob, Wilma Hershey, Elma Davis, Maxine Porter, Pearl Anderson, Ethel Anderson and Marjorie Clark.

So Chatterer reached out and touched the little stick, and when he did that the door of the trap dropped with a thump. It startled Chatterer so that he ran. He ran and disappeared in the great pile of corn. But a moment later he was peeping out again. There stood the trap with the door closed. He knew then that he had closed that trap by touching that little stick at the back. Chatterer chuckled.

"Now I know what to do with that kind of a trap," thought he. "I wonder what Farmer Brown's Boy will say when he finds that door closed and nothing inside."

Chatterer was hidden where he knew he couldn't be seen, but where he could watch Farmer Brown's Boy when he came in the cornerib. He saw the good-natured grin that spread over the freckled face of Farmer Brown's Boy as the latter saw the trap was sprung. He chuckled down inside, did Chatterer.

"Well," said Farmer Brown's Boy, talking to the squirrel he supposed was inside the trap, "it didn't take long to get you, did it? I didn't think it would. I'll go get a cage now and we'll have a look at you."

So Farmer Brown's Boy brought in a cage and then very carefully opened the trap at the door of the cage, so that whoever was in the trap would run into the cage. No one ran in. You should have seen the funny look on the face of Farmer Brown's Boy when he discovered that trap had no one in it. Chatterer saw that look and then chuckled. But it was a silent chuckle.

STOCK TUMBLE WOMEN'S TOPIC

City Club's Discussion Led by Mrs. Johnson

Some of Probable Factors in Crash Set Forth

Friday Morning Group Will Hear Talk on Past

BY MYRA NYE

The Woman's City Club yesterday discussed "The Debacle in Wall street from a Woman's Viewpoint," led by Mrs. Berenice Johnson. Mrs. Joseph W. Hamer presided and announced that this session would be the last in the Men's City Club. A vote of appreciation was given the men's organization.

MRS. JOSEPH W. HAMER

After reviewing the history of the stock-market debacle, Mrs. Johnson said that virtually the whole trouble may be traced to the fact that there are so many bonds exempt from taxation, enabling those already wealthy to add to their property while the man of smaller means pays the taxes not only for himself but also for the rich man.

"A certain group is reaching out to exempt more and more property from taxation and there will be an initiative proposition on the ballot this year with this end in view—single tax—which is pernicious and undermining to the integrity of our financial system." The speaker warned her feminine hearers not to be lured by pleasant sounding arguments in favor of single tax.

TAXATION ESSENTIAL

"We groan loudly over our taxes," said the speaker, "but few of us realize that taxation is the only thing that stands between us and economic barbarism. But taxation must be fair. To tax one thing and let other things be exempt permits the great financier to own millions while the moderate business man or farmer pays for his police protection, the education of his children in public schools, his security and his public welfare." This, the speaker declared, is fundamentally unsound.

"Many took their losses under the income tax. So I do not think there will be an appreciable rise in stock values for sixty days, for these men will not begin to buy again until the law has made their income tax lower and the lesser man can not buy. He is down and out."

SUGGESTION APPLAUDED

Applause greeted Mrs. Johnson's statement that the law should see to it that no one has the right to vote bonds for others to pay.

"It is no more fair for those coming from the East with no property here to go into a booth and vote for us to pay millions of dollars for school bonds, police protection, water bonds—as good as they all may be—than it would be for me to go to a department store and charge a large bill of goods to Mrs. Hamer," said Mrs. Johnson.

"We should lift the income tax and let future generations pay for the war for which we already have paid so dearly in suffering and in money that they, the younger generation, might be more secure."

For the meeting in the Majestic Theater at 1 o'clock, following the breakfast, the speaker was Dr. O. W. E. Cook, whose subject was "The Philippines."

Past in Review

"No past should be dead, but looked upon as yesterday tied very closely to today. Except for brave men and women, there would be no today here for us," says Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoneman, who will delve into the history of Los Angeles, picking out items of especial interest to Friday Morning Club members, during the club's "public-affairs day" meeting at 1 p.m. today.

The minutes of the first meeting of the Woman's Club, which later became the Friday Morning Club, will be read today. Mrs. Sarah Bixby Smith, president of the organization, a native daughter, writer and lecturer on California, will review California books. Honored guests at the 12 o'clock luncheon are to be Virginia Stivers Bartlett, co-author with her husband of the Southern California novel, "Adios," and Mrs. J. Pirnie Davidson, literature chairman.

Additional events of the day will be an open forum on current events at 10:30 a.m. and a mid-afternoon group discussion on China.

Music for Soroptimists

Sponsored by Madame Theodora Balsbaugh, a program of songs and piano numbers is to be given for the Los Angeles Soroptimists, who meet at noon today in the Biltmore for the first time in 1930. Josephine Campbell will be the vocal soloist, and Dorothy Brown will give the piano selections.

Hostesses for the day are Phoebe Ara White, Eunice Landrum, Adelaide Brewer-Douglas and Louise Brehaney. Dr. Lillian Grandmason will preside.

Aeronautics Group

The Women's Aeronautic Association of California will conduct its January luncheon meeting at 12:15 o'clock tomorrow in Parlor 1 of the Biltmore.

Col. W. E. Easterwood, Jr., who not long ago posted $25,000 for the trans-Pacific air flight, will be a speaker. "The Influence of Aviation on Art" is to be told by Benmur Helph, and O'Phillip Bonn, war ace and author, also will appear.

Dainty Footwear

It is very difficult to keep the light-colored kid slippers free from soil and grease when milady drives her own car to the party. Many women drive with light-colored galoshes over their slippers and then remove them before getting out of the car. In this way they arrive in spotless condition.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

PRUNE SOUFFLE

The whites of three eggs, one-half a cupful of prune pulp, one-fourth of a cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of stale cake crumbs, or macaroon crumbs, beat the whites of the eggs until stiff and dry, then fold in the sugar that has been mixed with the crumbs, lemon juice and prune pulp. Pour the mixture into individual baking dishes. Set in a pan of water, and bake in a moderate oven until firm.

LIMA BEANS CREOLE

Two cupfuls of cooked lima beans, three slices of bacon, two onions sliced thin, one green pepper finely chopped, one cupful of tomatoes, cut the bacon in dice, and fry until slightly brown, remove the bacon dice, add the onions and pepper, and cook until tender, butter a baking dish, place in the bottom of it a layer of the bacon, then a layer of the onions and peppers, then a layer of the lima beans, season with salt, paprika, pour over the tomatoes and bake in a moderate oven.

FRUIT BOATS

One cupful of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of shortening, one egg, one-third of a cupful of cold milk, sift the flour, salt, baking powder and sugar together, then chop into it the shortening, beat the egg, and mix it with the milk, add this to the dry ingredients, and spread in a layer in a long baking pan that has been buttered and floured, cover the top with sliced fruit, of any kind, then cover it with the following mixture; beat the yolks of two eggs and beat into them one-half a cupful of sugar, and half a cupful of milk, pour this over the fruit, place in a hot oven for the first ten minutes, and reduce the heat to moderate and bake until the custard is set. Cut in squares and serve.

CHOCOLATE FRITTERS

One and one-half cupfuls of flour, two and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of melted butter, one-half a cupful of shredded cocoanut, one-third of a cupful of milk, sift the flour, baking powder, sugar and salt together, add the well beaten egg, and the melted butter, beat until smooth, and if too thick to drop from a spoon, add a little more milk. Drop into deep hot shortening, and cook until well browned, drain, and roll in a mixture, of one tablespoonful of cocoa to two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

NATURE IS LARGELY RESPONSIBLE FOR OUTSTANDING EARS

We thought we had this subject of outstanding ears put in its place, for last summer we published what seemed to us innumerable articles on ears. But here comes another young mother, facing the usual problem and feeling that in some way she can circumvent nature.

Here is the plaint:

"My baby is 8 months of age," says Mrs. L. M. D., "and can you tell me how to keep his ears close to his head? I have taped them back but as soon as I remove the tape they stand out again. Is there anything I can rub on his ears to make the cartilage stiffen so that they will stay in place after removing the tapes?"

One must realize that ears, just like eyes and noses, fingers or toes, are entirely a matter of heredity. The baby with outstanding ears probably resembles in that particular characteristic a good many members of his family. The child who has ears close to his head is also bearing a family feature and doesn't represent, as so many mothers believe, a mother who has been conscientious about keeping them in place.

Tape and Net Cap Preferable to Adhesive Tape

The cartilage of baby's ears is always very soft. They bend over as if they were rubber, or a piece of soft cloth. Time and development stiffen this cartilage just as it does all the other structures of baby's body and nothing we could rub on the outside would in any way affect it.

It is the consensus of opinion that one can prevent a baby's ears from being lapped over and slept on in that position by using a snug tape and net cap. This is more comfortable than adhesive tape which pulls each time baby turns his head. It is likewise the consensus of opinion, and mine as well, that outside of this one legitimate use, a net and tape cap has no power to make naturally outstanding ears change in any way.

We have had many letters from mothers who have tried the caps faithfully and without success. We can keep baby's ears in their rightful position, we can prevent him from constantly pulling at them, which, like constant thumb-sucking, will alter their rightful shape. We can see that caps are not too large so that they do not press the ear out of position and hold it there for long hours. Other than this, we must recognize that we grow by nature's ordained plan and that manipulating ears, nose, fingers or anything else in the hope of changing their shape is a vain one.

Operations have been made on outstanding ears when an adult has found their shape unbearable. It should obviously be done only when one has grown to adulthood. Operations belong outside my field, and aren't natural helps but artificial ones.

I realize that this isn't an optimistic view, but is at least an honest one. The origin of our straight or crooked noses, our flat or outstanding ears, our eyes, mouths, hands, etc., are physical characteristics difficult to alter. We look, in a word, like our families, and are molded along definite patterns. Nature clings tenaciously to those patterns.

Danger!

When the baby is with you while you are preparing your meals, be careful that the handles of all your saucepans are turned in toward the back of the stove and not where busy little hands could pull on them and turn the boiling hot contents down over them.

The Electric Washer

Frequently a coating of soap will form on the inside of the electric washer. This coating can be removed quite easily with steel wool.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

THE TREATMENT FOR COLDS

The best time to knock a cold out is when it first makes its appearance, because once it becomes established, it will generally last from eight to ten days or longer.

Unless a cold turns into some more serious disorder, it is self-limiting. After it has run its course, it ceases to be. Many people, knowing this, do not give a cold any treatment except to give it time. It should be remembered, however, that when a cold occurs, the body is trying to throw out waste products through the mucous membranes and it is better to assist the processes by opening up all of the body's channels of elimination.

One should drink large quantities of water in order to thoroughly flush out the system of acid wastes. The bowels should be thoroughly cleansed by one or two enemas daily. Activity of the pores of the skin should be increased by several sponge baths daily and it is a good plan to induce copious perspiration by a sweating treatment. After the enema, the patient should take a hot bath and get into bed, using only woolen bed coverings. Hot water bottles should be placed at the foot of the bed if necessary, and the patient should be thoroughly tucked in so that no air enters under the covering around the shoulders. While the patient is perspiring, it is a good plan for him to drink an infusion made by pouring boiling water over a grapefruit which has been cut into small pieces. After the mixture has been allowed to stand for awhile, the patient should drink the juice, using from four to eight ounces at a time, about every half hour. Do not use other food until the cold has abated.

The patient should be permitted to sweat as long as necessary until there is no abnormal temperature. The sweating should not be interrupted for any reason during the first ten hours. When the temperature becomes normal, the patient should be given clean clothing but kept well covered for several hours longer.

It is better not to take any exercise during the first day of this treatment, but after that it is well to gradually increase the exercise each day in order to gain strength. It is also well to remember that one of the principal causes of colds is fatigue and that therefore sleep is a most valuable remedy.

If you employ this regime at the beginning of a cold, you can usually overcome the cold almost immediately. Should the cold become established, you can at least avoid the possible complications by using this sweating-fasting method.

After you have cured yourself of this cold, try to improve your circulation and eat plenty of the alkaline-forming foods. Cheer up and stay that way. Avoid anything which will lower your resistance, and you should be able to protect yourself against having to undergo the discomfort of future colds.

NATURAL 100% BRAN IS BEST, SAY DOCTORS

Over 90% of Physicians' Group Favor This Bran for Constipation

Not long ago the following question was asked of ten thousand doctors:

"Do you believe that raw natural 100% bran is the best form of bran for the relief of constipation?"

93% of the answers were "Yes."

Nothing could be more valuable than such advice as this to those who are constantly troubled by atonic constipation, a wide-spread disease—bowel irregularity resulting from intestinal sluggishness. These doctors say "natural 100% bran." Your grocer has it—Pillsbury's Bran, natural 100% bran, nothing added, nothing taken away. Pillsbury's Bran is roughage in a most valuable form—it goes to the root of the trouble, and relieves it naturally.

Modern soft diet causes irregular bowel movements—or movements that are regular, but not complete. Decayed material remains in the system—causing headaches, lassitude, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, lowered vitality, and increased susceptibility to more serious disease.

Eat Pillsbury's Bran in some way every day. You can use it to prepare many delicious foods—muffins, teacakes, apple cake, macaroons, doughnuts, etc.—the recipes are on the Pillsbury package. You can sprinkle it over salads, or mix it with cereals. You can eat it as it comes from the package, with cream and sugar. No matter how you eat Pillsbury's Bran, you may be sure you're getting the right kind—natural 100% bran, overwhelmingly preferred by doctors. Your grocer has it—start tomorrow.

JAIL EMERGENCY MOVES PLANNED

Thorpe Finds Extra Space at Lincoln Heights

City's Smallpox Camp Not Considered Suitable

Council May be Asked Today for Necessary Fund

Following an inspection of the City Health Department's smallpox camp in Chaves Ravine, offered to the police department for use as a temporary quarters for prisoners to alleviate the crowded conditions in the Central Jail, which has been condemned as a health menace, it was found unsuitable for the maintenance of prisoners, according to President Thorpe of the Police Commission.

Thorpe, accompanied by Chief of Police Steckel, Chief Jailer Shand and Construction Superintendent Brittain visited the premises yesterday.

SPACE FOUND

Thorpe stated that while there is space for the accommodation of about 125 prisoners, the gas heating arrangements make it dangerous for the housing of prisoners, who could, in his opinion, easily set fire to the premises if they felt so disposed. The buildings are frame, he said, and would burn readily should a fire be started.

The four then visited the Lincoln Heights stockade and found that a lot of space which could be used for the erection of temporary barracks or the first unit of a permanent jail structure is occupied by automobiles held by the police department pending court disposition.

ACTION EXPECTED

Thorpe stated that removal of the automobiles, most of which he declared are nothing but junk, should be effected.

He will report the result of his survey to the commission today, when it is expected that action will be taken asking the City Council to provide funds for a unit at Lincoln Heights, as an emergency exists at the Central Jail, where prisoners are crowded and where one of them died last week of spinal meningitis.

TRIAL OPENS FOR WIDOW OF WILLIAMS

She Faces Five Counts of Grand Theft in Connection With Mortgaging Property

Florine Walz Williams, widow of Earle Williams, film actor, yesterday went on trial in Superior Judge Wood's court on an indictment accusing her of five counts of grand theft in connection with her asserted illegal mortgaging of personal property at 620 South Irving Boulevard.

Seven women and five men were selected as jurors.

The indictment accuses Mrs. Williams of mortgaging the property to Albert K. Lucas, attorney, for $5000 after she had already mortgaged it to Arkell Burnap for $12,500. Later, the State charges, Mrs. Williams disposed of the property for $3000 to C. H. O'Connor & Son.

The property involved is said to consist of furniture, draperies and bric-a-brac.

Lucas was the first witness called by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Penney and he was under cross-examination by Defense Attorneys Milton Cohen and R. D. Knickerbocker when court adjourned.

Lucas said he viewed the property at Mrs. Williams's request and advanced her $5000 in cash, taking a mortgage as security.

FIVE-DAY WEEK PROPOSED

School Board Asked to Adopt Policy in Building That Will Aid Larger Number of Workmen

Limitation of labor on school building construction to five days a week, as a measure to provide employment for a larger number of men, was urged on the Board of Education last night by J. W. Buzzell, secretary of the Central Labor Council; E. P. Ryland, secretary of the Church Federation, and Rev. J. E. Donlan of the Bureau of Catholic Charities. The proposers of the scheme requested that this plan be adopted for the next four months, and that preference be given to resident workers who have dependents.

In presenting this request the board was urged to represent the matter of the five-day week and the employment of resident workers to contractors engaged in school work.

TO BE CONSIDERED

No decision was made by the board; President Van Norman declaring that the proposal will be discussed in the committee of the whole, and a reply given later.

Arthur W. Eckman, member of the board, pointed out that the board had no control over the men to whom contracts were awarded, nor could they dictate the character or the working hours of the men employed.

Within the next ten days a building program that will mean the expenditure of more than $1,000,000 will be started by the board that will round out the last six months of their fiscal year, it was announced by President Van Norman, at the close of a meeting of the committee of the whole.

EMPLOYMENT POLICY

None of the buildings were announced last night, but the money will be expended on both elementary and high-school structures. The decision to start the program at once is in line with the policy of President Hoover, and to swell the local building program here, Mr. Van Norman pointed out.

"While we have no legal right to dictate to contractors, the board does not employ aliens, and can not legally employ them," Mr. Van Norman said. "Our general policy is to employ those who live in the Los Angeles city school district, preferably heads of families."

The particular buildings to be included in the board's $1,000,000 program will be determined within the next few days, and it is expected that within ten days the drawing of plans for the new buildings will begin.

DEBT ISSUE EVADED BY J. A. QUINN

Local Political Promoter Dodges Court by Agreeing to Pay $5 Per Week

John A. Quinn, politician-promoter, evaded another court examination as to his ability to pay his debts yesterday when a case against him in Referee Mulville's judgment debtor's division of the Municipal Court, brought by the Retail Merchants' Credit Association, was taken off the calendar at the request of the complainants, who declared that a settlement had been made out of court. It is learned that Quinn has agreed to pay $5 per week until the bill is settled.

The case originated from a bill of $190 that the credit association asserted Quinn has owed F. B. Silverwood Company since December 31, 1924. Records show that the defendant was examined on his ability to pay on February 21, 1927, and again on May 7, 1928. The third examination originally was scheduled before Christmas, but was postponed until yesterday.

Quinn is the "head" and practically the entire membership of "Developers, Inc.," a sort of one-man political organization. His most recent bid for notoriety was the filing of charges some months ago against former Chief of Police Davis. Investigation of his record at that time developed the fact that he has no property, is not a resident of Los Angeles and is not an American citizen. He testified in another judgment-debtor proceeding that he has no remunerative employment and did not know his own residence address.

Van de Kamp Stores Have Anniversary

One hundred stores operated on the Pacific Coast by Van De Kamp's Holland Dutch Bakers, Inc., yesterday observed the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the company. The celebration was marked by an announcement of a reduction in the price of white bread manufactured by the concern.

"Added purchasing power made possible by an increase of $1,000,000 in our sales during the past year have enabled us to cut the price," said L. L. Frank, who, with Theodore J. Van De Kamp founded the enterprise with one store at 236½ South Spring street in 1915. "Our capacity for economical production, due to our volume baking, has been increased substantially, and the reduction is the fulfillment of an ideal to which we have given years of research and unremitting effort."

Expansion of the company's chain has been especially noteworthy during the past year, Frank pointed out. Twenty shops were opened in Seattle and the system in Southern California was enlarged by the addition of fourteen stores. Further expansion of facilities and service, according to Frank, is on the program for 1930.

M.-G.-M. SIGNS WYNNE GIBSON

Popular Actress Rewarded for Stellar Work

Charles Ruggles to Appear in "Queen High"

William Sistrom Signed as R.-K.-O. Executive

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The clever young actress, Wynne Gibson, unless things go all wrong, is destined to sign a long-term contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, we learned yesterday. The contract, we understand, is based on the hit which she made in "The Song Writer." She also was most successful in playing the leading feminine role opposite Richard Dix in "Nothing But the Truth."

While there is nothing at all certain about the matter, we understand also that it is quite likely that Miss Gibson may have the leading feminine role in Cecil B. De Mille's next picture, "Madam Satan."

Miss Gibson was formerly of the stage in New York, and has several roles to her credit.

CHARLIE RUGGLES WITH PARAMOUNT

It is on the cards, we learn from an authoritative source, that Paramount is to produce the Broadway comedy, "Queen High," as a talking picture.

Fred Newmeyer, who formerly directed a number of our best-known comedians, including Harold Lloyd, is to direct, according to the same source of information.

Newmeyer just completed "The Grand Parade" for Pathe.

Charles Ruggles, well-known Broadway comedian, is to play the star role in the picture, which will be made in the East with a Broadway cast of players.

Sistrom at R.-K.-O.

A bit of thrilling news reached us yesterday to the effect that William Sistrom, associated as production chief with Pathe during the past five years, has just signed a long-term contract with R.-K.-O.

Mr. Sistrom is to act as associate producer for that organization, along with Miles Connolly, Henry Hobart and Bertram Milhauser.

The new R.-K.-O. executive signed yesterday, and today will at once begin preparations for the production of his first picture, the name of which is not yet ready to announce.

Martha Sleeper With M.-G.-M.

That brilliant little comedienne, Martha Sleeper, so long associated with Hal Roach as leading lady in his feature and short comedies, is returning to the screen.

Miss Sleeper has been signed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for a featured part in "Good News."

She was to have had a part in Cecil B. De Mille's picture, but due to the fact that it will not go under production for several weeks, Miss Sleeper has been given the "Good News" role before going into "Madam Satan."

Tiffany Plans "Paper Prophets"

That very skillful writer and executive, A. P. Younger, head of the Tiffany writing department and of production, is keeping a perfect merry-go-round of productions going, many of the stories being from his own facile pen.

A new story by Younger, shortly to go into production, is called "Paper Prophets," and has to do with the stock market. So far no director nor cast has been assigned.

Ruth Rankin With Tiffany

Ruth Rankin, who formerly was the wife of Arthur Rankin, well-known juvenile, has gone back to her former trade of writing. She is now penning originals, under contract to Tiffany.

"Rich Girl, Poor Girl" is the title of her first story, shortly to go into production. She also is writing a treatment of Ursula Parrott's story, "Left-Over Lady."

MACLOONS SETTLE IN EQUITY ROW

Theatrical Producer Pair Tell Court of Agreement; Interference Banned

Announcement that a settlement has been made in the suit of Louis O. Macloon and his wife, Lillian Albertson, against the Actors' Equity Association, was made yesterday by Duke Stone, attorney for the plaintiff, in the court of United States District Judge James.

The suit was directed against the Equity Association, Frank Gillmore, its president, and Paul Dullzell, its secretary and treasurer, seeking an injunction against the association to prevent it from interfering in the theatrical enterprises of the Macloons, and especially in the forthcoming production of the play, "The New Moon," to be directed by the Macloons.

It was stated to the court that the Actors' Equity Association has agreed to remove the name of the Macloons from the "unfair list" and not to interfere in the forthcoming production. It also was stated that a contract between the Actors' Equity and the Macloons will be shown the court.

EX-BAY CITY WIDOW DIES AS SUICIDE

Woman Drives Neighbor Out of House Then Stabs Self Fatally With Knife

Mrs. Loretta Woerner, 55 years of age, late of San Francisco, stabbed herself fatally yesterday while in the home of her son, Charles MacDonald, at 625 North Fuller street. She died shortly after being taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Her husband died recently in San Francisco, it was reported, and Mrs. Woerner worried about the estate until her mind was affected. Mrs. Ymer Ritter was sitting with her yesterday when Mrs. Woerner, flourishing a knife, chased her out of the house. Then the widow stabbed herself over the heart. Police recorded the case as a suicide.

BAPTIST EXECUTIVE DIES

Dr. William F. Harper, Nationally Known for Work in His Denomination, Victim of Heart Disease

Dr. William F. Harper, for the last twelve years executive secretary of the Southern California Baptist Convention and a nationally known minister of his denomination, died yesterday at the family residence, 1101 West Fiftieth street. Death was due to heart disease which resulted from a hike through Grand Canyon two years ago.

Funeral services for Dr. Harper will be conducted at 10 a.m. Thursday at First Baptist Church, Eighth and Westmoreland streets, with Dr. James Whitcomb Brougher, Sr., of Oakland officiating. Dr. Brougher and Dr. A. W. Rider and Dr. A. M. Petty, who will assist at the services, have been associated with Dr. Harper in State and national Baptist work for many years. J. M. Davison, secretary of the board of directors of the Southern California Baptist convention, will represent the board and a eulogy will be given by Rev. George C. Wright of Atherton Baptist Church of which Dr. Harper was a member at the time of his death. Interment will be at Redlands.

Born at Winchester, Ind., March 9, 1854, Mr. Harper began his career as a school teacher, and in 1876 founded the Central Normal College at Danville, Ind. In 1882 he was ordained as a Baptist minister at First Baptist Church of Wichita, Kan., in which city he had his first pastorate.

Coming to California in 1886 Dr. Harper was called to be pastor of First Baptist Church at San Diego and later was pastor of many other churches, including First Church at Tacoma, Wash.; First Church of Redlands, First Church at San Jose and First Church of Pomona.

Dr. Harper had served his denomination as representative of the National Board of Missionary Cooperation and had been a member of the board of trustees of the University of Redlands since the founding of that institution. He was always active in civic affairs and was a member of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Margaret Harper, Dr. Harper leaves two sons, Herbert J. Harper of Los Angeles and Ernest Harper of Long Beach, and his daughter, Mrs. Mabel Martin of San Bernardino.

'Show of Shows' Enjoys Gala Downtown Premiere

Unusual Array of Talent Takes Part in Spectacle

Barrymore's Reading Judged Best Performance

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Bespangled with personalities, luxuriantly staged in its dances and backgrounds, frequently disclosing both clever and novel ideas, "The Show of Shows," the latest contribution to the revue procession, started a forward march that promises brilliantly last night at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater. The production is a remarkable assembling of talent. It is done in enriching color photography. And it keeps a steady pace of interest.

Somebody is guillotined for something or other to start the revue off, but aside from this sophomore beginning, which is apparently designed to be surprising, everything else that happens is richly glittering. Monte Blue leads on the first parade, and it is a display of clever massed military maneuvering by the chorus.

Comes afterward a reminiscing bit on the "Floradora" Sextet, inquiring What became of the men who took part in that celebrated ensemble. Comes after that a pirate episode, with such figures as Tully Marshall, Noah Berry and other villains of the screen, lending both atmosphere and action. Follows Georges Carpentier in song, Beatrice Lillie as the member of a comedy quartet (forsooth) a sublimated sister act, introduced by Richard Bartheimess, Winnie Lightner in burlesque warbling, Bull Montana rendering "You Were Meant For Me," Irene Bordoni, and so on. Truly a cosmopolitan gathering.

BARRYMORE DAZZLES

The magnificent moment, so to speak, is provided by John Barrymore, with his recitation of the Soliloquy from Henry the VI, Shakespeare, done in an eloquent setting that ought to prove an inspiration for all future productions of the Bard's dramas, especially in the films—if there are any future productions.

"The Show of Shows" covers a broad territory. The Barrymore recitation is distinctly intellectual. Such an episode as "Singing in the Bath Tub" is decidedly the other thing. There is, therefore, the evidence that the entertainment, as a whole, will offer something attractive to everybody.

In general impressiveness, the effects of the production rather exceed anything done thus far, and there are more interesting people for the screen follower, because quite a large proportion of them are motion-picture people. If those voices aren't doubted, some of the stars of Hollywood are learning their vocalising admirably, and they bring personality to their work as well. The Sister number and the "Floradora," which feature familiar players of the screen, are really exceptionally pleasing. In the sister act appear Dolores and Helene Costello, Sally Blaine and Loretta Young, Sally O'Neil and Molly O'Day, Alice and Marceline Day, Alberta and Adamae Vaughn, Viola Dana and Shirley Mason, among others. Armida, too, and Marion Byron are in this with their sisters.

In the "Floradora" Sextet one views Alice Day, Lila Lee, Miss O'Neil, Patsy Ruth Miller, Myrna Loy and Marian Nixon. The men are amusingly impersonated by Ben Turpin, Heinie Conklin, Bert Roach, Lloyd Hamilton, Lupino Lane and Lee Moran.

THRONG OF PLAYERS

In other acts one catches glimpses of Jack Mulhall, Chester Morris, Carmel Myers, Alice White, Louise Fazenda, Betty Compson, Gertrude Olmsted, Jacqueline Logan, Pauline Garon, Edna Murphy, Sally Eilers, Chester Conklin, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., William Collier, Jr., Grant Withers, William Bakewell, Lois Wilson, H. B. Warner, Hobart Bosworth and sundry others. Really this film seems to be a sort of roll call of the colony, though a majority of the stars are those associated with the Warner company.

Frank Fay is the master of ceremonies, vainly attempting to do a vocal solo most of the show, and always interrupted. Nick Lucas, Ted Lewis, Alexander Grays are prominent in the singing.

A Chinese fantasy, the well-known Larry Ceballos black and white dance creation, and the finale, "Lady Luck" are spectacular high spots. Ceballos has given much to the camera in each of these cases, with the possible exception of the black and white, that does not look quite as unusual as on the stage. There are many dazzling events photographically to make this film eye-appealing, and its music is sufficiently varied.

The general plan of "The Show of Shows" is not different from other revues so far produced. It is fashioned along stage lines, and at this comparatively early date that is not entirely an objection.

The comedy, especially Fay's, is bright and dependable. The many pictorial episodes score a marked hit, and the building of a continuous interest creditably crowns the efforts of John Adolphi, as the director, and J. L. Warner and Darryl F. Zanuck in their supervision of the picture.

"The Show of Shows" will be popular.

Fox Palace to Screen College Story Thursday

With Cecil B. De Mille's first talkie, "Dynamite," ending its run tomorrow, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's conception of campus life, "So This is College," will start Thursday at the Fox Palace Theater.

"So This is College" is said to be perhaps the first film production to depict the collegians and their adventures more as they actually are, rather than the wild, flaming youth created by modern fiction authors and scenario writers.

The campus of U.S.C. served as the main locale for this film, with students serving as extras. Robert Montgomery, Sally Starr, Elliott Nugent, Phyllis Crane and Cliff Edwards take leading roles.

Exotic Personality Flashes Again

Greta Garbo

Will give her thousands of admirers a chance to hear her voice in "Anna Christie," booked into the Criterion Theater starting on the 22nd inst. This is the noted star's first talking picture and was directed by Clarence Brown.

STRATFORD COMPANY HERE

Gay Production of "Merry Wives of Windsor Offered by Notable Troupe

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Just as splendid as they were last season, just as dashing and free from restraint in their interpretation of Shakespeare, just as efficient and convincing in their reading of the famous bard's lines—

All this the Stratford Upon Avon Festival Company demonstrated themselves to be last evening. The notable organization from the birthplace of the poet is with us once again, and they bring a valiant troupe that will both entertain and stimulate intellectually and imaginatively during the coming two weeks.

The Stratford festival company is at the Belasco Theater and they are playing as usual a varied repertoire. It ranges from the comedy of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which opened their engagement; "Twelfth Night" and "Much Ado About Nothing" to the seriousness of "Hamlet," "Macbeth" and the seldom-given "Richard II."

They are unequaled, as is already known from their previous visit, in their competency in the well-rounded presentation of these classic plays. The actor that appears as a Richard III on one evening may play the First Grave-Digger in "Hamlet" the next. I don't say that he does, but it is possible, for there is that exchange of places and of prominence in this organization which used to go with the better stock companies of the good old days.

WELCOME PERSONNEL

There are sterling heroes, and old friends to greet in this troupe, as audiences will know who saw them last year. There was Roy Byford as Falstaff last evening, Wilfrid Walter as Ford, and George Hayes the Hamlet of the organization in the comparatively insignificant role of Dr. Caius, which he made an individual and sparkling gem. "Merry Wives" was presented with a spirit of spontaneous gayety, running constantly through its practical joking and humorous intrigues. The Fat Knight was bundled out of the way in the washbasket, and disguised in Mother Hubbardish garb to the great delight of the audience. Byford's Falstaff is an eternally cheerful impersonation.

He takes the bumps and the blows with a good will, but retains always the fundamental and thoughtful note in the character. I believe I like his Falstaff in "Henry IV" better than his Falstaff in "Merry Wives," but, then, it so happens that that other Falstaff is of a finer-grained sort. "Henry IV" is not included in the repertoire this year rather unfortunately.

The conjoined efforts of the company are what make "Merry Wives" one of the delectable divertissements of the Stratford company. Particularly did the women add lustre last evening, because they enlist more favor than those seen last year. This is especially true of Fabia Drake, who played Mistress Page. Dorothy Francis as Anne Page was also very pleasing. Mary Holder was acceptable in the role of Mistress Ford.

BRILLIANT TEMPO

Well known is the work of Wilfrid Walter, whose Petruchio last season and Hotspur were outshining interpretations. He took his portrayal of Ford at a remarkably swift tempo last evening and attained throughout a brilliance that delighted.

Excellent, indeed, were some of the character bits like Eric Maxon's Slender, Gordon Bailey's Shallow, and Kenneth Wicksteed's Sir Hugh Evans. They are an ingenious trio. Olive Walter's Dame Quickly was brisk and interesting.

The crowd for the opening was not as large as desirable, although the company is attracting very strongly for the majority of their plays. Tonight "Romeo and Juliet" will be presented. It is new in their local repertoire, and presents Mr. Hayes as Romeo and Joyce Bland as Juliet.

GIANNINI PRESENTS PLEASING CONCERT

Singer Wins Popular Favor in Varied Program at Biltmore

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Giannini sang at the Biltmore musicale yesterday morning and won many friends. Although a very young singer, she is one of the most finished artists. Her programs and the singing are evidences of infinite care which has been bestowed upon every meaningful phrase with a lavishness that is effective. The morning concert list extended from operatic arias to folk song and each song had its individual success. Miss Molly Bernstein accompanied in her watchful way at the piano.

The art of Giannini is cumulative. She never stops growing. The heights of success have not deterred her from reaching upward. She is never satisfied. Having been blessed with a voice and brains, she proposes to use both. Character shines through her performance.

The Biltmore Sala De Oro, in which Genevieve Gray presented Dusolina Giannini yesterday morning made a palatial background for the stately young Italian girl with the Florentine costume of lavender velvet with its long train. Her stage presence is a perfect combination of dignity and friendliness. She is a prima donna to the manner born.

The musicale began with "Viens Aurore," a classic song which Giannini imbued with the charm of old France and phrased with the artistry of a young Sembrich. Mignon's aria of sadness was intensely dramatic and with the conclusion of the second group, "Voi lo sapete" from Mascagni's "Cavalleria" gave the listener a glimpse of her operatic possibilities. She changed her style to meet the requirements of opera instantly, and the difference was marked.

A delightful group concluded the concert in which Giannini sang two songs beautifully arranged by her brother, Vittorio Giannini. Contrasting in sentiment, they gave the audience an insight into the hidden beauties of song-loving Italy's music. Three Spanish folk songs were given polished presentation, but sounded rather inferior in musical content to those chosen from the Italian.

'SALLY' TO START AT MIDNIGHT

Warner Brothers Book Picture Starring New Film Player

Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater will inaugurate a new departure in openings Saturday night, when the initial performance of Marilyn Miller's first picture, "Sally," will be given at a midnight show.

The late show will follow the last regular performances of "The Aviator," the present attraction.

"Sally" was filmed entirely in Technicolor and has been adapted from Miss Miller's most noted stage success. A strong supporting cast is seen with Miss Miller. Pert Kelton is seen in the ingenue lead and Alexander Gray appears in the romantic lead. Joe E. Brown, Ford Sterling and T. Roy Barnes are the chief comedians.

'Lost Zeppelin' Continues Run

Due to a record-breaking attendance, "The Lost Zeppelin," which is now showing at the Million-Dollar Theater, will be held over for a second week.

The picture deals with an Antarctic expedition in a dirigible. As its title suggests, the Zeppelin is wrecked and the crew stranded. After a series of thrilling incidents, they manage to seek aid via their radio. Conway Tearle, Virginia Valli and Ricardo Cortez head the cast.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

NOW comes the cast of characters for "And So to Bed," the first production of the Civic Repertory Theater, opening date of which has now been set for Monday, the 27th inst.

In the leading role of that lusty hero, Samuel Pepys, will be an English gentleman named Olaf Hytten, who, I am informed, originally understudied this role in the London production and later played it for a time. Opposite him, as Mrs. Pepys will be Elise Bartlett Schildkraut, one time an actress of parts for the New York Theater Guild and seen here in several interesting roles.

Mabel Gibson, the Australian actress, who was with Guy Bates Post in "The Climax" is going to play Mrs. Knight, and Boyd Irwin, formerly a leading man for Margaret Anglin, will be King Charles.

Perry Askam in "New Moon"

As forecast in this column some weeks ago, Perry Askam is going to sing the leading role in Lillian Albertson and Louis Macloon's production, "The New Moon," which comes to the Majestic the 18th inst. Formal announcement of his engagement was made yesterday.

Askam is the robust-throated baritone who, as the Red Shadow, was one of the reasons why "The Desert Song" proved so to the liking of Los Angeles theatergoers. He has another romantic role in "The New Moon," that of young Robert Mission, a swaggering and booted gentleman of the late seventeenth century. He sings, among other things, "Marianne," "Wanting You," "Stout-hearted Man" and "Lover, Come Back to Me."

Roberta Arnold in Play

Arriving in Los Angeles yesterday was Roberta Arnold, well known in New York as a leading woman and pretty well known here, too. She is just back to join her husband, John Willard, from a month's trip to Paris.

She plans, she said yesterday, to appear very shortly in a play to be given Pacific Coast production. This she has done before with considerable good luck. It may be remembered, for example, that she was in "The Bird of Paradise" and in "Upstairs and Down" at the Morosco, which went to New York from here to score a hit.

The Gleasons in Vaudeville

Mrs. Gleason (Lucile Webster) leaves Beverly Hills on the 15th inst. to make a leisurely trip East by way of Mexico. James, who just started a picture for Tiffany, and Russell, their son, now working in "All Quiet on the Western Front," are to follow as soon as their individual efforts are completed.

While in New York, they may do a play. James has written a sequel to "The Shannons of Broadway" which he has named "The Shannons of Hollywood." Mrs. Gleason has one, too, about which she will probably interview managers. It is called "Good Morning Glory."

The vaudeville engagement is for two weeks and will probably start the latter part of February.

Aurania Rouverol Home

An arrival from the East this week was Miss Aurania Rouverol, the California lady playwright who wrote "Skidding" and now has another on the New York playboards called, "It Never Rains." She reports that this latter effort at the Eltinge Theater seems to be bearing up nicely and is about to start the third month of its run.

She went East ten weeks ago to help in its production, casting and whatnot and now she's home, she says, to start writing another play. As yet, no plans for the Pacific Coast presentation of "It Never Rains" have been made.

"Rear Car" in Good Business

Franklin Pangborn reports that "The Rear Car," the old mystery play which he chose to revive at the Vine Street on Christmas Day, broke all his house attendance records in the first nine days of its run. This leads him to the sage observation that "the mystery play seems to be the thing." Franklin, himself, heads the cast as the inquisitive detective, Gay Seabrook, a local favorite Betty Pierce, who was Tondeleyo in the New York cast of "White Cargo," and Rex Lease of the films are also to be seen.

'Rio Rita' Now in Last Weeks of Engagement

The Carthay Circle Theater will have a new picture before February rolls around. Just what it will be is not yet definitely set. "Devil May Care" has been mentioned. Meanwhile late comers are making January reservations for the Ziegfeld - Radio musical, it is said. Women's clubs, sororities, college girls and high-school pupils particularly are taking blocks of seats in groups for "Rio Rita."

BEBE DANIELS

The principal amusement value of "Rio Rita" is said to be in the music, the girls, the colorful settings and the love-making in songs of Bebe Daniels, John Boles and others. Comedy is interspersed in typical musical comedy fashion by Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey and Dorothy Lee.

Twenty-Eight Arraigned on Variety of Charges

Freed on Bail After Filing Not Guilty Pleas

Arrest Follow Disorders at Antisoviet Meeting

Charged with violating various State laws and city ordinances as a result of their efforts to break up an antisoviet meeting on Brooklyn avenue last Friday night and to hold an anti-Mexican government meeting in front of the Mexican consulate, twenty-eight Communists were arraigned in Municipal Court yesterday. Through their attorney, Leo P. Gallagher, each pleaded not guilty and asked jury trial, which Judge Curtis set for February 4, next. They were released on bail ranging from $25 to $150 each pending trial.

Twelve Communists were arrested Friday night by police during the course of their efforts to break up a meeting held in a hall at 2113 Brooklyn avenue, where Victor Sarnof, Russian social democrat, spoke on the "Fate of the Jews under Soviet Rule." Detective Lieutenant Hynes of the police intelligence division, warned that Communists would attempt to break up the meeting, stationed forty-five police officers at various points in the hall with orders to see that Sarnof was allowed to speak. Sarnof had hardly opened his mouth when hecklers began and the police effort to quiet the meeting resulted in a near-riot, with twelve arrests, before he was able to continue his address.

A meeting of protest against the result of the recent Mexican general elections, scheduled to be held in front of the Mexican consulate, was broken up Saturday afternoon by police, who were forced to place ten men and six women, headed by Frank Spector, local secretary of the Communist party, under arrest. All were charged with blocking the sidewalk in front of the consulate. Those arrested Friday night were charged with various offenses, including disturbing a public meeting, disturbing the peace, inciting a riot and blocking the sidewalk.

Jack Ormsby Before Court

Jack Ormsby, former Federal prohibition agent, accused of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, made his appearance yesterday in the court of United States District Judge Henning, and explained to the court his failure to appear previously for arraignment. He stated, through his attorney, Leo Dane, that he did not receive notice of the setting of the hearing until after he had returned from a visit to his invalid mother at Chico.

The court revoked a previous order forfeiting bail of $2500 and rejected a request of Federal agents to increase the bail to $5000. Ormsby was allowed to go on his present bail.

FISHBEIN TAKES RAP AT FRAUDS

Medical Journal Editor Says 18,000 Quacks Bleed Gullible Americans

The 145,000 legitimate physicians in the United States are not alarmed at the practices being carried on by the 18,000 quacks who are bleeding the gullible portion of the public through worthless remedies and treatment for ailments ranging from colds to cancer.

This, at least, is the opinion of Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association and an associate professor of medicine at Rush Medical College, expressed last night at the Jewish Institute Forum, in the Beaux Arts Building.

"There are sixty suckers born every minute and one quack every hour to take care of them," Dr. Fishbein declared. "Scientific medicine is not disturbed by cult and quack practices, but their activity is startling in the light of investigations carried on by our organization.

"For instance, we heard a great deal about a foreign doctor who was asserted to be a hair specialist—he was doing America a favor by coming here to restore the hair of the American business man.

"We sent him samples from two fur coats, a horse's tail and from two of our office girls. We received the same diagnosis for all the samples—after the 'doctor' reported he had examined them scientifically, 'You are suffering from malnutrition of the hair,' was the diagnosis."

Dr. Fishbein scored the various types of healers other than ordinary physicians and surgeons. He traced their history; some types of religious healing back to witchcraft; termed some forms of treatment "manipulative cults;" tabbed others as having their basis on animal magnetism; and pointed out that medicine takes all that can be proven scientifically sound and discards many asserted discoveries.

For every real discovery, however, Dr. Fishbein pointed out that quacks spring up to catch the public on shady and false information of the discoveries, basing "treatments" on current fads and fancies.

DELICIOUS DESSERTS CHEF WYMAN'S MENU

The women who attend the Los Angeles Times' cooking school at 130 South Broadway today should be able to get anything they desire from their families after serving some of the delicious desserts which Chef Wyman is to demonstrate today. A maple cream pie, lemon cocoanut cake with lemon icing, and a fruit rice pudding comprise a trio of desserts which are particularly enjoyable, and to complete this menu for men, Mrs. Wyman will prepare scalloped oysters and a new grapefruit jelly to serve with meat. The Times invites everyone to this class, which is held at 2 p.m. today.

Daring Diver Brings Two Men Up From Plane

Corpses Discovered Jammed in Wreckage

DIVER RESCUES TWO OF BODIES

It is not burned, but there is no sign of the motor, Smale said that the mass he saw Saturday and thought was the engine of the plane was the twisted gas tank.

A great hole torn in the left side of the plane just opposite the pilot's compartment, which Smale discovered, points out, according to investigators, that this ship was struck by the other plane. The diver otld Fox Film officials that there may be other bodies in this wreckage, but that he was unable to discover them in his search.

The plane searched yesterday, according to the authorities, is not the wreck found last Friday by the mine sweepers Brant and Tern. This ship still is believed to be in deep water.

INQUEST TOMORROW

The two recovered bodies were taken to the Nolan Undertaking Company at Venice to await the orders of Coroner Nance.

Inquest over the bodies of the dead will be conducted tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at the county morgue, it was announced by Nance. The witnesses, it is understood, will consist largely of relatives of the victims, officials of the film company and investigating officers.

Two of the victims already have been buried with the permission of the Coroner, it being the usual practice to postpone interment until after the inquest. The body of Ben Frankel, 26-year-old assistant cameraman and graduate of New York University law school, was shipped to New York yesterday for burial. It was accompanied by Alex Wise, a cousin. Max Gold was buried here Sunday and Conrad Wells was laid to rest yesterday in Home of Peace Cemetery on Whittier Boulevard.

Cafe Man Gets Liquor Sentence

Fred Sutton, local cafe man, pleaded guilty yesterday in United States District Judge James's court to a charge of selling liquor.

He was sentenced to ninety days in jail, but was given a stay of execution of judgment until Friday when he will begin his term.

WARSHIP TRYING OUT GUNS

Rehearsal Held for Long-Range Battle Contest to Take Place This Month

The battleship divisions returned to port last night after the first day of rehearsal for long-range battle practice, to be fired during the week of the 20th inst., as the final competitive effort of the gunnery year. The squadron will go to sea each day this week and next on practice runs for long-range practice, on the outcome of which approximately half the year's gunnery score for each ship depends.

The aircraft carrier Saratoga went to San Diego yesterday to take aboard her complement of planes, which have been undergoing advanced tactical training from the North Island base. Findings of the board of inquiry investigating the Saratoga's gasoline fire of last week have not yet been submitted to Admiral Louis M. Nulton, commander-in-chief of the battle fleet.

It is not expected that the findings will be made public until they have been forwarded to the Secretary of the Navy.

Search for the bodies of Vincent Lalor and Matthew La Vielle, who lost their lives in the explosion and fire alongside the Saratoga, has been abandoned. The four men burned, A. L. Houston, D. J. Morton, H. Kenfield and G. W. Pebrey, are all reported to be recovering rapidly.

CHARGES OF TOM VERNON NOT PROVED

Pair Named by Train Wrecker as Accomplices Gain Exoneration

Train-wrecking and robbery accusations against two men in connection with the wrecking and robbing on November 10, last, of the Southern Pacific's West Coast Limited near Saugus have been dropped, according to investigating officers.

The two men, according to Frank Dewar, chief criminal deputy sheriff, were named by Tom Vernon, now under a life sentense for the crime, as his accomplices. Suspicion was directed toward them by Vernon in repeated statements made to deputy sheriffs.

Both men were questioned, but Vernon was unable to prove his contentions after being confronted by the men, according to deputies. Both were exonerated.

Dewar stated that investigation had disclosed that Vernon's story to the effect that his mother and father were hanged as stock thieves in his presence was false. He said further that efforts will be made to have the thirty-day stay of execution recently granted to Vernon, to permit further investigation, set aside so that Vernon may be sent to Folsom penitentiary at once to begin serving his sentence.

Of 124 child workers recently found on canal boats in England seventy-six were under 13 years of age.

BRIBE CASE WILL GO TO JURY TODAY

Suspended Officer Brown Accused of Taking $400 from McDonald

The fate of Edward D. (Rough House) Brown, suspended police detective-lieutenant accused of one count each of bribery and extortion, is scheduled to be placed in the hands of a jury today in Superior Judge Fricke's court.

Testimony in the case was concluded yesterday, and opening arguments to the jury were made by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McKay for the prosecution and Attorney Nathan O. Freedman for the defense. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison will make the State's concluding plea this morning, and it is expected the case will be given the jury about noon.

Brown is accused of demanding and accepting a bribe of $400 from Harry D. McDonald, reputed bootlegger and racketeer, to refrain from arresting McDonald on charges of receiving stolen property and vagrancy.

McDonald, the State's principal witness, testified Brown demanded a payment of $750, saying "I've got a lot on you." According to McDonald, they agreed on the payment of $400.

Brown, who took the stand in his own defense, denied receiving or demanding anything from McDonald. He declared he had been shadowing McDonald on a tip that the latter was trying to organize a "gang," that he warned the reputed bootlegger "the town won't be big enough for you if you try any heavy stuff."

Hearing of Alimony Action Filed Following Shooting Set Over Until 21st Inst.

Hearing of the plea of Mrs. Helen Louise Andrade for $500 a month alimony pending trial of her recently instituted separate-maintenance action against Albert Francis Andrade, wealthy landowner, yesterday was continued by Superior Judge Guerin to the 21st inst. at the request of Roger Marchetti, attorney for Andrade.

Mrs. Andrade's suit came on the heels of her asserted attempt to shoot Andrade recently in his Beverly Hills home. Mrs. Andrade also has filed an alienation suit against Judith Lane Lavender Andrade, who, she declared, is not legally married to Andrade.

Both Andrade and Judith Lane Lavender Andrade have answered the suits with the statement that they were married after Andrade obtained a divorce in Mexico from the plaintiff.

Attorney Marchetti asked for a continuance of the alimony hearing pending decision on an appeal from a judgment in a previous separate-maintenance action brought by Helen Louise Andrade. The latter is represented by Attorney Ben Griffith.

Stepin Fetchit, negro film comedian, is a "powerful sleepy" boy, he proved yesterday in Municipal Judge Bogue's court, where a jury found him not guilty of being drunk. Fetchit went to sleep several times during the trial and had to be reprimanded by the court. He was told that the court would provide him with a couch if it really was necessary, but Stepin declared that he would stay awake until the conclusion of the trial.

When the jury returned with its verdict, however, Fetchit again was asleep and had to be shaken vigorously by his attorney, Hugh MacBeth, before he was awakened sufficiently to hear the verdict.

Kin of Frontier Settler Buried

Funeral services for Mrs. Rose McNaire, native of Southern California and a grand-daughter of Martin Anderson, pioneer of covered-wagon days, were conducted yesterday at Pierce Brothers' chapel, 720 West Washington street. Interment was in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mrs. McNaire was 54 years of age. She resided at 3212 Granada street. Her grandfather, who came to this section in a covered wagon in 1848, was said to have built the first sawmill in the San Bernardino Mountains. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Grace L. KENNEDY SET FOR CAMPBELL

Les Agrees to Terms for Olympic Bout But Foe's Manager Balks

FRANKIE CAMPBELL

A matter of 2½ per cent stands between the signing of a Frankie Campbell-Les Kennedy heavyweight match at the Olympic the 21st inst.

Matchmaker Hayden Wadhams said last night he has Kennedy and his manager, Herb White, in line, and that they are willing to take the small of the cut—20 per cent—for the chance of meeting Campbell.

Campbell has been offered 35 per cent, but his manager, Tom Maloney, is holding out for 37½ per cent, Wadhams declares, and adds that he can't give more than 55 per cent of the gate receipts for the match.

If the financial terms are satisfactorily adjusted within the next few days it means the staging of the "hottest" heavyweight natural that has blossomer here in some time.

Campbell, with a successive list of knockouts in his last half-dozen local appearances, and Kennedy, also with an impressive record over local and imported heavies, have come to the meeting of the ways. Neither can duck the other.

BELL DEFEATS HUAT

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—Archie Bell, veteran Brooklyn bantamweight, easily outpointed Eugene Huat of France, in a ten-round bout at the St. Nicholas arena tonight. Huat, making his bantamweight debut after a successful career as a flyweight, was outboxed all the way by the clever Brooklynite, and there was no dispute over the official decision.

Clothiers Nose Out Mercuries

CLOTHIERS WHO CAGE CASABAS

Introducing Harold Davis, the midget forward, and Berry Dunham, all-American guard and captain of Henry Clothiers, favorites to win the national A.A.U. basketball championship this year, who are making a barnstorming tour of the Pacific Coast and at present appearing on Los Angeles courts. The Clothiers, who hail from Wichita and were runners-up for the national title last year, defeated the L.A.A.C. quintet, 33 to 30, in a thrilling clash last night at the Mercury gym. Tonight they tangle with the Hollywood Athletic Club five on the Movie City squad's court. Davis, who is less than 5 feet, 2 inches tall, is said to be the fastest floor man in the country. He made twelve points against the Mercuries last night. Dunham, has twice been selected as all-American guard. He played guard and coached Starr High School of Wichita to a national prep championship in 1925.

All-Star Kansas Five Wins in Final Minutes

Wilcox Shines Brilliantly for L.A.A.C. Squad

Callahan and Goff Deliver Deciding Baskets

BY BOB RAY

In one of those spine-tickling thrillers that leaves you weak from excitement at the finish Henry's Clothiers of Wichita, the team that is doped to win the national A.A.U. basketball championship this year, nosed out the Los Angeles Athletic Club five, 33 to 30, last night at the Mercury gym.

FLOYD BURKE

The Mercuries, playing the best brand of basketball they've shown this season, threw a scare into the powerful Kansas aggregation for they were leading by a point with but about two minutes left to play. A foul on Johnny Callahan, sub forward, gave Rags Wilcox a chance to make a free throw that broke a 28-28 deadlock, but Callahan redeemed himself a few seconds later with a beautiful field goal from the side of the court and the Clothiers were out in front, 30-29, for the first time since the middle of the opening half. Just to make it a bit more certain, Potter Goff, who played a brilliant game at center and forward for the Clothiers, followed with another field goal shortly after.

With but forty-five seconds remaining to play, Rags Wilcox, Mercury center, and Floyd Burke, star Wichita guard, did a little free and fancy tumbling to tie up the ball and then both players fouled each other on the jump. Wilcox made good his free throw to leave the Mercuries only 2 points behind, but Burke also hooped his toss from the foul line to make the score, 33-30, and remove all chance of the locals tieing it up.

The game brought out the best basketball seen here this season and the L.A.A.C. players have a cheer coming for holding the potential national champions to such a close score. Wilcox, the ex-Iowa center,

Tall Hurler Gets Chance With Yanks

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—The New York Yankees announced today the signing of Fred A. S. Beck of Lakewood, Ohio, giant University of Michigan pitcher who is nearly six feet six inches tall.

Beck pitched good ball in college and baffled several Japanese teams last summer in a tour of the Orient with Michigan.

The Giants matched the Yankees and increased their roster by one, but the National League recruit is a catcher, Francis La Vegue, 19-year-old St. Louis boy, who played last summer with a California semipro outfit.

Both youngsters will be taken to the spring training camps.

Forty-three Stars Do Not Have to Qualify

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Shattering all records of four years' standing, a brilliant field of 350 amateurs and professionals will face a thirty-six-hole qualifying test over seven local courses tomorrow to battle for approximately eighty coveted places among the 128 and ties who will start Friday morning over the Riviera Country Club in the first round of the fifth annual Los Angeles $10,000 open.

WALTER HAGEN

Sitting back in smug contentment a list of forty-three nationally famous pros, and a smattering of amateurs, were given honored places on the exemption list. Those who are not required to qualify include the first thirty of the 1929 Los Angeles open, and the first thirty of the 1929 United States open.

FOREIGNERS EXEMPT

The "Big Nine" committee also ruled that golfers from foreign countries, and those from territories of the United States, should be exempt. Six golfers come under that heading: Larry Montes of Manila, P. I.; Alec and Arthur Bell of Honolulu, T. H.; Arthur MacPherson and Ernie Wahelam of Ontario, Can., and Pete Clifford Jr., of Mexico City.

The exempt list also includes Macdonald Smith, Tommy Armour, Leo Diegel, Horton Smith, George Von Elm, Eddie Loos, Bobby Cruickshank, Billy Burke, Ed Dudley, Frank Walsh, Al Watrous, Harry Cooper, Henry Cluet, Johnny Golden, Jack Tarrant, Fred Morrison, Al Espinosa, Walter Hagen, Craig Wood, Willard Hutchinson, Abe Espinosa, Tony Manero, Denny Shute, Willy Ox, P. O. Hart, Leonard Schmutte, Jack Forrester, Willie Hunter, Joe Kirkwood, Chet Beer, Dallas Jeffers, Charles Seaver, Johnny Ferrell, Grant Halstead, Mortie Dutra, Johnny Rogers and Ted Longworth.

Fighting uphill most of the way, Coach Bill Paige's Hollywood Athletic Club cagers clipped the Tulsa Eagles, 34 to 27, last night in an overtime game played on the Hollywood courts. The score at the end of the regular time limit was 27 to 27. Hollywood tallied 7 points in the extra five minutes, while the Eagles failed to find the basket at all.

Kid Chocolate Bout Rejected

MIAMI (Fla.) Jan. 6. (AP)—The Miami Boxing Commission today refused to sanction a proposed fight here between Kid Chocolate, negro battler, and Jose Martinez. The fight, promoted by Lou Magnolia of New York, was to take place February 10, at the Jai Alai Fronton, which he manages here. Today, however, Louis MacReynolds, chairman of the boxing commission, announced he had sent a letter to Sam Kantor, Magnolia's assistant, refusing to sanction the battle. The letter, MacReynolds said, pointed out that Miami had a place for negro fighters to appear and that the rule would not be waived. Further, he said, mixed fighting would not be permitted under any circumstances.

TIGERS COP OVER-TIME PUCK GAME

Hollywood Millionaires on Short End of 3-to-2 Tally at Winter Garden

Extreme carelessness and overconfidence cost the Hollywood Millionaires an ice hockey victory last night at the Winter Garden Ice Palace. San Francisco's battling Tigers came from behind in an over-time period to cop the game by a 3-to-2 score after trailing the Millionaires up to the last 15 seconds of the third session when they tied it up by catching Hollywood napping. The score was 2 to 1 in Hollywood's favor when Walter Broadfoot, Bay City goalie, skated half way down the ice with the puck and passed it to Art Giroux who scored, making it 2 all and forcing the game into an extra period.

In the over-time period Gaston Scott came through with a goal for San Francisco giving his teammates a victory. Almost everybody at the Ice Palace agreed that if Hollywood had not been careless they could of

SHIRES IGNORES SUSPENSIONS

The Great One Will Not Pay Any Attention to Recent Edicts From National Boxing Association and State Officials; to Continue to Box

BY EDWARD BURNS

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—The Great Shires may not be a great pugilist but he appears to be smart enough to put numerous national and State boxing officials on a merry-go-round, as witness the fact that tomorrow night he will ignore all suspensions and reported suspensions and fight Tony Faeth in St. Paul. At least he has announced he will, and he's in St. Paul to do it.

"THE GREAT" SHIRES.

Boxing officials, for the most part, are considered serious minded gents who like to classify themselves with the United States Supreme Court justices and members of other high tribunals. Which makes the Shires program, if carried out, notable, to say the least.

Here's what the Great Shires thinks of boxing commissions:

1. He will not appear at the Illinois Boxing Commission at a meeting called for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to delve into the diving charges of Mysterious Dan Daly, the self-confessed trained seal from Columbus, O. Ohio.

(2.) He will not take seriously the reports that he has been suspended in thirty-two States by that austere body, the National Boxing Association. He argues that the national body cannot suspend him until he has been proved guilty.

(3.) He will not consider that the Michigan Boxing Commission was serious when it suspended him, but he will drop into Lansing en route to Boston to say hello to Bingo Brown, chairman of the Michigan commission, and the other commissioners who will convene to pass

JACKIE FIELDS DEFEATS ALF ROS IN WILD SCRAP

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6. (AP)—Jackie Fields, world's welterweight champion, scored an impressive victory over Alf Ros, French Algerian, in a slashing ten-round bout featuring the card at the arena tonight. The title was not at stake, Fields scaled 147 3-4; Ros, 152 1-4.

The fight was fast and furious from the opening bell, with both boys always willing to mix it and try for a knockout. Fields seemed to have little regard for Ros's reputation as a hard puncher and was ready to trade punches at every stage of the battle.

The champion came out confidently in the first and shot a left and right to the face and body. Jackie took a hard right to the head and then drove Ros against the ropes with a shower of blows.

Both landed effective punches in the second, Fields stinging Ros with right uppercuts to the jaw half a dozen times and the Algerian retaliating with solid smashes to the head and body.

A long right to the jaw in the third jolted the champion who then

Re-leaguing Plan for Los Angeles High School Circuits Gets Off to Good S

UNIVERSITY TO CHANGE LOOPS

San Fernando Valley Gets Warrior School

Fate of Major and Minor Leagues Undecided

New Names to be Chosen for Prepsters

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Proving that the recent talk about releaguing the Los Angeles city schools was not a false alarm, Ralph Wadsworth, principal of Beverly Hills High and chairman of the advisory committee on boys' athletics, yesterday announced several recommended changes to be made in the city system.

Leading the list is the transfer of University High from the Minor City League to the San Fernando Valley League. University officials asked for the change recently, believing the schools in the valley circuit to be more in their class as far as athletics are concerned, than are the Minor City loop institutions.

The fate of the twelve schools comprising the Major and Minor City leagues will be decided soon at a meeting of the vice-principals. Several plans have been mentioned for their future. One is to have one league of twelve schools, each team to play six games. Another idea is to divide into two leagues, the division being guided by the class of competition offered by each school and the amount of mileage between them. If this plan is adopted the only thing certain is that Garfield and Fairfax will not be in the same league, as they are the farthest apart of any of the city schools.

Another recommendation made is, that if two leagues are formed, the names, major and minor, be dropped and new monikers be coined. East and west or north and west are possible suggestions.

San Pedro and Venice were allowed to remain in the Bay League and will abide by the bay circuit rules which differ from the Los Angeles city regulations.

The members of the advisory board on boys' athletics which made the above recommendations are C. P. Fonda of Manual Arts, Herbert Wood of Torrance, R. C. Noble of L. A. High, D. S. Swain of Fairfax, George Hosek of San Pedro, and Chairman Ralph Wadsworth of Beverly Hills. Motte Blair, vice-principal of Beverly Hills, and John Fox, Los Angeles school officials, also sat in on the conference, which was held at Beverly Hills yesterday.

All the recommendations are to be referred to the principals of the city schools, who are scheduled to hold a meeting tomorrow. After the principals pass on them, if they do, they pass to their respective leagues for final settlement. In the case of the major and minor city leagues, the two circuits are to hold a joint meeting within three weeks' time.

No matter what the outcome may be, Wadsworth promises that it won't be final for the rapid growth of the city schools insures minor changes to be made each year in the organization.

JACKIE FIELDS DEFEATS ROS

Ros chased the champion back with a flock of rights and lefts in the fourth before Jackie got in close and rifled half a dozen uppercuts to the Algerian's face that brought a rush of blood. Fields stayed in close and punished Ros with short jolts. Ros sent over a hard right at the bell.

Ros ran into a jarring right hook to the jaw in the fifth and countered with a heavy right as they clinched. Between clinches in this round the champion danced about and landed with both hands to the face.

Fields met a barrage of rights and lefts when the sixth opened, one of which set him back on his heels, and in a short session of infighting Ros got in three hard wallops to the head. A pair of left hooks caught the champion on the jaw, but he shook them off and laced his opponent with short hooks and uppercuts.

Fields, after taking a few solid punches in the seventh, went to work like a champion and hammered Ros all over the ring. He inflicted a lot of punishment and Ros was wobbly at the bell.

The champion couldn't locate Ros's jaw in the eighth and centered his attack on the body, whaling away with both hands. Fields tried hard for a knockout in the ninth, but none of his punches slowed up the rugged Algerian.

Ros came out with both hands going in the tenth and they traded punches in the center of the ring. Fields landed oftener, and his punches carried more sting. Both were swinging for a knockout at the bell.

Harry (Kid) Brown, Philadelphia veteran, gained a ten-round decision over Gaston Lacadre of France in the semi-wind-up. Brown weighed 137 pounds and Lecadre, 138.

Danny Kramer, Philadelphia, 128 pounds, knocked out Eddie O'Dowd, Columbus, O., 128 pounds, in the fourth round of their ten-rounder. O'Dowd substituted for Pete Zivic, Pittsburgh.

Tigers Know Legal Tactics

BY SOL METZGER

Coach Wittmer's Tiger fives at Old Nassau know all the tricks of legal blocking. You see, Wittmer is an old-time football star who had the blocking game pounded into him on the gridiron each fall. Naturally he leans toward it. Well, here's one of his out-of-bounds favorites that goes big and then, sometimes, doesn't, for reasons we'll show tomorrow.

No. 1 has the ball out-of-bounds. Three team-mates line up as shown in front of the basket. The first move is by No. 3. He rushes to the rear of opponent D, who is covering No. 4, and so times his move that No. 4 can break past the spot No. 3 has just deserted. Same time No. 2, the farthest away man of the trio, circles around all five players as shown, turns in and takes the pass in from No. 1.

When it works No. 2 has an unhampered shot at the basket. Sometimes it doesn't work. That's the rub. For every play there is an antidote.

If Hess is as rugged as he was the night he whipped Morgan it should be a great scrap with the odds about even. Hess was even money in the betting yesterday.

The preliminaries tonight show some new faces. Joe Ewer, a Kentucky welterweight, makes his bow against Tony Portillo. Ewer is a stablemate of Payne. Portillo has made some good fights at San Diego.

Lew Snyder, Denver flyweight, and Alfredo Imperial, Filipino, clash in the six-round special event. The two fours are Joe Salerno vs. Jimmy Lyall and Cecil Guysel vs. Frankie Burnell.

Fidel La Barba and Ignacio Fernandez will meet in the Olympic main event next week and Matchmaker Wadhams is still trying to book Frankie Campbell and Les Kennedy for the 21st inst.

Shires expects to return to Chicago the 12th inst. and devote two days to such casual matters as getting himself right with Charles A. Comiskey, owner and president of the White Sox, for whom he expects to play first base in 1930. Then the will return to Detroit to go through with his fight with Battling Criss, he says.

Benefit to be Held for Dixie Kid, ex-Champ

A benefit for Dixie Kid, one-time welterweight champion, will be held at the Tivoli Theater on Central avenue, next Saturday night. Friends of the former black hero of the ring have rallied to his support, and a vaudeville program has been arranged in which the Bilbrew Quartet, the Four Gowans and others will appear. Dan Tobey will be master of ceremonies, and he will introduce several ring celebrities from the stage, including Tom Kennedy, Ace Hudkins, Frank Campbell, Bert Colima, Santiago Zorilla and others. It is announced. Old age and spinal trouble are said to have saddled Dixie Kid, and hard manual labor is beyond him. Receipts are to be used to buy him a bootblack stand.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

THE NEW COMMISSIONER

IT IS high time to say something about the new boxing commissioner before Hagen, Diegel and the Carnoustie Smiths, plus the other golf stars in our midst, start shooting up the works in the $10,000 open at Riviera this week.

The new commissioner isn't yet—but he soon will be.

There is a vacancy, you know, Bill Hanlon's term having expired January 1, and he hasn't been reappointed by the Governor.

The new man will take Hanlon's place. He may or may not be a Los Angeles man.

It all depends on the whims of the incumbents—the Messrs. Charles Traung of San Francisco and James Woods, who divides his time equally between this city and San Francisco since he severed connections with the Biltmore. They will choose the new man, and the Governor will appoint their choice.

This is the latest dope—and it's hot from the feed box.

The Governor has been hounded on all sides by proponents of this man and that man for appointment to the commission.

It is said he finally tired of the nagging, and decided the Solomonesque way out of the situation was to let Traung and Woods settle the matter.

He has limitless confidence in both of them. Both are men of wealth and position, and their only interest in boxing is that of keeping it clean and above board.

What more natural than to let the Messrs. Traung and Woods select a man who will team with them in supervising boxing as it has been supervised in this State for the past two years.

During that period boxing had its healthiest growth, culminating with the banenr year of 1929, when 1,825,445 persons attended boxing and wrestling contests in the State.

The commissioners during that period were Charles Traung and James Woods, plus Hanlon in 1929.

And who knows but what Hanlon may be the choice of his past year's confreres?

GOOD LUCK, RUSS

LOOK to the insurance market for some activity in the near future. Mr. Russell Saunders, who performed so sensationally on the gridiron this late fall that he outshone all the all-American halfbacks you can name, has decided to transfer his talents into other lands.

Having played the allotted span of years with Mr. Howard Harding Jones's Trojans Mr. Saunders is no longer interested in football—at least not as a player. He became to Southern California the minute he stepped off the field to the roaring acclaim of the thousands at the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day what Morley Drury was the day he brought a packed Coliseum up cheering as he made his exit against Washington two years ago—an ex-hero.

There were tears in many an eye when the great Drury dashed through the tunnel after one of the greatest individual feats ever registered on a gridiron—that of scoring two touchdowns in the first ten minutes of play, one on a 77-yard run and another on a 23-yard run, returning to the game to score again in the third period and then retiring to the salvos of a tremendous tribute from the stands.

Of course, comparisons are always more or less invidious, and there will be no effort on the part of your correspondent to make any in this case.

The feats of Mr. Saunders in the New Year's Day game when the great and undefeated Pittsburgh team with its four all-Americans was turned back, 47 to 14, are too fresh to need elaboration at this time.

But in a way they synchronize with those of the great Drury. The latter never played another football game, although efforts were made to have him join an all-star cast which performed in a Christmas Day game at the Coliseum. Mr. Drury declined. Your correspondent will always like him better for it. He prefers to remember Morley Drury as the engineer of a truly marvelous attack which sent a good Washington team back home on the short end of a 33-to-13 score.

Drury went into the stock-and-bond game. Saunders is quitting the gridiron for the insurance racket, and who do you suppose he will be associated with?

None other than Mr. James Smith, once quite an end for the Trojans in spite of the fact that he played on a Southern California team which was beaten by California, 38 to 7.

Mr. Smith has made quite a success of insurance, and he promises to see that Mr. Saunders follows in his footsteps.

KENTUCKY HEARD FROM

CECIL goes to the post again.

No, Cecil is not a horse. He's a fighter, and his family name is Payne.

Despite his sissy Christian prefix Mr. Payne licked our Goldie Hess of the Ocean Park sector in ten rounds at the Olympic early last month.

You see, Cecil came here from the blue-grass regions of old Kentuckysomewhat of an unknown. In fact, he was just one of the ordinary beggars for a fight and a chance to show his wares.

But Cecil with a combination Pal Moore and Harry Grebb style of fighting licked our Goldie all over the place, including a knockdown in the sixth round.

That knockdown was the first the beach boy ever suffered in a local ring, and he had come through some very tough bouts with Ted Morgan, the former junior lightweight king; Bud Taylor, Santiago Zorilla and others.

But this Cecil kid set such a high speed gait in the early stages of the bout, leading up to the flooring episode in the sixth round, that Goldie, clamping a heavy foot on the gas, never could catch up, even with a belated burst of speed in the latter rounds.

Ocean Park's Goldie Hess was taken to the cleaners along with the gamboleers, who had him established as a topheavy favorite over the newcomer, and that's why the repeat match is on tonight—less than a month after the horrible setback to Goldie Hess's ambitions had transpired.

AZTEC TRACKSTERS BEGIN TRAINING GRIND TODAY

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 6.—The first call for varsity track and field squad candidates at San Diego State College will be sounded tomorrow, at which time Coach C. E. Peterson will outline plans for the coming season during which the Aztecs will attempt probably the most ambitious cinderpath program in their history.

Peterson's biggest problem will be plugging the gaps caused by the loss of the following: Oliver Worden, sprinter; Werner Peterson, javelin thrower; Leonard Orth, sprinter; Walter Varney, two-miler; Delbert "Ike" Walton, weight man, and Gilbert Perry, sprinter. The mentor wishes he could spring a Houdini and produce a pole vaulter as there isn't one on the campus—at least Peterson hasn't been able to find any.

The Staters' scheduled: February 6 and 7 — interfraternity. February 12—Irish marathon. February 22—A.A.U. relays at Long Beach. February 26 and 27—Interclass. March 8—University of Redlands at Redlands. March 15 — Caltech at Pasadena. March 22—Pomona at San Diego. March 29—Whittier at Whittier. April 5—Occidental at San Diego. April 19 — All conference at Pomona if Los Angeles Coliseum is not available. April 26—Fresno relays.

Returning lettermen follow: Capt. Linwood Brown, who should be the class of the conference in the mile and perhaps the half mile, John Brose, shot, discus and hammer performer who has been the State college high-point man for two years; Maurise Fox, hurdler and broad jumper; Alan Belmont, javelin thrower; Art Wilson, sprinter; Fennel Wallen, high jumper; Harry Tenwolde, miler and two-miler.

Promising members of last year's freshman squad eligible for the varsity include: Jack Wilson and Lawrence Peterson, who stole the show in the all-conference frosh meet; Tony Green, distance runner; Archie McDonald, two-miler; Gordon Cox, weights; Gill Whitney and Mike Dillon, quarter-milers.

Others who were transfers or ineligible because of provisional status include Pat Doyle, sprinter; Jack Klaus, hammer thrower and high jumper, and Charlie Mason, broad jumper. Bill Rumsey, Paul Shea and John Montgomery who failed to earn letters last year, will be on hand to toy with the weights.

The Staters aren't making any promises regarding the conference championship, which was won last year by Occidental College, but they intend to plug along from the beginning and do their very best. The Bengals and Pomona Sagehens are expected to be the outstanding contenders for the crown.

Another Tip on Chip Shot

BY SOL METZGER

There are many star golfers who can drive and pitch with Bobby Jones. But few are able to keep up with him in play on and around the greens. In the Walker Cup matches at Wheaton in 1928, Bobby would almost hole out time after time from off the green. He's deadly in chipping, a stroke that is a great one to know when you want to keep the score down.

The chip, as stated yesterday, is nothing more than a long putt played with a lofted club. It's called a chip because it's played from off the green where a putted ball would not act right in running through the longer grass of the fairway.

The big idea in the chip as played by Bobby is a low follow through.

Golf is a form game. Correct your pivot and you will add yardage to your shots. Sol Metzger has prepared a free illustrated leaflet on the Pivot. Send for it in care of The Times and inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

HAROLD LLOYD HOST TO PROFESSIONALS TODAY

Macdonald Smith, the Carnoustie Scot from Great Neck, L. I., who will defend his Los Angeles $10,000 open championship at Riviera on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, has accepted an invitation to play in Harold Lloyd's fourth annual tournament, which will be held over the beautiful nine-hole course on the Lloyd estate in Beverly Hills this morning and afternoon.

Lloyd, who is an ardent golf fan, and follows the winter tournaments with a great deal of interest, has been host to every famous golfer visiting Los Angeles during the past few years.

Bobby Jones, national open champion, played over the Lloyd course, and pronounced it one of the most perfect courses he had ever played on.

Guests who have accepted invitations include Tommy Armour, Billy Burke, Henry Cuici, Harry Cooper, W. H. Cox, Bobby Cruickshank, Al Espinosa, Johnny Farrell, Johnny Golden, Charley Guest, Willie Hunter, Eddie Loos, Bill Mehlhorn, Johnny Rogers, Joe Kirkwood, George Von Elm, Frank Walsh, Al Watrous and Craig Wood.

Leo Diegel and Walter Hagen, who have played the Lloyd course several times, will be on hand if they can get away from the studio, where they are putting the finishing touches on a two-reel comedy.

Hagen holds the competitive record of 31 for the course, a mark he established a year ago. The non-competitive mark is held by Eddie Loos, winter professional of the Pasadena Golf Club.

The pros will tee off at 10 o'clock. Play will be over eighteen holes, twice around.

Tennis Club's Tourney for February 22

The seventh annual closed tennis tournament of the Los Angeles Tennis Club will begin on the club courts February 22, it was announced yesterday by Edward D. Berry, tournament chairman. The event will take place over two weekends on Saturdays and Sundays only.

Norval Craig, assistant pro, and former Occidental College star, is the defending men's singles champion, while Midge Gladman, who ranks eighth in the United States, is the 1929 women's title-holder. In these respective events will be entered John Doeg, John Van Ryn, Mary Greef, Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, Helen Marlowe and Carolyn Babcock, all national ranking performers.

Men's doubles, in which Norval Craig and Clifton Herd are the defending champions, and junior men's singles, won last year by Jack Tidball, who also holds the southwest junior honors, will also be on the program of events. Tidball graduated from the junior ranks with the new year and will not defend his title, being over the age limit allowed for this event.

OXY FROSH PLAYS PUENTE

Bill Anderson's freshmen basketball team at Occidental will open its season tomorrow at Puente High School where the prep quintet and the Oxy peagreen five clash at 7 o'clock. The Tiger frosh are green and inexperienced courtmen and are very much the underdog tomorrow night against their younger foes. The conference season of the freshmen five opens the first of next month.

Italy's Sons Seek Yankee Fistic Gold

RECORD FIELD WILL TEE OFF

Entry of 350 Golfers in Los Angeles Open

Thirty-six Hole Qualifying Test Tomorrow

Forty-three Stars Do Not Have to Qualify

fifty golfers will qualify over each of the seven courses. Approximately eleven, including ties, are expected to qualify over each course.

Lakeside, with one of the finest tests of championship golf in the Southland, drew two of the most famous golfers who find themselves in the embarrassing position of having to qualify, Johnny Farrell, 1928 national open champion, and Joe Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y. Neither played in the Los Angeles open last year.

DAWSON AT LAKESIDE

Johnny Dawson of Chicago, ranked among America's first ten amateurs, will also qualify over Lakeside. Johnny was a quarter-finalist in the British amateur championship last spring. Ed Gayer of Chicago and Frank Rodia, long-driving Seattle professional, will also qualify at Lakeside.

Olin Dutra, Brentwood Country Club professional, who tied Joe Kirkwood in the Long Beach open, did not finish among the low thirty at Riviera last year, and will play his qualifying round at the Hollywood Country Club. Larry Nabholtz, well-known Texas pro, and Lester Coleman, California Country Club amateur, also drew Hollywood.

Charley Seaver, brilliant young amateur of the Los Angeles Country Club, and Von Elm are the only amateurs on the exempt list.

Fay Coleman of the California Country Club, Los Angeles city champion, will attempt to crash the gate at Los Angeles, while Gibson Dunlap, Southern California amateur king, qualifies at Fox Hills. Danny Sangster, who qualified for the national amateur championship, will also try his luck at Wilshire.

FIELD CUT SUNDAY

The entire starting field of 128 will play in the first thirty-six holes of medal play, eighteen holes on Friday and eighteen Saturday. Low 50 and ties will then continue in the thirty-six-hole finals on Sunday.

Low thirty in the Los Angeles open will then be eligible to play in the Agua Caliente $25,000 open the following week, which will boast a small but select field of less than 100.

DEAN LEADS "TIMES" GOLF TOURNAMENT

Despite the rain-sodden fairways and greens, Marvin Deane negotiated the Girard golf course in 69 yesterday to win the first eighteen-hole play in The Times Golf Association midwinter tournament of seventy-two holes. Cliff Griffin was second with an 82.

Three other legs of eighteen holes each will be played over the same course for a number of prizes the association has hung up for this midwinter play.

LOS ANGELES RETAINS INTERCLUB LEAD

Scoring 5 1-2 points against 3 1-2 for the strong Rancho Golf Club team, women of the Los Angeles Country Club yesterday retained their lead in the interclub team matches with a total of 39 points for the four rounds played to date.

Matches were played over the Wilshire Country Club course, and several upsets were registered.

The California Country Club team, defending champions, lost to Flintridge, 5 1-2 points to 3 1-2. Miss Kathleen Wright and Miss Margaret Cameron paired to win 2 1-2 points from California's sterling first-team combination of Mrs. Roy Green, Los Angeles city women's champion, and Mrs. E. S. Edwards. Despite its defeat, however, the California team is only 4 points back of the Beverly Hills club women with 33 points.

Riviera, led by Mrs. Gregg Lifur, one of the Southland's finest woman golfers, swamped Lakeside, 7 1-2 to 1 1-2, and is now pushing the leaders with 33 1-2 points.

San Gabriel, 5 1-2; Oakmont, 3 1-2.
Riviera, 7 1-2; Lakeside, 1 1-2.
Wilshire, 8; Hollywood, 1.
Los Angeles, 5 1-2; Rancho, 2 1-2.
Brentwood, 4 1-2; Hillcrest, 4 1-2.

In total standing, Wilshire, scoring 8 points against Hollywood yesterday, is in fourth place with 28 1-2 points, followed by Flintridge, 25 1-2; Lakeside, 21 1-2; Hillcrest, 19; San Gabriel, 16; Rancho, 16; Brentwood, 14 1-2; Hollywood, 10, and Oakmont, 10.

Following are the complete results of individual matches.

OAKMONT, 3½; SAN GABRIEL, 5½
Mrs. J. C. Rentch and Mrs. O. K. Thompson (O.) 2; Mrs. Leona Prentiss (S.G.) 1.
Mrs. L. B. Converse and Mrs. J. Barber (Co.) 1½; Mrs. A. H. Edwards and Mrs. George Landenheimer (S.G.) 2.

GOLFERS MUST WATCH WE

Cruickshank Discovered Extra Poundage Was Part of Much Trouble; Lean Links Stars Outdrive Corpulent Experts; Training Is Help

BY BOBBY CRUICKSHANK

(Winner of nearly every important American Tournament)

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

(This is the third of a series of articles written by famous amateur and professional golfers, telling how they overcame outstanding faults in their play.)

If you expect to learn the best way to cure a slice or a hook or a tendency to look up on your shots you can skip this contribution to the series on how to cure golfing weaknesses. This doesn't mean I haven't any faults. If I didn't, of course, I'd be superhuman and would win everything in sight.

But my greatest trouble in golf never did lie with any particular shot. It was with myself.

I'm short and stocky and inclined to put on weight a little too easily. For several seasons I would play in and out golf, and after careful study I found that when I became too heavy it gave me a tendency to hit from the outside in. The added weight impeded free movement of the torso and arms, causing me to get my body around too soon.

HAMPERS SWING

There is no doubt excess weight hampers free swinging, and I can say from very definite personal experience that anyone who wants to be a good golfer should reduce his waistline, then watch the strokes drop off.

I can cite an instance that proves how important this is. Harry Legg, a fine golfer of Minneapolis and many times State champion, set on winning the championship of the amateur when it was played over the Minikahda course, Minneapolis. He is a big fellow, getting off to a good start in winter, getting off weight and getting himself in the best condition he could for the tournament which was played in splendid shape and resulted in defeating George Von Elm and others, before being beaten. He had been twenty pounds heavier, I don't believe he would have been nearly so brilliant a golfer.

Throughout my career the same state of affairs was evident. When I let myself get too thick around the middle I simply can't play golf. I really am not a golfer.

Bobby Jones has proved this thing is true. He is a golfer who came over this country sooner than he had for several seasons, and showed the same marvelous golf. There is no doubt I am right, and it is necessary to go on a diet.

Taking off weight is the bane of America's existence. People are beginning to realize that it really isn't so difficult to do. Figures are backed up by what they will power. Cutting out pastries and sweets don't help, but are beneficial effort.

FAT HANDICAP

I'm serious when I say that a smaller the waistline the better golf. Fat gets into your way. You don't have the smoothness of motion that are exemptions, of course, but there are exceptions to every rule in the world. Look at Jones. Doesn't the number of golfers who outnumber the fat ones?

So again I say: Reduce. If you have major troubles of other kinds, add to success on the links by reducing.

(Next: Cruickshank tells how to overcome a slice.)

THREE DIE, MANY HURT IN TRAFFIC

Series of Auto Accidents Blamed on Rain

English Character Actor May Lose Life

Several Others Injured, Some Seriously

Three traffic deaths were reported last night in the city and near-by county area, one victim being killed outright and two dying shortly after accidents. Many other serious injuries received in automobile accidents also were reported, the rain being responsible for poor visibility and slippery pavements which contributed to the casualties.

William L. Stanton, 50 years of age, of 5201 Riverside Drive, Bandini, was killed instantly last night when the car he was driving was struck by a Santa Fe electric train at Atlantic Boulevard and Twenty-sixth street. Stanton was a business man of Sierra Madre. The body was sent to the J. A. Coleman mortuary, Belvedere.

Fred Lewis, 47, of 249 Atlantic Boulevard, was injured fatally in a collision of automobiles on Truck Boulevard, near Compton. He died in the Compton Hospital shortly after.

WOMAN UNIDENTIFIED

An unidentified colored woman, 28, died last night in Georgia-street Receiving Hospital shortly after being struck by an automobile while she was crossing Central avenue at Twenty-third street. Police reported that Max Greeberg, 7602 Slauson avenue, was the motorist and that rain had obstructed his vision at the time of the accident.

William Elsingford, 62, well-known English character actor, who plays the roles of Don Gaspar and Portola in the Mission Play, was possibly fatally injured yesterday morning when struck by an automobile at Oak street and Venice Boulevard.

When given emergency treatment at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital he was found to have suffered a possible fracture of the skull and fracture of the right leg. He later was removed to the General Hospital.

The actor, according to police, was crossing Venice Boulevard in a school cross-walk when struck. Several automobiles, it was stated, had stopped when another car driven by Miss Grace F. Foley, 25, social worker of 1106 South Harvard Boulevard, approached the line on the left and knocked Elsingford to the pavement. Miss Foley was not held.

ACCUSED OF MURDER

Elsingford gave his home address as 511 Venice Boulevard. He stated he has two stepsons, G. H. Spicer, an attorney, and Dr. P. F. Spicer, a dentist, living in Long Beach.

Harold Halvern, 31, an electrician, of 1066 Sanborn avenue, yesterday was the object of a search by authorities following the issuance of a complaint by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman charging him with murder.

Halvern is accused of having driven an automobile which fatally injured Mrs. Jean Townsend, 45, a saleslady, of 1721 North Van Ness avenue, at the intersection of Hollywood Boulevard and North Van Ness avenue on December 24, last.

"UKULELE IKE" HURT

Mrs. Townsend died on the 2nd inst. Arrested by police at that time, Halvern was arraigned in Municipal Court on December 26, last, on charges of drunk driving and failing to stop and render aid, according to Stahlman and his bail set at $1000.

"Ukulele Ike", otherwise Cliff Edwards, radio entertainer, applied for surgical treatment yesterday at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where he reported that he had been injured in an automobile collision on the Coast Highway near San Clemente. He had head injuries, Edwards, who is 30 years of age and who lives at 8071 Fairborne Drive, was able to leave after being treated.

P. J. Alexander, 62, of 1839 West Twenty-fourth street, was struck by a car at Brighton avenue and West Adams street, his left leg being shattered. The car was driven by George Watson of 1221 oNrth Crescent avenue, police reported. Rain obscured his vision.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Freeman of 814 West Ninety-ninth street were injured in a collision with a machine driven by Lloyd Hubbart of 4516 South Orchard street. The cars collided at Ninety-ninth and Hoover streets. Mrs. Freeman, 46, received concussion of the brain, possible internal injuries and other hurts. Freeman had minor injuries. They were treated at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Mrs. Mary O'Neill, 53, of 931 East Ninth street, was injured critically last night when struck by an automobile while she was crossing at Sixth and San Pedro streets. Her pelvis was fractured, her right knee was broken, and she received possible internal injuries. She was taken to the Receiving Hospital. Police reported that the car was driven by C. Dallesandro of 1851 McGarry street.

Mrs. Lottie Heagy, 56, of 4238 Third avenue, was hit by an automobile while she was crossing Slauson avenue at Van Ness avenue. Her clavicle was broken and she received concussion of the brain. She was taken to the Receiving Hospital. C. Jess of 586 Hillsdale street, Inglewood, was the driver, according to police.

Accused of crashing into four other automobiles last night, Louis V. Sutton, 35, of 114 Mary street, Pasadena, was arrested and booked at the Georgia-street police station on charge of driving while intoxicated. Officers Sanborn and Gorman reported that Sutton's car hit three other cars in motion and one which was parked at Ninth street and Hoover street. His own car was demolished.

Sutton was examined by physicians at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where he was pronounced intoxicated. The police reported that his car bore license plates which had been registered to another car, and they began an investigation to determine the reason.

SURVEY CLUB TO MEET

The annual meeting of the Survey Club of Los Angeles will be conducted at 6 p.m. Thursday at the Windsor Tea Room in the Brack Shops. Following election of officers, Col. John W. Barnes will speak on "The Place of the Legal Aid Clinic in the Social Work of the Community." Other speakers will be Dr. Anna A. Rude, director of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Hygiene of the County Health Department, and George Hjelte, superintendent of the Los Angeles City Department of Playgrounds and Recreation.

ACTOR REQUIRES RABBIT'S FOOT

Trouble Appears to Get Kick Out of Annoying James Hall

Trouble comes in batches, according to James Hall, Paramount motion - picture actor. In the first place, joy-riders stole Hall's limousine but returned it the next day undamaged.

He overlooked this, but now he asks Hollywood police to search for a burglar who completely ransacked his house and stole a diamond ring, a watch and an overcoat.

Added to all his troubles, Hall is paying the doctor a daily visit which may result in his removal to a hospital for an operation for tonsilitis. Meanwhile he must stay away from the microphone for several days.

BOLTON JURY SEES BULLET

Lead Pellet That Killed Young Wife May Decide Fate of Her Accused Husband

A .25 caliber bullet and a life insurance policy for $5000, carrying double indemnity for death of the insured by accident, figured prominently yesterday in Superior Judge Dewey Bolton, Jr., former dance-hall operator, on trial on a charge of murdering his wife, Lucille.

The bullet, introduced by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Crail and Curran, is said to have been the one that entered the brain of Mrs. Bolton and caused her death while she and her husband were in their automobile November 9, 1929, on the Roosevelt Highway north of Santa Monica.

Through the testimony of Deputy Sheriff Hunter, the State sought to prove that the bullet was identical to one Hunter said he found in Bolton's apartment after the shooting of Mrs. Bolton.

The State charges Bolton killed his wife in an effort to collect her insurance. The $5000 policy was introduced late yesterday for identification only, and it is expected the State will call more witnesses on this angle of the case before offering the policy as an exhibit.

J. B. Day, one of a group of four hunters who encountered the Bolton automobile on the Roosevelt Highway, was recalled to the witness stand yesterday. He told of seeing the car with Bolton behind the wheel and the body of Mrs. Bolton in the seat next to the driver.

Bolton told the hunters, according to Day, that he and his wife had been held up and that one of the bandits shot Mrs. Bolton. Bolton also was suffering from a wound, the witness added.

It is expected the defense will hold to this theory of the shooting when its side of the case gets under way. Bolton has steadily persisted in his story that his wife was shot by a bandit whom she recognized during the asserted hold-up.

PASADENA DAM DEAL SEEN NEAR

State's Permission for Acquiring Canyon Site Expected to be Granted

Authorization of an agreement between the Southern California Edison Company and the city of Pasadena for purchase by the city of 1000 acres of land for the proposed Pine Canyon dam project in San Gabriel Canyon, is expected from the State Railroad Commission within the next few weeks, according to Samuel B. Morris, Municipal Engineer of Pasadena.

Engineer Morris received word from San Francisco yesterday which indicated the railroad commission will sanction the purchase of the land by the city from the power company. The land is along the San Gabriel River and its acquisition will permit the building of the Pine Canyon dam for which a $10,000,000 bond issue was voted last spring.

The dam will rise 375 feet from the base of its foundation and will give to Pasadena a new reservoir capacity of 25,780 acre feet, bringing the city's total water supply to 34,200 acre feet. The land to be acquired by the city will cost $783,494.

The power company and the city filed a joint application for permission to make the deal. The municipality obtains a two-year option by paying down $25,000. This sum is to be applied to the purchase price when and if the option is exercised. The formal consummation of the deal will be made by the City Council of Pasadena and officials of the Edison company within a short time, it was announced.

TEXTILE COURSE LISTED

A night course in textiles is announced to be given by University of Southern California, beginning Thursday evening in Science Hall, Thirty-seventh street and University avenue. The course will consist of twelve Thursday evening lectures on identification of fibers, comparison of textile fibers and rayon, weaves, methods of dyeing, tests and the processes of spinning and finishing. Mrs. Ada Collins Holme of the school of merchandising will have charge of the class.

NIGHT-TIME INSTRUCTION ANNOUNCED

University College Opens Winter-Quarter Courses in Many Subjects

The 1930 winter quarter of the downtown branch of the University of Southern California, university college, opened last night in the Transportation Building, Seventh and Los Angeles streets. As each class meets one night a week, new and additional night college courses will open each evening this week.

Production of oil, including methods of producing oil, pumping, gas lift, repressuring, flooding and separating oil and gas and dehydration of oil will be covered in a Tuesday course starting at 5:20 p.m. this afternoon, in charge of John Dodge of the college of engineering of U.S.C. The course will continue for twelve weeks.

Tuesday evening classes, starting at 7 p.m. tonight, are announced as follows: Chemistry, accounting, business law, economics, personnel management, advertising, nautical astronomy and yacht navigation, real-estate finance, property valuation, commercial aviation, fundamentals of education, short-story writing, general survey of English literature, French, petroleum geology, Roman history, United States history, Italian, algebra, vector analysis, music, physics, comparative psychology, applied psychology, mental hygiene, immigration and Americanization, sociology, Spanish, dramatics, public speaking, physiology and comparative anatomy of vertebrates.

Wednesday night classes starting tomorrow evening include interior decoration, income-tax law and procedure, money and banking, salesmanship, education for parenthood, airplane power plants, and journalism, the latter covering the writing of special-feature articles, in charge of Prof. Ivan Benson of the department of journalism of U.S.C.

BODY OF MAN FOUND IN TOPANGA CANYON

Deputy sheriffs late yesterday were attempting to definitely identify the body of a man discovered beneath a tree in Topanga Canyon near the Fernwood fire station in the afternoon. Partial identification of the man as Robert O. Watt, 50 years of age of 1228 West Fiftieth street, was made through papers found on his person, according to a report made by Deputy Sheriff Gompert. The man according to a superficial examination, apparently died a natural death. The body was ordered removed to the undertaking parlors of Todd & Leslie, Santa Monica.

WORLD TRAVELERS RETURN

"Brother Tom" of Midnight Mission Greeted by 1000 Homeless Men at Welcome-Home Dinner

"Brother Tom" Liddecoat, founder and guiding genius of the Midnight Mission, returned from a four months' tour of the world yesterday. He was accompanied by his daughter, Mary Liddecoat.

Almost 1000 homeless men crowded the rooms of the mission last night to act as "hosts" at a midnight dinner that was served in honor of Brother Tom. Many of the "hosts" were among the group of homeless and broken men who saw him off at the depot when the noted mission worker departed from Los Angeles with his daughter last August.

PREFERS OWN TABLE

"Well, the best things that I have seen on my trip around the world are the faces of some of my old-time friends here," exclaimed Liddecoat when he was greeted at the mission last night. "I have traveled all the way around the world to come back and find it raining in Los Angeles, and to find that my old-time pals do not care whether it is raining, or not, in their welcome.

"I have eaten in fine hotels, I have camped on the Egyptian desert near Cairo, ridden on ships on the Red Sea and hob-nobbed with princes, but I am the happiest when I can rub elbows with you folks and reach for the gravy at our own table here in Los Angeles.

"I have been rejuvenated by the trip. It is one I have longed to take all my life. We spent the longest period in Jerusalem. We sought none of the luxuries of travel, but lived as we found conditions. In London we spent most of our time around the employment agency section of the city.

EAGER FOR WORK

"I got lots of good ideas, and I abandoned a lot of poor ones. Homeless men all over the world are just homeless men who need a chance. Some of them are old and almost beyond anything but charity, but the majority are men who can make their way back if they can just get that little start that will help them to help themselves.

"I am all ready to get back into the mission work and I know that my little rest will give me the pep to help all of the homeless folks in Southern California. And I would like to mention that if I had thought my return home would have brought rain I would have started back a month ago."

"Brother Tom" Liddecoat.

A Two-Fisted Man
Not Afraid of Hard Work Can Make A Lucrative Connection With A Four Million Dollar Corporation
If you are THE MAN in this city, we are looking for a permanent connection for a seller of specialty where the immediate returns will be commensurate with the effort put forth. We guarantee a real future, one who is accustomed to hard work, but feels restricted in his present position both with respect to financial outlook and full use of his abilities.
Also if you have lost your position on account of present business conditions, write us, as we want you to earn more money and build an assured life income where you don't have the clock to watch, work when you're over, and be constantly supervised by foreman and office management. Write us at once. R. B. SIMPSON, INC. offers a connection which will bring you and your family an assured income and a guaranteed future repeat financial income.
THIS IS NOT STOCK, BOND OR REAL ESTATE PROPOSITION. Regardless of whether or not you are interested in this ad or what your former occupation or connection has been, call at once. Rm. 501, 635 S. Hill st., where you will be shown the greatest money making offer in 1930 ever made to MAN AN ABSOLUTE PROSPECT.
